Grumpy old Rooster stomped around the barnyard - - "he has to be the grumpiest rooster in all the world," were the only words heard about him. Chicks would run when ever he came around. At one time he was the best, but now well - - here's his story and what he did about it.

Grumpy, as they called him now, was born and named Happy. On the day he was born, sun shining, not a cloud in the sky and promises of only good things happening. Chickens had plenty of food, barnyard was tip top shape - cattle friendly, even the cats and dogs were romping around with each other. Little Happy had brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, a warm chicken coop - - it truly was the dream place to live.

Happy grew, changed from a tiny baby chicken to a strong, beautiful rooster. His feathers were as bright as the sun - - in fact the other roosters use to call him the king of the roost - -

Then one day - - something happened - - no one knows for sure but Happy became - - well he changed. At first he just didn't wake everyone in the morning with his brilliant crow. Some thought he might have gotten a sore throat - -. Then he began snapping at the little chicks as they walked past him. The hens became very concerned but said - "maybe he's just having a bad day."

Then it happened - -he began to fight with the other roosters in the barnyard - - jumping, picking, - - he became so bad that Farmer Jones came after him with the pitch fork and he heard him say, "Tomorrow we butcher you." Grumpy heard this and ran and hid. He couldn't understand - - what was going on.

Backing into a hole that he found, in the bales of hay, Grumpy soon exhausted, fell into a deep sleep. A beautiful hen approached him - - "Happy!" she said - - "Happy!" - - "Mom, mom is that you - - and he poured out his heart

- - he told her of the storm that hit the barnyard killing his best friend - - then about the wind that destroyed the chicken shed, about the flood that rushed thru the barnyard taking some little chicks with it. Mom held Grumpy, listened and said nothing.

Morning came, sun shining brightly woke Grumpy. Something was - - - -. He stood beside the hay bales and began to crow but this time it was different - -

Chickens listened - cows mooed - dogs and cats perked up their ears - - "Happy - Happy - that you?" they questioned.

Happy's story is our story. We need to be loved and listened to so - - how about Sunday, May 8th, make the choice, give Mother a huge hug, tell her your love her and watch her face - - turn to joy - -. Yours will too.

And if by chance she is already in heaven, send a prayer of thanksgiving cuz you were born to a beautiful mother.

Sons of the Pioneers Coming To Hettinger

When Frank and I moved to Hettinger, we were nervous for many reasons, but one thing we really feared losing when moving to a small town was live music. Frank and I are music lovers. Throughout college if we weren't performing with our college concert bands, we were dancing and listening and singing along with live musicians in any of a dozen venues in Sioux Falls or Vermillion. We knew when we moved to Hettinger we might lose this access to live music and the culture it brings.

After arriving in Hettinger, however, it quickly became clear that, although we couldn't access live music any day of the week, this small town prioritized live bands and concerts. Every month we found live musicians at community events, local bars, and churches. These musicians came from near and far; some were talented locals and others had traveled hundreds of miles to share their music with our little community. We joined the Cowboy Band and rekindled our love of the quirky music lovers who love to make music together.

We learned in time that live music is here and as important as ever in our small, rural community. We also learned to be grateful for the people and organizations who put forth the time, effort, funding, and other resources to make these events happen. Many of these people are volunteers or small business owners prioritizing music and culture in our community. And without them, this vital piece of the vibrancy of our small town would not survive.

This month, thanks to the Music Boosters and Waddington Brothers, we have a chance to host an incredible musical group in our community: The Sons of the Pioneers. If you were born in the nineties like me, you might not know initially just how incredible this group is. But upon further inspection, I found that I've heard their music everywhere. They're songs can be heard in new hits from "Marvelous

by Lilly Schneider

My grandmother and I frequently talk about what our purpose is on this Earth. I have struggled with this question for as long as I can remember. But, I've always known I wanted to help others. So, I had the strong feeling to call my grandmother after my therapy appointment the other day. She told me she knew why I had called her, at 6:45pm on a random Thursday as I was on my way home. She said, "I really think you were meant to do this." This- as in share part of my story to help others. After I hung up the call with her, I asked God to give me a sign- anything- if I was meant to write a simple blurb about my tiny story amongst millions, just to see if I could help at least one person. I burst into tears.

