

Book List for Medieval History

The core text is provided as a printable PDF at the start of September, along with the course reading schedule and narration note sheets. You will also receive a booklet of primary source documents, compiled specifically for the course and in an accessible weekly format.

Please source the following historical fiction novel:

The Red Towers of Granada by Geoffrey Trease

Any version is fine to use as we will talk through the chapters each week rather than needing to reference page numbers. The new Faber edition is available for purchase at £12 (ISBN: 9780571295166) and older editions are more readily available second-hand.

You can also find the text here on Archive.

We will finish The Red Towers of Granada in February and you will need to have another medieval historical fiction novel of your choice ready to begin at this point. Your child will then continue to read this through the summer term. Here are some suggestions:

The Little Duke by Charlotte Yonge

The Black Arrow by Robert Louis Stevenson

Ivanhoe by Sir Walter Scott

Adam of the Road by Elizabeth Gray.