In Re: <client of FOIA requester>

Dear Elias Agredo-Narvaez:

I am responding to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated December 17, 2013 that we received on December 23, 2013.

I am not able to send the information you requested by January 23, 2014, which is the 20 business-day period allowed by law. The FOIA allows an additional ten-day statutory extension in certain circumstances. To complete your request I require the additional time to:

- ☒ Search for and collect the requested records from other locations
- ☐ Search for, collect, and review a large volume of records
- ☐ Consult with another agency or Treasury component
- ☐ Consult with business submitters

We have extended the statutory response date to February 6, 2014 + 10 business days, after which you can file suit. An administrative appeal is limited to a denial of records, so it does not apply in this situation. I apologize for any inconvenience caused by this delay.

You may file suit after February 6, 2014 + 10 business days. Your complaint will be treated according to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure applicable to actions against an agency of the United States. These procedures require that the IRS be notified of the pending suit through service of process, which should be directed to:

Commissioner of Internal Revenue
Attention: CC:PA: Br 6/7
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20224

The FOIA process provides access to existing records. Extending the time period for responding to your request will not delay or postpone any administrative, examination, investigation or collection action.
