Different

“Just Different”

Much unrest continually surfaced in the beautiful house that Tweety Bird lived in. Use to be everyone said good morning Tweety and Tweety would sing her good morning song. This was an everyday occurrence even since Tweety was found in the back yard - had fallen out of the nest when only a few days old.

Bruno the dog was about to snatch Tweety Bird when little Jeff saw Tweety and came to the rescue - picked her up - family bought a bird cage and it was instant love after that.

But now - something was happening, loud, blaring noise came from a box in the same room as Tweety Bird - no one seemed to notice her anymore - instead they would say - Lexus turn on radio - turn on TV - and sometimes Tweety would have to plug her ears for there would be so much - she wasn't sure what it was but it didn't sound good,

Some days were so bad that Mom and Dad would be arguing who was right - one could say - I believe - the other would say. Oh how I hate - even the children were different.

Not sure if she even knew how to sing anymore - for it had been so long since anyone said good morning, that all she wanted to do was get away from this place - - but due to the cage she knew it wasn't possible.

One day, by accident not sure - but just as mom was feeding her - Dad said something- triggered Mom and she left the cage door open - finally - free at last - Tweety snuck out the door - landed on the outside door frame - when door opened - out she flew.

Wow - what fresh air - what a beautiful sun rise - children playing - cats and dogs running. Tweety landed in an evergreen nearby - kinda cold - but sun beating down a branch made it seem like the days she first went into her farmers home.

She just sat - no Lexus turn on TV - no people arguing over who was right or who was wrong. Tweety breathed a sigh of relief.

Eventually after taking in the fresh air, sunshine, Tweety needed to fly around and experience this freedom, this beautiful moment. Was very surprised to find many trees - like groves and groves - kind of reminded her of one of the stories the family had read about at Christmas - something about the littlest Christmas tree -

Tweety chose to land there - maybe spend the night - seemed a little scary at first when she remembered some of the bad things when Lexus turned on the TV - but the fresh, crisp air slowly dissolved all the negative. Tweety found a warm evergreen which almost seemed to hug Tweety as she closed her eyes and slept.

Next morning Tweety was very surprised as she looked over the meadow below.

A big beautiful fluffy black bear - one just as little Jeff use to play with. Tweety flew down landed on her head - he giggled, squirmed and laughed as Tweety sang and he danced.

Then she met Sly Fox - he was hard to understand - one moment she felt save with him, then he would stretch out his paw as if to grab her.

Tweety met many different animals - some she felt very close to - others she shyed away from

Then she met Wise Old Owl - now kinda perplexed at what she had learned - so her question was - why do some people like rain and some don't - why do some like sunshine and some don't.

Lesson learned - Wise Old Owls answer. We are all different - we are all good - doesn't mean some better than others - just different.

“Adjustment”

Darn - I have to adjust my schedule again - weather was to be in the high - but - do I wear a light jacket - heavy coat - some say it's is to be warm and sunny - where did the fog come from??

Questions, questions that need answers and the hardest part is one give their advise - another gives different advise. Now you have to put them together and agree with us that we truly live in the best place of the world - -.

Again we are thankful for churches, businesses and people in Eido Country where we are allowed to make adjustments to any circumstances.

BABY

WEST RIVER HEALTH SERVICES

Three sons, One Hospital: First baby of 2026 born at West River Health Services.

Article written by Beth Erickson, Marketing/Community Relations

West River Health Services was honored to welcome the first baby born in 2026, a special milestone made even more meaningful by the family's deep roots with our hospital. The newest arrival is Nathan and Amanda Strid's third son. Continuing a family tradition, as all three of their sons have been delivered, right here at West River Health Services.

When asked why the Strid's chose West River Health Services for their delivery and what keeps them coming back, Amanda shared how important comfort, familiar faces, and community are to their family.

"With my husband being gone at times for work, it's nice to have a hospital close to home with family close by, staff that know your case, and being able to care for you without all the questions."

That sense of trust made this milestone even more meaningful. Being cared for by familiar faces and local team added comfort during such an important moment.

"I love the fact of being able to keep the same set of doctors during the whole time. I really enjoy the small-town feel where everyone cares for everyone."

