

Colorado Water

Water is a major issue for Coloradoans, though it may be invisible to many. In most areas, Colorado water is expensive, but available. However, water tables are dropping everywhere. There isn't an unlimited supply. Our population is growing rapidly. Whether the issue is lack of sufficient water or poisoned water, the Colorado Legislature needs to address this.

- This is not about digging a few more wells. Our aquifers are running out of water. As you start pumping the last few feet, toxins get into the water that can cause cancer and other illnesses.
- Short term solutions on the local level by digging a few more wells simply isn't going to work. We must have a comprehensive solution for all of Colorado. There is water in the mountains. The question isn't where do we find water, but how do we get it to the people? This is a massive infrastructure issue.

We must come together with a comprehensive solution and begin implementation NOW!
