NEWS RELEASE

For Immediate Release
Installation of Extraction Systems in Falkland, BC Facility

Vancouver, B.C., February 20, 2019 – HERITAGE CANNABIS HOLDINGS CORPORATION (CSE: CANN) (“Heritage” or “Company”) is pleased to announce the first two Vitalis Q90 extraction systems have been successfully installed in the PhyeinMed Inc. (“PhyeinMed”) facility in Falkland, British Columbia and are now ready for testing and certification by the manufacturer.

Two rooms have been temporarily repurposed and dedicated to the extraction business within the indoor Falkland licensed facility. Upon receiving the processing licence from Health Canada, the extraction team from Purefarma Solutions (“Purefarma”) will be ready to begin processing the significant amount of hemp feedstock. Once certified, the Falkland location will have capacity to process in excess of 150,000 kilograms of dried cannabis or hemp input per year.

“Our expansion plan in Falkland has been flawless due to the hard work and devotion from the PhyeinMed and Purefarma teams. We are looking forward to start generating revenues right away as soon as the appropriate licence is granted.” states Clint Sharples, CEO of Heritage “The equipment is ready, the operators are trained, and we know there is market demand for the products we can produce.”

The Company would also like to announce that it will be delivering a proprietary mechanical separator system to our supplier’s hemp farm location in Saskatchewan this week. Once installed, this purpose-built unit will be one of Canada’s largest, and have the capacity to process 1,200 kilograms per day of dried hemp product. This will be a significant contributor to the processing efficiency at the licenced facilities in Falkland, BC and Fort Erie, ON.