During her stay, one moment stood out above the rest, the compassion and reassurance provided by the care team during a fast moving and emotional experience.

"Having babies can be scary at times. The nurses are great, the surgery team was great. It is scary with everything happening so fast. It is nice to have nurses who care, come sit with you, visit about family, and give you any tips and tricks they have learned along the way. It is also great that even after their long days; the doctors come and check on you."

When asked what it meant to deliver close to home in her own community, she shared, "The small-town feel, everyone is family and not afraid to help each other."

West River Health Services is proud to be a part of moments like this, caring for generations of families, welcoming new lives, and continuing a tradition of community centered care.

Congratulations to this wonderful family on welcoming their son, Sawyer Leo, and celebrating the first baby of 2026 at West River Health Services!

Road trip
By Kathy Craig Harteis

I'm heading out this week on a road trip with pal Carolan. It's a yearly event although for the past few years we've gone to South Dakota.

This year we'll stay in California. Regardless, it's more about time together than it is about where we go.

Back in the day we usually went on an annual adventure. We've visited San Diego as well as trips to Vegas for gaming, food and shows.

We once saw my favorite: 'Phantom of the Opera' in a theater created by the shows creator Andrew Lloyd Weber. Be still my heart! It was magical in deed.

Mainly I appreciate that she still makes an effort for time with me.

As I've gotten older I've learned to appreciate more the people and opportunities put in my path.

Being here in Colusa County again for a time has opened a flood of memories.

It was my home for my childhood, teen years and as a young adult.

The remaining years found me in more California cities, Washington, Oregon and North Dakota. It's full circle now being back in Colusa County as a snowbird visitor.

The lessons I have learned is to enjoy each chapter of my life.

Over the years I have lost people from every chapter. Now back in this place I re-

He is fully dependent, unable to eat by mouth, bathe himself or even reposition. He continues to receive lumbar puncture every three months for the drug spinraza which helps him keep stable. He needs an accessible bathroom due to his growth is size. His mother is his primary care giver and can no longer lift him in and out of the bathtub. member those I have lost. The Grimes cemetery is the resting place for most of my family members.

I have visited, but it is not the same as getting to sit and visit as we once did.

I have friends that I loved as family who have gone on before me as well.

Good memories of all, pain of the lost of all of them.

Time moves on. If you have opportunity to spend time with people you love, don't waste it. Tomorrow is not promised. Today counts.

Sorry about last week folks but, I've been the Asst. States Attorney up in Dunn County too now for almost a year and, last week was a mess since that county is a 3-hr. roundtrip, I've got Hettinger County too, our civil law practice and, the karate gig at the armory. Anyway, I'm back now and I just had another experience that I've often heard about but, never experienced personally. Recall that I constantly bemoan that technology may be designed to alleviate one problem but, often, seems to cause several more. This week it was our garage door opener! I know...it sounds trivial but, as my wife and I age, forgetting to shut the garage door and, then, noticing it at bed time forcing a trip up and down 3 flights of stairs gets to be a pain in the...well, you get it.

Enter the Apple app, for that very purpose! Hurray! No more stairs, just open the old iPad tap the app and choose "close". Easy-peasy! It's worked for over 5 years, right, so what could go wrong? Not so fast there partner. First, the stupid app seems to "update" every month and, all that does is clutter my email with advertising for more crap I don't care about. And, this week, I misplaced MY garage door opener, so, I didn't have one in my new Telluride. But, that's another story since Kia has introduced a 2027 version (from the future), no 2026 model, and, although less expensive (at my age, I'm not going to get a boat or other toy), keeping a newer model car (as my grandfather who was a GM foreman drilled in my head) is something that an older fart should do to avoid transportation problems. The answer to my garage door? Heck, I'll just put the 'ol app on my iPhone too! I always have to lug it along in the car anyway. Again, what could go wrong?

