State of Dominica

And our Mission

As you can mostly likely tell from the header, this newsletter is being taken over by Jason. No worries, Jenn will be back for the next one.

Never have I woken up so many times in the middle of the night and felt so much sorrow for a people. As we enter into year three of people believing they're in a pandemic with the government abusing their powers, it's clear to see the oppression on people's faces or to hear it in their voices.

I know this because I enjoy talking with people and I take every opportunity to get to know those around me. Most the time, those people are complete strangers, but since I'm the "white guy," it's easy to start up conversations.

Most would identify as Christians, the type of Christian that as long as life is easy, they feel God is favoring them. They have been led by feel good, emotional preaching that has given them no hope or truth in this dire time.

I've had the opportunity to talk with several pastors and church leaders. So far, none are willing to stand up for the truth in any meaningful way. They feel that the mandates are a political issue and are not about to risk their comfortable positions, making the government their god.

Perhaps this sounds a little familiar. It should, Dominica is heavily influenced by Western thinking and the media. Their culture was one of slavery and it's easy for them to fall back into that mode when someone takes the role of "Master." This is especially true if it's the Prime Minister, using Scripture to manipulate the people into doing his will.

As I continue to dig into Scripture, also known as Truth, it's clear to me that we are at war with the very nature of man and not a virus. The only solution is a hot Gospel and that takes bold, wise leadership.

Doug Wilson, Pastor of Christ Church in Moscow, Idaho, has a great deal to say about this, using the Scriptures, as to how we should deal with this rebellious nature of man. I have learned a great deal from watching his videos and sermons. As he says, "The church has folded like a cheap suit." (Links can be found on our Gab page and this email.)

The joy comes when I preach the Truth to people either on a bus, in a store or the sidewalk and I see them get excited about what they're hearing; a message of Truth, freedom and deliverance, coming from the root of repentance. It makes me

... PRAISE ...

- God is giving us opportunity and boldness to preach the Truth.
- Jason's Basic Carpentry class meet for the first-time last Wednesday with 4 students, ages 15 and under.
- We have a bank account!

... PRAYER ...

- Jason's been struggling with a stomach issue, possibly related to him taking ibuprofen with grapefruit juice. Whatever the cause, it's now triggered by certain foods so we're reworking that area of our lives for the time being.
- A source of income that still allows us to freely minister. This is becoming of higher importance as we see more funds going out than coming in.
- Jason's Basic Carpentry class is in need of funds to build an awning over the work area. Check our Gab page for a video link!
- Work/Residence Permit application to flow smoothly
- Our own vehicle for work projects and family adventures.
- Continued house hunting.

think of when Jesus first tried to teach in the synagogues and was rejected, so He went to the people.

I have found the people so hungry for Biblical Truth, spoke with an air of authority. This is why we're working on establishing a home church, one that does not follow the government regulations of masks, social distancing, hand sanitizing and registering (for contact tracing), as these things do nothing to stop the spread of Covid, a virus that has a 99% survival rate.

Rebuilding Dominica has to start with the men. Men that are able to lead their families in a way that honors God. This is going to be difficult since many men have left the leadership roles of their families, if not abandoned their families completely. Women have taken a very strong role in the family which has led, in some cases, to the woman leaving the man.

This takes us back to Genesis when Adam abandoned his role as a leader when he was with his wife as she was being tempted and Eve's position in wanting to usurp the authority of Adam.

This being the main reason, I feel there needs to be a courageous, Christian counsel of men, to help encourage a strong spiritual growth in men. The same men that will be future leaders on this island.

Another area is the Carpentry class and being able to use a very strong and blatant Biblical message; Who made us, why are we here, what is the purpose of our work, etc.

There's so much to unpack within these areas. God is working on us to dynamic and flexible with when, where and how He wants us to reach people. They are still very much in slavery to the "comfortable Christian lifestyle," when it's anything but that.

This next generation is going to slam them with the homosexual agenda and the Church is like the Church in the States back in the early 2000's, completely unaware of what's about to happen or even why it's happening.

Please continue to be in consistent, earnest prayer as we go about preaching a hot Gospel of repentance.

Jesus is King!

Until next time,
Jason, for the Groggs

"The evangelical church is crammed full of men without chests, who must absolutely learn that they must come to the point of rebellion. And the evangelical church is also crammed with unsubmissive women, who must repent of that, seeking to learn what it is to glory in womanhood."

The Light from Behind the Sun, p. 159

*"Let us not neglect our meeting together, as some people do, but encourage one another, especially now that the day of His return is drawing near."
Hebrews 10:25*

The Struggle of Men Remembering Genesis

I have a strong desire to try and ward off all the evil I see going on the States. We didn't get there overnight. It took generation upon generation of "so-called" Christians not willing to stand for the Word of God, instead, pursuing comfort. I get that. I was there once. This is the reason God is judging the Nations and disciplining His Church.