God has strange timing, and even stranger plans. After visiting Mott and learning about the tragedy that occurred not too long ago, my grandmother and I, as well as God, knew I had a resource that could help many people heal from what happened. Whether you knew the people that were involved, or had just heard of them from other people around town, you might still be having trouble processing things and moving on from them. Everything affects every individual differently, and no matter what you're feeling- it matters. Personally, I did not know anyone closely involved in the situation. But I do know the feeling of being confused, scared, angry, sad. You might be thinking- why me? Why us? Why such a small town? This is where my story comes in to help. I was once scared, confused, sad and angry and wondered.. why me?

May 17th of last year, I thought was just a normal night in my own place, until my home was broken into in the middle of the night. You never think it could happen to you until it does. And when it does, you stop sleeping, eating, being comfortable in your own home. You become angry, frightened, constantly confused. Nobody understands the things you see in your head, the things you begin to see in everyone around you, how hard it was to live in that house and stand in the very place that scares you the most. Many people might relate to these feelings.

This event on top of the anxiety and depression I had been suffering from was enough to knock me off my feet. It took me eight months to build up the courage to ask for help. Eight months of arguing with myself. These things can happen to anyone. I've grown up blessed with an amazing family and group of friends, and that's why I wondered so often why God chose me to suffer from this. As I'm writing this now, I've come to realize that He doesn't want us to suffer. He wants us to be brave and overcome these struggles so we come out of it stronger than before with a more positive outlook on life. Anything challenging God throws your way is His way of saying, "You are strong enough to get through this, so here ya go."

I finally reached out to a professional in the beginning of February and started my healing process with her. It is not weak to reach out to someone else for help- it is brave. I knew that if I didn't talk to someone, tell someone what I was going through, it would eat me up and I would feel worse as the days went by. But I also knew I couldn't fix myself in a day. Healing is a journey, and for you, it might take weeks. For some, it may take months or even years. But you will never heal if you don't start now.

My first time going to therapy (or as you might comfortably call it- counseling) I had no idea what to expect. All I knew was that I was constantly in a state of unhappiness with myself and every one around me. But man, it was so much better than I made it out to be. We just talked, laughed, cried, and got to the bottom of things. It's amazing how much stress is relieved just by talking. Even after feeling a little embarrassed after that first session, I went to every single one after that. Because, after I spilled out all my thoughts and spent time sorting through them, I began to notice how it was changing things about my every day life. I've learned to understand the traumatic experience I had and deal with it in a healthy way. I've learned to heal the parts of myself that were once so difficult to understand. She's helped me rediscover my purpose and my happiness. Only 6 sessions later, she tells me there is a light inside of me that was not there when we started.

I am not here to say that my story is similar to the story of Mott. I just hope that if you are struggling in any way, whether it's because of recent events or something else entirely, that you will build up the courage to talk to someone. If not a professional, a parent, a friend, a sibling, anyone that will listen. Therapy might have a negative stigma, but I will never deny to anyone that it is the best thing I have ever done for myself.

"The Easter Proclamation"

Pastor Charles Johnson
Dakota Prairie Lutheran Parish
Bowman Lutheran Church

You might be wondering why this week's article is titled "The Easter Proclamation". We celebrated Easter Sunday, April 17 over three weeks ago. Life has moved on, we have moved on, Easter has moved on. YES, we celebrated Easter three weeks ago, and "YES" Easter has moved on, it has moved on as we continue to celebrate the seven weeks of the Easter season. Alleluia! Christ is risen! Christ is risen indeed! Alleluia!

As we continue to celebrate the resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus the Christ, I want to share a poem that speaks to the celebration of Easter written by Annie Johnson Flint titled "The Way of the Cross", but before I do let me share a little information about the author.

Suffering from the ravages of cancer, not to mention the rheumatoid arthritis that left her totally crippled, Annie Johnson Flint came all too soon in her young life to a bend in the road. Her physical challenges had cut short a teaching career, but around the bend, the road went on. And so did Annie. Despite her difficulties, she wrote, with a pen held by bent and gnarled fingers, well over a thousand poems, many of which have been set to music that bless, uplift, and bring comfort and joy to a weeping world.

Here is a poem she wrote that has an enduring principle we can apply in our lives. You see, no matter how difficult our station is, no matter how insurmountable the hurdles are, we must not stop. Stopping is defeat. Life must go on. The road goes on; we have only come to a bend in the road.

"The Way of the Cross"

Some of us stay at the Cross,
Some of us wait at the tomb,
Quickened and raised with Christ
Yet lingering still in the gloom.

Some of us bide at the Passover Feast
With Pentecost all unknown:
The triumphs of grace in the heavenly place
That our Lord has made our own.