Well, both devices refused to work with the app when I tried to add the iPhone. So, I called customer service and, the first guy was a complete butt monkey. Besides the fact that English was his weak, second language; his condescending attitude that a 40-year practicing lawyer was too stupid to understand basic technology and, it was MY fault the thing crashed; and, his indecipherable mumbling; really chapped my backside with the conversation ending when he hung up on ME. So, call #2 and the female customer service rep. this time tried to help but, OOPS, I had tried what the first clown recommended too many times and, the app was "locked". So, now, I would have to wait at least 24 hours before I could try again. Huh? Well that will have to wait until I have a free hour to kill, so, wish me luck and, have a great week.

How Useless is School?

By: Rylee Green

How many times have you or your friends said, "What's the point of this?" or "I'm never going to use this in real life"? Probably more times than you can count, right? Well, contrary to popular belief, school is one of the most important parts of your life. Starting way back in your daycare days, up until you graduate high school, you are learning life skills, social skills, manners, how to be a decent human, and so many more skills that you don't even realize are being learned.

Being a daycare teacher and simultaneously a high school senior, I get to see the effects of school from the very beginning in my daycare kids and see the result from evaluating myself and my classmates. Having worked with the same children for almost four years now, I have watched them learn the very basic skills they need to go far in life and grow in themselves. Now, my class that I will be graduating with in barely over three months, I have seen the most change in. From seeing them grow in maturity to just being overall kind people, they have learned all the skills they will need to be successful, even if they don't see it themselves.

It's easy to only see school as rules, homework, and sitting in boring classes, but all of these are teaching you valuable things you will use in life. Adult responsibilities, time management and deadlines, building communication skills, learning structure, and understanding the world all come from these "meaningless" parts of school. Even though school can be boring or frustrating, it is important to remember that school is just shaping us for the future. It might be difficult to do now, but one day we will all realize that school gave us more than we ever could have imagined.

Just For Kix is proud to be dancing back in Bowman, ND, with classes currently held at the Bowman County School. The program provides local youth with a fun, supportive environment where dancers can grow through movement, teamwork, and confidence.

Giving Hearts Day

Southwest ND Nonprofits Gearing Up For Giving Hearts Day 2026!

By Ted Uecker, WRHS Foundation

Fifteen area nonprofit organizations in southwest North Dakota, known as the Southwest ND Giving Hearts Day Collaborative, are gearing up for their Annual "Giving Hearts Day" fundraising efforts. Giving Hearts Day is a 24-hour online fundraiser for over 600 nonprofits in North Dakota and Western Minnesota. This is the longest running giving day in the USA. All the excitement takes place the second Thursday of February - placing this year's Giving Hearts Day on Thursday, February 12th!

Giving Hearts Day began in 2008, when the Dakota Medical Foundation and Alex Stern Family Foundation saw a need to foster educational growth for nonprofit organizations in our area. The Impact Foundation was then formed to help nonprofit organizations promote their campaigns online, network with other nonprofits and attend regular coaching sessions by trained fundraising professionals. Historically, Giving Hearts Day has raised over $226 million over the last eighteen years! Last year was the best so far, with 40,127 donors helping nonprofits raise $31.58 million!

Now fifteen local area nonprofits are members of the Impact Foundation and have banded together to share the good news about "Giving Hearts Day" and the good work that each contributes toward their mission. The fifteen area nonprofits in the Southwest North Dakota Giving Hearts Day Collaborative include: Assumption Abbey, Badlands Ministries, Benedictine Living Community -- Dickinson, Best Friends Mentoring, Buffalo Grande Foundation, Camp ReCreation, Chasing Horses Wild Horse Advocates, CHI Health at Home Dickinson, Dakota Children's Advocacy Center, Enchanted Highway Foundation, Heartview Foundation, Home On The Range, Sunrise Foundation, West River Health Services Foundation and Women Empowering Women.

All of these nonprofit organizations in southwestern ND are trying to help their communities in their own unique ways. We hope you will consider a gift of $10 or more to one or more of these nonprofits on Giving Hearts Day. Just go to givingheartsday.org and search for the organization(s) you'd like to support. If you'd like to "schedule a gift" ahead of Giving Hearts Day, you can go to the same website and select "Schedule a Gift" between January 1st and February 12th. The Southwest ND Giving Hearts Day Collaborative can also be found on Facebook at SWND Giving Hearts Day. Of course, you can always give any time, to any nonprofit organization. We are all grateful.

