CHECKLIST - INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX RETURN
2025
NON-RESIDENT

Expats Main Residence Exemption – From 1st July, 2020, if you sell your Australian Main Residence while you are an overseas resident for tax purposes you will not be entitled to cover the capital gain with your main residence exemption. This applies retrospectively right back to the time it was purchased so there will not even be an exemption for the time you were living in Australia. Further, the 50% capital gains tax discount will not apply to the period of time you are a non resident for tax purposes. There is a small carve out from some very serious life events in the first 6 years you are a non resident but the take away here is, do not sell your Australian home while you are living overseas. This is based on the date the contract to sell is signed.

Audit Insurance - In the 2025 budget the government allocated more money to the ATO to increase its audit activities. The BAN TACS group has secured very economical audit insurance for our clients. Please speak to your Accountant if you are interested in protection.

Virtual tax Returns – We also do tax returns over zoom, with the shared screen facility it works quite well. For more information go to <https://www.bantacs.com.au/virtual-tax-returns/>

Record Keeping – Please note that the responsibility for keeping your receipts, log books etc remains with you. You need to keep your records for at least 5 years from the date of lodging your tax return. In some cases such as capital gains or depreciation you will need to keep records for at least 5 years after the tax return in which you sold the item. In the case of suspected fraud the ATO can go back as far as it likes, so we cannot really advise you that it is ever safe to dispose of your records. For more information <https://www.ato.gov.au/individuals-and-families/income-deductions-offsets-and-records/records-you-need-to-keep>

Misinformation – It is important to note that new Tax Practitioners Board rules mean that we must correct any errors in your tax return the minute we become aware of them. If you do not permit us to amend your tax return we will be required to report you to the ATO. Further, if you advise us of any irregularities in the approach of your previous tax agent we are required to report them. We are also required to refuse to act for anyone blatantly avoiding paying tax on their income, such as not declaring cash. This does not prevent us from advising you on how to legally organise your affairs to ensure that you pay the minimum tax required.
