

International Students English-Proficiency Requirements

The TOEFL exam is NOT required to be admitted as an international student.

However, international students whose native language is not English and if all of their secondary or post-secondary education was not taught in English, he/she must demonstrate English language proficiency to be accepted into an English-based degree program at Southern Reformed.

This can be accomplished by taking one of the following exams: TOEFL or IELTS. Scores on the exams should be dated within the past two years and must meet minimum requirements for placement into college or graduate-level classes.

**Students who do not meet these requirements will be required to enroll in the Intensive English Program or Academic English-as-a-Second-Language until deemed ready.*

If you do have TOEFL results, the following scores will be accepted as English proficient:

- TOEFL internet-based score: 70+
- TOEFL paper-based test score: 530+

IELTS: The following IELTS score will be accepted as English proficient:

- IELTS score: 6.5+