Pilgrimage to March for Life
Fr. Ben Franchuk
St. Charles - Bowman, ND,
St. Mel's - Rhame, ND,
St. Mary's - Marmarth, ND

Recently I attended the March for Life in Washington DC. I absolutely love this pilgrimage for 2 reasons. First, it is important to stand on the grounds of faith for something that others think is okay. Second, I love the community that forms on this pilgrimage, especially on the bus. This is where I have spent a lot of time reflecting over the past few weeks.

As we began this pilgrimage, we gathered in Bismarck for a departing mass before loading the busses. Another chaperone looked up the cost to fly instead of ride the bus, it was $500. Doing some quick math, it is almost cheaper to fly than to ride a bus full of people. This idea became even more interesting as we got out of mass and our bus was nowhere to be found, since the drivers had run to the shop quick before leaving Bismarck. We finally got the bus back and loaded for a 30 hour, 1500 mile trip. It didn't take me long to remember why I like taking the bus over flying on this trip. There is a great sense of community that forms in the communal suffering.

While I do agree that the bus ride is some of the worst part of a March for Life trip, it is also part of the best part. I have found in the suffering of the bus on the way to Washington DC, a community forms on the bus that makes the experience of DC much more fruitful. While I noticed the friendship and community in Washington DC, I really noticed it on the way home. The bus ride is much noisier on the way home with students playing games, asking questions, and even just visiting. Personally, I also see the community in the conversations I get to be a part of. I stood in the back of the bus for 2 hours answering questions of faith from students and had a 2-hour conversation with another student that would not have happened without the bus. Like I said, amazing fruits though a community formed in suffering.

It is amazing the community that can form in suffering together. I think back to World War II and the community that formed in our nation for the cause of the war. Suffering brings us together! The problem enters in today because the world tells us that suffering is bad. How often does a person look for a quick fix when it comes to sufferings? From medicines to remedies to avoiding the suffering at all costs. This is especially important to consider when it comes to faith. A person can live a comfortable life of faith remaining in the same place for their entire life. God does not call us to live a comfortable faith, remaining where we are. He calls us to be uncomfortable, even to suffer, at times and continue to grow in our relationship with Him. A person is never alone in that journey because we journey together as a Church and grow as a community in the same way.

While the bus ride to DC and back is long and physically painful at times, it is totally worth it, and I wouldn't have it any other way. I appreciate the care and concern of those who have felt pity upon hearing about this trip, but again worth it to see the fruits of God on the trip. The same concept applies to us and our faith. Let's continue to honor God by being willing to be uncomfortable with Him knowing the fruits will make themselves known.

ENCHANTED HIGHWAY

World's Largest Metal Sculptures

The Enchanted Highway Foundation's main objective at the current time is to improve the sculptures, kiosks and the sculpture sites, however the board is also focused on and working to build an endowment that will provide funding in the future to maintain the sculptures and the sites. When Gary Greff and those of us on the board pass on, our goal is providing funding that will maintain the sculptures into the future. We do not want those sites to become scrap metal piles that someone will have to clean up.

The Enchanted Highway Foundation board has an endowment fund with the North Dakota Community Foundation. The endowment fund is growing and the board could use some help in growing the endowment fund. If you are interested in contributing to the endowment fund, go to North Dakota Community Fund page, click on Give, click on Donate and where it says search type in Enchanted Highway Foundation Endowment.

All gifts are welcome and appreciated, but a $5,000 gift qualifies for a 40% income tax credit.

LOVE begins when we start CARING

Nico Anthony Pilon Rites Held

Nico Anthony Pilon met his mother and father on January 16, 2026, at 3:17 p.m. and was lovingly welcomed into Heaven. He weighed 8 lbs. 1.6 oz. and measured 21½ inches long.

During his nine months of life in his mother's womb, he knew nothing but love. Nico was lifted up in countless prayers, asking that his life would have purpose and point others to God. In his short but cherished time on Earth, those prayers were answered, showing that only God can bring beauty from tragedy.

