Dear Taxpayer:

Please explain how did you get to the conclusion of frivolous return?

You recently filed a return or purported return claiming one or more frivolous positions. If not immediately corrected, the Internal Revenue Service will assess a $5,000 penalty against you. You can correct the problem and avoid the penalty if you submit a corrected return within 30 days of this letter to the address listed above.

If you continue to submit documents asserting frivolous positions, we will assess the $5,000 penalty each time you submit a frivolous return. If you file a joint return, we will assess the $5,000 penalty against both you and your spouse. Internal Revenue Code section 6702 provides the IRS with the authority to assess the penalty.

WHY WE ARE CONTACTING YOU

Based on Section 6702, Frivolous Tax Submissions, we have determined the information you filed as a tax return, or purported tax return, on Feb. 14, 2016 is frivolous and there is no basis in the law for your position. Exactly which position that I have ever taken has no basis in law? And exactly what law are you referring to?

Federal courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States, have considered positions such as yours and repeatedly rejected them as without merit. The enclosed Publication 2105, Why do I have to Pay Taxes?, includes examples of frivolous positions and arguments regarding the U.S. tax system under the heading "Don't Fall for These Arguments." Some of these examples include: I have read the Pub 2105 every you sent me one; but can not identify any position that I have ever taken.

- Arguing that filing and paying taxes is voluntary. Agreed but not my position. Is there any evidence of me taking that position? Please show such evidence.
- Excluding salaries and/or wages from income based on the argument that the value of services is not taxable or that salaries and/or wages are not income. Agreed but not my position. If there is such a position taken, please show such evidence.
- Arguing that the requirement to file a tax return violates

Constitutional rights protecting taxpayers against self-incrimination. Agreed but not my position and never has. is there any evidence of me takin such position? if so, please provide it

- Submitting a claim for a refundable credit when there is no basis in law for the credit, such as a credit for reparations for slavery, or frivolous Forms 2439, 1099, or 4136 (fuel tax credit), or showing excessive withholding on your return. Agreed, however I have never taken this position. Please provide evidence so that I can correct any wrong position.
- Submitting a document that purports to be a tax return but is not properly signed or contains an altered jurat (the written declaration that verifies that a return, declaration, statement or other document is made under penalties of perjury). My returns for the years 2014 & 2015 were properly signed without any alterations to the Jurats there of.

These are just some examples. For more information on positions identified as frivolous under section 6702, see Notice 2010-33, 2010-17 I.R.B., April 26, 2010, pp. 609-12, which can be found on the Internal Revenue Service's website at www.IRS.gov (See Notice 2010-33 at http://www.irs.gov/irb/2010-17_IRB/ar13.html). If you do not have a computer, you can access Notice 2010-33 in the Internal Revenue Bulletin (I.R.B.), which is the IRS's authoritative publication of rulings and statements of procedure. Consult a law library to obtain the I.R.B. You can find additional information in a publication titled The Truth About Frivolous Arguments, available on-line only at http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-utl/friv_tax.pdf Please provide or have ready for the court: copies of the above notices showing my positions circled.

My library contains all U.S.C. titles
Civil and Criminal Procedure.

Please Explain By what act of Congress was the I.R.B. Enacted into Positive Law?

As stated above, we are proposing to assess a $5,000 penalty against you for each frivolous tax return or purported tax return that you filed. My returns for 2014 and 2015 are not frivolous. Please explain what specific information contained in them; on their faces indicate that the self assessments WHAT YOU NEED TO DO is/are substantially, incorrect.

CONTINUES ON THE BACK OF LAST PAGE.

To avoid the penalty, send us a corrected return for each taxable period in the heading of this letter within 30 days of the date of this letter. If you send us corrected returns, we will disregard the previous documents that you filed and not assess the frivolous tax return penalty for each corrected return filed. My Returns ARE correct, unless you can show me some specifics on which to base any further correction. Please attach this letter to your corrected return(s) and mail to the address shown at the top of this letter. We have enclosed a copy of this letter for your records and an envelope for your convenience. Please attach this letter to the IMF for the corresponding years. I have enclosed a copy for your own records and additional's will be printed for court records. WHAT IF YOU DO NOT SEND A CORRECTED RETURN?

If you do not file the corrected return(s) within 30 days of the date of this letter, or if you submit additional documents. My Returns Do not require additional corrections unless you can show me some specifics.

asserting a frivolous position, we will assess the $5,000 penalty for each frivolous tax return or purported return containing a frivolous position and send you a bill. If you filed a joint frivolous return, both you and your spouse will be assessed a $5,000 penalty. We will not respond to any future correspondence asserting any frivolous position. Agreed. You should not respond to any frivolous assertions however you are required to respond to my returns which are not frivolous. In addition, if we do not hear from you within the 30 day timeframe, we may issue a notice of deficiency for any taxes owed because of the frivolous submission or because of other items we may find during an examination. A notice of deficiency states the amount of additional tax and penalties you owe and explains your right to contest the deficiency by filing a petition with the United States Tax Court. The $5,000 frivolous filing penalty is not included on the notice of deficiency and cannot be contested in the Tax Court. Then please tell me where can one contest the $5000 frivolous filing penalty? We have enclosed Publication 2105, Why Do I Have to Pay Taxes?, which provides basic information about the tax system. We also encourage you to seek advice from a competent tax professional or a tax attorney qualified to practice in your state.

Sincerely yours,

§ 6702 Frivolous tax submissions

Regarding Section 6702 (A)(1)(B):

Please specify what specific information contained in my returns for the years 2015 & 2014 sent together, on it's face indicates that the self assessments is/are substantially incorrect?

Regarding Section 6702 (A)(2)(A):

Please specify what position is the one that you allege I have made in my 2014, 2015 returns is frivolous? and why is it frivolous?

Regarding section 6702 (a)(2)(B):

What appears on my 2014, 2015 returns that you allege is "Frivolous" is intended to delay, or impede the administration of the federal incometax? please explain so that I can make corrections.

WHERE are the corresponding regulations to section 6702 found?

What are the "claims that according to you I have made have the "courts" repeatedly, rejected as without merits" and which court cases support rejecting the alleged claims"?

I request and demand any and all due process to which I am entitled or which is in anyway appropriate and/or applicable to me under the laws, under any provision or practice of common, statutory and or administrative law or protocol, including but not limited to, that which your PRE-PRINTED NOTICES refers to.

I also expect and demand meaningful clarification as to the nature of and reason for the "FRIVOLOUS" Allegations, the process by which all relevant determinations reflected in and BY your notice arrived at, and anything else pertinent to this matter.

"Reminder" Along with my 2014, 2015 and 2013 you received a 60 DAYS notice of intent to file suit and this notice will also be attached to it as EXHIBIT, The 60 Days will expire on or about April 22, 2016 and therefore at any time, after said day I may begin said process.

Respectfully:
