

Port Summer Show Actresses Diana Shafter, Sue Blumlein and Dani Super sit on costume trunks waiting to rehearse for "George M" which will be performed on August 11-14 at Schreiber High School.

George M!

Rehearsals for George M! this year's Port Washington Summer Show, are well underway. This will be the Summer Show's third production, following the successes of Bar-num in 1987 and Bye Bye Birdie in 1988. George M! is a musical extravaganza that follows the life of George Michael Cohan, once dubbed "the man who owns Broadway", and composer of such classic tunes as Yankee Doodle Dandy, Give My Regard to Broadway, and You're a Grand Old Flag. Craig Glantz, a newcomer to Summer Show Production, will perform the title role with a cast that includes Daniela Aminia, Susan Blumlein, Daniel Chehebar, Gina Farasciano, Sara Gruber, David Hawthorne, Matthew Marcus, Diana Shafter, Ericka Shulman, Douglas Slagowitz, Dani Super and many others.

Mardi Braun will direct George M! with the help of assistant director/choreographer Cam Gelb and musical director Phillip Glover. George M! to be performed August 11, 12, 13, 14 is a fun show filled with song and dance that the whole family can enjoy.
