Nova Semiconductor Inc. Partners with Prohubs International Corp. to Expand Distribution in Taiwan

San Jose, CA – Nova Semiconductor Inc., a leading provider of Battery Management System (BMS) Integrated Circuits, is pleased to announce a new distribution partnership with Prohubs, a highly regarded distributor in Taiwan. This collaboration will enhance the availability of Nova’s BMS in the Taiwanese market, providing local customers with greater access to cutting-edge BMS products and technology.

Prohubs, with its extensive network and deep understanding of the Taiwanese market, is well-positioned to support the growth of Nova's presence in the region. Through this partnership, Nova will be able to offer its innovative BMS ICs to a broader range of industries and consumers in Taiwan.

“We are excited to work with Prohubs to bring our Products to new customers in Taiwan,” said Ahmad Ashrafzadeh, CEO of Nova. “Their market expertise and commitment to customer service make them an ideal partner for us as we continue to grow internationally.”

Nova is committed to providing the highest quality BMS ICs to its customers, and this partnership with Prohubs will ensure prompt delivery, excellent service, and ongoing support for customers across Taiwan.

Prohubs’ President, Vincent Lin, commented: “We are excited to partner with Nova and help bring their innovative ICs to the Taiwanese market. We believe that our local expertise and Nova’s forward-thinking solutions will create significant value for our customers.”

The collaboration between Nova and Prohubs is effective immediately, and Prohubs is now ready to engage customer interested in cutting edge Nova’s products in Taiwan.
