Welcome

There comes a point in a coach's development when technique begins to feel too small for the work.

You know the competencies. You can hear the question. You understand the arc of a session. And still, there is more.

More to notice. More to trust. More complexity to stay present with—without rushing to simplify it.

Witness & Witness begins there.

What This Program Is

Witness & Witness Level 2 is a 65.5-hour ICF-accredited program for coaches ready to deepen their practice on the path toward the PCC credential.

This is not about collecting more tools. It is about deepening your capacity to be with the person, the coaching relationship, and the wider system in front of you.

The work invites you to return to the ICF Core Competencies with greater depth, discernment, and embodiment, while learning to stay present when coaching becomes less tidy and more complex.

What You'll Experience

- A deeper embodiment of the ICF Core Competencies
- Presence that can remain steady when the work becomes complex
- Listening for what is happening in the person, the relationship, and the wider system
- Leadership and systemic coaching perspectives
- Somatic awareness and nervous system understanding woven into the learning
- Live coaching practice, observation, reflection, and developmental feedback

Over time, more continues to shift.

You may notice:

- You notice more and interfere less
- You can stay with complexity without needing to resolve it too quickly
- You trust the client's pace and intelligence more deeply
- You hear patterns, tensions, and possibilities beneath the words

And your presence becomes part of what makes deeper work possible.

What Makes This Different

At this stage of development, coaching is not about becoming more impressive. It is about becoming more available. PCC-level coaching asks for greater discernment: when to speak, when to stay quiet, what to follow, what to leave alone, and how to remain in partnership when the work is complex.

The Journey

Module 1: Becoming Presence

Module 1 returns to the ICF Core Competencies from a much deeper place—not as steps to perform, but as capacities to embody in relationship with the client.

Module 2: Coaching in Complexity

Module 2 expands the lens. Coaching begins to include leadership, systems, multiple perspectives, bias, shifting mindsets, and the wider context in which the client lives and leads. Topics include team growth and leadership, starting with a new client, working with senior leaders, establishing trust, mindset changes and self-awareness, mindset shifts, Integral Leadership, Paper Constellations, engaging with the wider system, effective leadership, managing bias, and leadership coaching topics.

Your Level 2 Journey Includes

This is more than advanced coursework. The program is designed to give you repeated opportunities to practice, observe, reflect, receive feedback, and deepen the way you show up as a coach.

Who This Is For

This program may resonate if:

- You have completed foundational coach education and are ready to deepen your practice
- You are continuing toward the PCC credential
- You want greater depth, embodiment, and discernment—not simply more techniques
- You coach people navigating leadership, systems, or complex contexts

You do not need to have completed Level 1 with Monarch. Coaches who completed foundational coach education elsewhere are welcome.

An Invitation

If you are beginning to sense the difference between knowing coaching and being deeply available within it, you may be ready for this work. You simply arrive with curiosity, practice, and a willingness to keep becoming.
