POEM ON REPUBLIC DAY

On 26th January,

We stand tall,

Celebrating freedom, for one and all.

The Constitution's promise,

We hold dear,

Equality, justice, and liberty draw near.

The tricolour waves high,

a symbol of pride,

As we remember the struggles, our nation did provide.

From Gandhi's non-violence to Bhagat's brave deed,

Our freedom fighter's sacrifices we take heed.

We've come a long way, since that fateful day,

When India became republic, in a new way.

We've grown in strength, in diversity and might,

A nation united, shining with delight.

So let's raise our voices, in patriotic cheer,

Saluting the brave, who banished our fear.

Let's march forward together, hand in hand,

Building a brighter India, on this Republic Day land.
