

Autism Nature Trail

A Nature Trail for all at Letchworth State Park

Station Naming Opportunities

Trailhead Pavilion

$500,000*

The welcoming Trailhead Pavilion will provide a formal and celebratory entry to the ANT. As a space to prepare for the journey, the Pavilion will offer orientation materials and a soothing water feature.

Sensory Station

$250,000

This station will captivate all the senses in a quiet, individualized way. Visitors will be reminded to listen for the sounds of the forest and will be able to inspect and handle many natural objects—collections of leaves, moss, acorns, pinecones, bark, vines, seed pods, and even animal furs and fossils.

Sunshine Slope

$200,000*

A gentle maze weaves a wide walkway through various plantings in a sun-filled, natural opening. The viewing platform at the pinnacle will allow visitors to peer deeply into the woods and back to the Trail.

Music Circle

$200,000*

Named for its location within a circular grove of pines, visitors will be able to experiment with nature-inspired instruments, controlling sound creation and volume. An observation deck occupies the center of the space, positioned so that collaboration among visitors is possible and encouraged.

Meadow Run and Climb

$200,000*

An exciting space dedicated to running, jumping and climbing will test each visitor's strength, coordination, flexibility and confidence. Native plantings grow and change with the seasons on the small hill and open field where an obstacle course made of natural materials provides a place to play.

Design Area

$200,000

The Design Area will be a hands-on space that encourages imagination and critical thinking as visitors use materials from the Trail to create patterns and structures of their own world. Natural tables and benches invite visitors to spend time passively or actively enjoying this area, collaboratively as well as individually.

Reflection Knoll

$150,000

Set at the halfway point of the Trail, the Reflection Knoll is a quiet place set under a canopy of trees where visitors can listen to nature and reflect on the natural world. Cuddle Swings, Gliders and Alone Zones further encourage a sense of calm and security.

Playful Path

$150,000

This final stretch of the Trail is a series of twisting paths that each use different surface materials—gravel, mowed grass, natural soil and pine needles. Visitors can navigate each path in their own way, using a variety of motor skills.

Celebration Station

$125,000

The Celebration Station is adjacent to the Trailhead Pavilion and serves as an exit from the ANT. As visitors complete their journey on the Trail, here they can reflect upon their experiences along the ANT and they can recognize—and celebrate—their accomplishment.
