TUITION/FEEES

Application fee: $50, nonrefundable.

Court Reporting course cost is $6,000. Students who choose to pay the full tuition fee in a single one-time payment will receive a 15% discount, reducing the total payment to $5,100.

New court reporting students have the option to pay tuition in 9 monthly installments of $500 each. The payment plan begins with an initial payment of $1,500 upon enrollment.

Additional fees for peripherals and software apply for both payment options.

Steno to Voice and CART/Captioning courses cost $1,500, payable in two installments of $750. Proficiency in real-time writing and CAT software is required for these courses.

Scoping courses are $2,500 and designed for beginners.

CE classes for professional court reporters cost $300, payable in full before attendance. For association credit, classes must either be live or live streamed via Zoom.

Lunch.Learn.Report. mini courses are $100, with full payment required before attendance. These courses cater to newly licensed reporters seeking extra guidance or additional training. Courses are pre-recorded, allowing flexibility for participants to take them at their convenience.

Payment options include certified checks and credit/debit card payments through PayPal. The school does not participate in Federal Student Financial Aid (FAFSA), and no scholarships are currently available directly through the school.

Note: Declined card payments result in revoked course access until payment is processed. Full course fee payment is required for access to the final course section, with the option to change the payment plan or pay off the plan early for earlier access.