Nico's parents and family were blessed with the opportunity to meet him face to face and hold him close. In their darkest hour, Nico brought profound joy and peace to his family. Though his time on Earth was brief, his impact is immeasurable, and he reminds us all that life is precious and a beautiful miracle.

Nico will always be loved and remembered by his parents, Allison & Bryce Pilon; his grandparents, Ken & Deb Pilon, and William & Jean Gion; his uncles and aunts, Mitchel & Ivie Pilon, Clark & Jill Gion, Grant & Robin Gion, and Brock & Emily Gion; and his cousins, Elyse, Adley, Will, Maya, Bronson Gion, and Theodore Pilon.

"The Lord gave and the Lord has taken away; may the name of the Lord be praised." —Job 1:21b

Death Notice for Jonathan Fleck

Jonathan Thomas Fleck was born on 1 June 1981 at Fort Carson Army Base in Colorado Springs, Colorado, a child of service from the very beginning, born into motion, duty, and belonging.

As a young man, Jonathan answered a call larger than himself and entered the United States Air Force on 24 February 2004. His first assignment took him to Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas, and from there, across the ocean to Yokota Air Force Base in Japan. It was there that he met Saori Kaneko, the woman who would become his wife. Their life story together began there, rooted in love and shared horizons. In 2014, they welcomed their son, Eli, and Jonathan stepped fully into the role that would define him most deeply, fatherhood.

Soon after Eli's birth, the Fleck family transferred to Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico. As a young Non-Commissioned Officer, Jonathan excelled, earning promotion to Technical Sergeant through quiet determination and earned respect. During this chapter of life, he and Saori welcomed their daughter, Emma, in 2017, a joy that deepened his purpose and softened his strength.

Jonathan's exceptional performance as a Quality Assurance Inspector during a second tour at Yokota Air Force Base in Tokyo in 2020 led to his selection for promotion to Master Sergeant. In March 2024, the 71st Rescue Generation Squadron at Moody Air Force Base welcomed his talents as a Production Superintendent, and the Fleck family once more were in motion, this time to South Georgia.

Throughout his entire career, Jonathan served on the C-130 Hercules, which he proudly referred to as his plane. A dedicated maintainer and propulsion specialist, his reliable hands and sharp mind saved countless missions—both stateside and abroad. His service was marked by excellence, humility, and devotion. His decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal; Air and Space Commendation Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster; Air and Space Achievement Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster; Meritorious Unit Award with one Oak Leaf Cluster; Air and Space Outstanding Unit Award with ten Oak Leaf Clusters; Air Force Good Conduct Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters; Nuclear Deterrence Operations Service Medal; Global War on Terrorism Service Medal; and the Humanitarian Service Medal with two Service Stars.

Jonathan moved often, as military families do. As a toddler, he lived in Anchorage, Alaska, on Fort Greely, before moving to Columbus and then Hilliard, Ohio. During his teenage years, he lived with his mother, Connie, amid the bright lights of Las Vegas, Nevada. After graduating high school, he joined his sister Sonia in Denver, Colorado. Yet through every change of address and every new horizon, one place remained constant... the family's origins in Bowman, North Dakota.

Jonathan was the son of Randy Fleck and Connie Kalina, and both the Fleck and Kalina families are woven deeply into the fabric of this small town of quiet strength and humble presence. Jonathan carried the names of his grandfathers on both sides, and through him, generations past continued to walk forward. As a boy, Jonathan spent summers alongside his sister Sonia on the Kalina farm, lying atop haystacks beneath a warm sun, picking strawberries with Grandma Eileen, riding four-wheelers with Uncle Jason, and chasing cattle with Grandpa Tommy. He also spent many afternoons at the Fleck family's Town & Country Café and Truck Stop, watching travelers pass through, serving menus to locals and tourists alike, and, most memorably, receiving Grandma Audrey's generous spoiling in the form of the best burgers, steaks, and ice cream around. On slow, golden afternoons, Grandpa Johnny and his father took him fishing. These were not ordinary moments; Jonathan was living precious moments of irreplaceable childhood where half the town felt like family.

