

At Advocate Construction, we're not just builders; we're the guardians of dreams and the champions of communities. Founded in 2012 by Doug Cooper and Nick Wallace, whose serendipitous journey through diverse industries culminated in this passionate venture, we've consistently put homeowners at the forefront. We resonate with the heartbeats of the communities we live in, ardently advocating for homeowners who may have been impacted by storm damages. Guiding families through the maze of insurance claims and managing the construction process, our commitment lies in restoring homes to their pristine glory, ensuring that a family's largest investment remains unscathed. Our ethos is grounded in living and breathing the same air as those we serve, thus making every restoration project deeply personal. With Advocate Construction, homeowners aren't just clients; they're neighbors, friends, and a testament to our legacy of trust and excellence.
