

'BRAVO, PORT'

To the Editor:

Bravo, Port Washington. And praises to the Teen Theater, which occupied about 100 teenagers this summer and produced a wonderful, entertaining and highly creditable "Guys and Dolls" last weekend.

When you consider that various governmental agencies have poured millions into youth programs with very little good result, and when you realize that this town had a program that cost us nothing and gave us four evenings of great entertainment at the huge admission price of 50 cents a person, you must join in the applause for everyone connected with the enterprise.

There is a lot of talent in Port, not the least of which resides in Debbie Lewandowski, whose portrayal of Adelaide was both riotous and winning. Every other cast member did an equally fine job.

It's a pleasure to have something to cheer. I only wish our school system, which costs the taxpayers so dearly, could be this successful in most of its undertakings.

'SMASHING SUCCESS'

To the Editor:

From all reports the attendance at the recent production of "Guys and Dolls" by the Teen Summer Theater was a smashing success, as it deserved to be.

The performance on stage at Schreiber High School was near professional quality and the orchestra in the pit was no less so. It hardly seems possible that such a production could have been put on after so few weeks of rehearsal.

Probably the secret behind this is enthusiasm, generated we are sure by the director and the producer of this — and all of the other Teen Theater performances — Pam and Ron Meadows. They deserve a long round of applause from everyone in Port for developing and carrying on such a fascinating activity for our vacationing teenagers. Knowing Pam and Ron, we likewise know that they had as much fun doing the show as the performers, musicians, and technicians.

To everyone who had anything to do with putting on this production, we say "well done", and we wish you many more such successful seasons.
