

Ability Resource Centre is accepting resumes for the position of Community Resource Worker 1 (CRW1)

37.5 hours per week

Ability Resource Centre is recruiting a Community Resource Worker to support adults with developmental disabilities. In this position, you will: act as an advocate for individuals; role model appropriate behaviours; respect the rights of individuals; promote community inclusion; promote participation in activities that support individual interests; and assist in skill development activities. This position requires excellent interpersonal skills, enthusiasm, resourcefulness and a firm belief that by focussing on abilities and opportunities we can support people in their individual goals.

As CRWI, your main responsibilities will include:

- Direct provision of services
- Participation in the implementation of Individual Support Plans
- Communicate effectively with individuals, families, guardians and internal/external agency staff
- Document information as required
- Act as a role model
- Participate in team development sessions, professional development activities
- Support the organization's Health and Safety Programs, adhering to all policies and procedures including several COVID-related protocols
-

As CRWI you must have:

- Excellent time management and organizational skills
- Skills in interpersonal communication and conflict management
- Professional conduct and attitude
- Excellent fitness level to support a high level of daily physical activity

Qualifications Include:

Experience in the Community Disability Services field

Minimum high school completion, preference for Community Disability Services

Diploma or related diploma or degree

*Proof of Valid Driver's License, $2-million Liability Insurance, Driver's abstract, Safe vehicle
Current Police Information Check including the Vulnerable Sector*

Applications will be accepted until a suitable candidate is found. If interested, please email Rob at rob@abilityresource.ca or visit our posting on Indeed.