What is family violence?

It is when someone uses abusive behaviours to control and/or harm a member of their family, or someone with whom they have an intimate relationship.

Family violence comes in many different forms, and can include elder abuse and neglect.

It may include a single act of violence or a number of acts that form a pattern of abuse.

Forms of violence and abuse include:

Physical:

Any intentional act causing injury or trauma to another person by way of bodily contact;

Sexual:

Unwanted sexual activity forced on a person by another through coercion or threats;

Financial:

The improper, illegal or unauthorized use of an adults' resources for the benefit of another.

Help is available for those who are currently experiencing or have experienced abuse.

Family violence can have serious and sometimes fatal consequences for those who have experienced or witnessed abuse.

Abuse can happen to anyone, regardless of their age, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, culture, country of origin, ethnicity, education level, career path or socio-economic status.

It happens to Canadian citizens, refugees, immigrants, stay at home parents or single individuals, young or old.

Abuse knows no barriers, it can impact anyone. Abuse can happen at any stage of any relationship. It can happen to children, youth, adults and elders.

Family violence is...

- * A person's suffering
- * A family's destruction
- * A community's responsibility
  - * A nation's struggle to heal
