

Depression

What a shock it is
To find you are not
Who you thought you were.

How disrupting to see
That you have lost
What you wanted to have.

So depressing it is
To look critically
And despise yourself.

How hopeless it is
When you are tired
And too weak to change.

— Judith Hahs —