

Wendy Sellers, MHR, MHA, SPHR, SHRM-SCP
Consultant, Speaker, Author, HR Expert
The HR Lady®

Clients walk away from Wendy's work sessions energized, educated and motivated to take action. In Wendy's own words, "As a seasoned operations minded HR professional, I challenge the status quo. As a thought leader, I ask controversial questions. I understand the reality of a fast-paced business and the lack of resources. I recognize that people are a profit center. High performing employees and strong leadership are vital to keeping a business profitable." Her focus is change management, HR operations, leadership development, employee relations: attraction and retention, management training and team building.

With a master's in human resources and master's in health care administration, her focus always remains on the bottom line. Friends and clients call her "The HR Lady" due to her keen sense for business practices that manage risk while attracting and retaining top talent and clients.

She is passionate and outspoken and has worked with hundreds of corporations and associations conducting management training, leadership development, and HR advisory services. She has experience as an HR Executive and Practitioner, an HR Advisor, a Board Member, and an adjunct faculty member.

In 2015, HRO Magazine named her an "HR Superstar Practitioner." In her spare time, Wendy enjoys traveling as well as experiencing adventures in her RV. It is important to note that red wine makes her very happy.