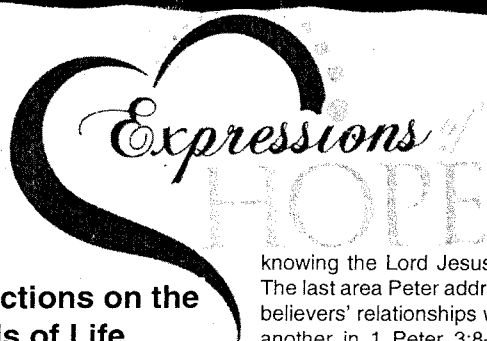

In his teens, Jonathan was known for his kindness, courtesy, and soft-spoken presence. Slow to anger, those who knew him likened him to an oak tree, steady, grounded, and quietly strong. His deadpan humor, paired with deep loyalty and sincerity, left friends, colleagues, and family laughing while feeling safe in his company. He admired Jimi Hendrix and Ozzy Osbourne, and later folk artists such as Mumford & Sons. He was a terrible singer, but he sang anyway. A lifelong fan of the Ohio State Buckeyes and the Oakland (not Las Vegas) Raiders, Jonathan celebrated their victories and, after defeats, true to his gentle nature, took a quiet walk. Loyal to family in all things, Jonathan maintained a strong and enduring bond with his sister Sonia throughout his life. Together they shared life's beauty and its battles, traveling together to more than eleven countries across Europe, Asia, and the United States, filling the years with journeys, conversations, and shared understanding.

But, above all else, Jonathan was a deeply hands-on and loving father. He poured his off-duty time into his children. Weekends were spent at amusement parks, beaches, baseball games, and birthday parties. Evenings brought enchilada or lasagna nights, with Dad as the chef. Eli and Emma were his most precious gifts, and they are forever blessed by the love he gave so freely and fully.

Jonathan is survived by his wife, Saori; his children, Eli and Emma; his sister, Sonia Fleck brother-in-law-Benoit; his uncle and friend, Jason Kalina and life partner Deb Guidinger; his father, Army Sergeant First Class (Ret.) Randy Fleck, and Randy's wife Shelly, and their children Dakota, Julianna, and Sierra.

Jonathan's life reminds us that strength does not need to shout, that love shows itself in steady hands and open hearts, and that a life of service, when lived with kindness, leaves a quiet, unbreakable light behind.

Reflections on the Words of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie,
Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

For several weeks we've been looking at the very practical section in 1 Peter dealing with relationships. We have seen how the Christian should live in relation to government, to the work place, and in marriage. Peter gives these instructions because the lives of believers should demonstrate to the world the life-changing effects of knowing the Lord Jesus Christ. The last area Peter addresses is believers' relationships with one another in 1 Peter 3:8-12. We read in verse 8: "Finally, all of you be of one mind, having compassion for one another; love as brothers, be tenderhearted, be courteous." It is in this area of how believers relate to one another that the early church had a tremendous impact upon the world. In the days of the Roman Empire, people marveled at the sacrificial love believers had for one another. And this was undoubtedly used by the Lord to attract others to Christ.

The first quality Peter mentions is that believers are to be like-minded. The most important things of all are the things which believers have in common. Their bond is based on truth. They have come to believe in the One who is the Truth. They no longer look to the wisdom of this world or the ideas of mere men for their convictions. The Word of God is their guide. Now this does not mean that they agree about everything. The unity of believers is not a uniformity in which all look the same and have the same preferences. Rather, the like-mindedness to which Peter is referring is about the essential truths of Scripture.

For example, Christians share the belief that God is the eternal and glorious Creator of all things, absolutely holy and righteous. We also believe that man, though originally created sinless, fell from that original state into his present condition of sin. We believe that all people are born into this world in a state of sin, which brings them under the condemnation of God and makes them deserving of His eternal wrath. But we also believe that God is a God of infinite mercy, grace, and love. And His great love motivated Him to do something for sinners that was totally undeserved. He was motivated to save them and make them His own dear children. But there was only one way to do that which would satisfy God's perfect justice. He had to have His only begotten Son become a man so that He might be the Mediator between God and man.

