

Book List for New World History

The core text is provided as a printable PDF at the start of September, along with a booklet of primary source documents.

Please source the following books, which we will use as part of our in-depth study of the Spanish Armada and the English Civil War. We will work from chapters rather than page numbers so any unabridged edition is fine.

The Voyage of the Armada by David Howarth – this is often easiest to find second-hand and is usually priced at £10.

A King Condemned by C.V. Wedgwood – again it is simplest to search for this text second-hand and you might be lucky enough to find a copy for £10 (it can also be found under its American title of A Coffin for King Charles - exactly the same text otherwise!). Due to it becoming increasingly tricky to source, I have been given permission from the publisher to produce a PDF version of the book for students on this course. If you need this please let me know so I can include it with your course paperwork.