We believe that Jesus Christ is the eternal Son of God, who willingly took on human flesh in order to save all who would place their trust in Him. This He accomplished by taking the place of His people and receiving their punishment as their Substitute on the cross. As Peter later tells us, He bore our sins in His own body on the cross. He paid the price with His own blood which the justice of God required. And in our like-mindedness, Christians believe that all a person has to do to be saved is to realize his sinfulness, abandon all hope of saving him or herself, and come by faith to trust in Jesus alone for salvation. We believe that all who trust in Christ have eternal life. This means that they will live forever in heaven with God. We believe that Jesus Christ is coming back again and that we are to live in a state of readiness for that great day.

We admit that there are many areas in which believers have disagreements and differences of opinion about what the Scriptures are teaching. But on these fundamental things, Christians are agreed. And one day, when we all get to heaven, even those matters will be clarified, and our like-mindedness will be perfected. In the mean time, one of the best ways believers can grow in like-mindedness is to keep studying Scripture and listening to the faithful preaching of God's Word. Friends, please consider these fundamental truths and ask yourselves if you believe them. Doing so is of eternal importance.

Thoughts for the Week

by June Schmidt

It's quite amazing how help- less people are in the parts of our country that don't have the same weather we have when they get it. Witness the latest storms in the southern states. They get extreme cold warnings that the temperature is going to go below 50 degrees and the schools all close their doors. Yet here we are in our state, happy when it gets to 40 degrees and we can put on the lighter win- ter jacket and only when it gets to minus 10 do we pull out the heavy winter coat. Yes, I have a light and heavy winter coat and I wonder how many of us do as well except for those who use a windbreaker until the temps drop and then they just put on another sweatshirt!

However you dress, this year has been an 'open' win- ter with little snow and tem- peratures that didn't go much below zero for the first part of the season. This may change as Mother Nature never shares all the things that can happen. We could continue this way un- til the first breezes of spring, or we could be shoveling the white stuff until late spring with some of it hanging around way too long. If you are old enough, you can remember the heavy snows that were in the '60's when we were kids and had to walk to school, not uphill both ways, but definitely didn't get a ride from our parents for those few blocks. In fact we didn't even dare to ask as we already knew what the answer was, so no use wasting breath. Also, girls were not allowed to wear pants un- less they were under your dress and could be taken off when you got to school, or you just got really cold legs for the sake of fashion.

Then there were the kids that went to school on the bus, with the heater that worked in the front and one more in the middle, but the rest of the bus was freezing cold. Some kids got on the bus at 7 am and didn't arrive at school till 8:30, so not wearing the right clothes made it a long and cold trip. Most kids rode the bus if you lived in the country, and the only ones that didn't were kids of the teachers or maybe you were old enough to drive either the extra car or your parents had a few dollars extra and you got a car, but that was rare. If your parents worked elsewhere, it was the bus or nothing and there was no work- ing from home for us unless you were sick enough and could prove it. It was pretty rare to have a snow day so it had to be a pretty bad blizzard to be able to stay at home. Too many of those and you spent a few more days in school to make up the day for the year.

If you did go to school on those days in which the 'coun- try kids' didn't have to come in, the teacher didn't really stick to the regular class schedule since there were a lot of kids miss- ing, but the day was used as a study time or extra help time for the rest of us. If the teach- er didn't have anything else planned, they may run a film which, if you remember the old films, would break at least once during the running and create a burn blob on the screen. Then whomever was running it would have to stop the projector, cut out the damaged part, tape or fuze it together and then try again. Of course there was a lot of encouragement to let it burn from those in the back row of the classroom which would get the teacher to threaten deten- tion. Sometimes the films were good, but lots of them were just black and white boring ones that some kid always fell asleep on until the lights came back on at the end of the period.

Nowadays, when the weath- er turns cold, it's nice to stay in- side, grab a book or a tablet and a cocoa or a coffee and snuggle in to watch the weather go by. Hopefully, the spring will come soon and we can get back out- side and enjoy warmer weather and less ice and snow again. If not, well its North Dakota. Stick around and the weather will change. God Bless you All.