If the Christ who had died had stopped at the Cross,
His work had been incomplete.
If the Christ who was buried had stayed in the tomb,
He had only known defeat.

But the Way of the Cross never stops at the Cross,
And the way of the tomb leads on
To victorious Grace in the heavenly place,
Where the Risen Lord has gone.

Alleluia! Christ is risen! Christ is risen indeed! Alleluia!

As we celebrate the resurrection of our Lord Jesus this Easter season let these words of praise start each new day, for this is the Easter proclamation. The empty tomb is Christ's victory and our salvation.

Small acts of kindness will make a difference in your community.

A Little Birdie Told Me

By: Vivian Hernandez

A Little Birdie Told Me: "The History of Mother's Day." The original celebration of Mothering Sunday took place on the fourth Sunday of Lent. Faithful would return to their mother church, the church they grew up in for special services. Children would pick flowers on their way to Mothering Sunday services and give the flowers to their Mothers. During the Medieval times, apprentices and servants were given the day off to return home to spend time with their mothers. A rich cake known as a Simnel cake was given to their Mothers: A rich fruit mixture with layers of almond paste in the middle and on top. The cake was decorated with 11 marzipan balls representing the 11 faithful apostles and Jesus.

The celebrations of Mother's Day decline until the 20th Century: when Anna Jarvis and American woman rejuvenated it. Jarvis lobbied President Woodrow Wilson and in 1914 Mother's Day was declared an official American holiday. A red or pink carnation was worn to honor a living mother and a white carnation to remember a deceased mother. Eventually the holiday became too commercialized for its founder, Anna Jarvis and she spent the last years of her life trying to abolish the holiday.

Giving chocolates, cards, flowers and attending buffets, now mark Mother's Day. More phone calls are made on Mother's Day than any other day of the year, some 122 million! In 2021 the florist industry took in a whopping $1.9 billion, cards a staggering $671 million! Is it any wonder Anna Jarvis was saddened by the commercialization of Mother's Day?

I've been a mother for over 33 years now, I appreciate the cards, flowers, chocolates (especially the chocolates) but spending time with my family would rank much higher on the list. Being a grandmother or Lita as my grandsons call me is the greatest gift my children have ever given me.

A Little Birdie Told Me:

"If you're not able to spend time with your Mom on Mother's Day by all means, call her, send flowers, chocolates or her favorite treat: but remember no gift is greater than time spent together."

Reflections on the Words of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie,
Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

In our previous study we saw that King Nebuchadnezzar was once again troubled by a dream. And once again he consulted his magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers; but none could interpret his dream. This was no doubt a devastating admission for them to have to make. For you remember back in chapter two, Nebuchadnezzar would not reveal the content of his dream, as he did on this occasion. Previously these so-called wise men had promised that they would give the interpretation if only he would tell them the content. But now, even with the content of the dream, they cannot give him the interpretation.

We should not be surprised that men who know nothing about the God who sent this dream could not understand it. The world does not have the answers to man's most basic needs because man's most basic needs are spiritual in nature. The answers can be found in the Word of God, but the unbeliever is actively rebelling against that Word. The apostle Paul explains in Romans 8:7, "The carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, nor indeed can be." As high as the heavens are above the earth, so high are God's ways and thoughts above those of man (Isaiah 55:9). God must reveal His truth, or man will remain in the dark about it.

As a last resort, Nebuchadnezzar finally turns to Daniel. He knows that Daniel will tell him the truth, even though it might not be pleasant. He says to Daniel, "Because I know that the Spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no secret troubles you, explain to me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and its interpretation" (Daniel 4:9). It was obvious that there was something different about Daniel. No secret troubled him. He possessed a confidence that no matter what happened, all was under the control of his God.

Daniel here is a picture of what every believer ought to be in the world. The unbelieving world may not be able to put a finger on it, but the believer should be one who is stable despite the circumstances around him because Christ is his anchor, and the unchanging truth of God's Word is his guide. Daniel was in a strange land surrounded by heathen people with pagan customs, but his fellowship with God and his testimony for God remained unbroken.

Friend, if you are a believer in the Lord Jesus Christ, you too can have this kind of stability. It will never be perfect in this life because we all continue to have a sinful nature, but we can ask the Lord to grant us more and more grace to trust Him and cling to the promises of His Word no matter what might be going on around us. Such soul stability is expressed by the Psalmist in Psalm 46:1-2: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear, even though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea." The key to having such peace even during tumultuous times is found in verses 10 and 11 of this Psalm: "Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth! The LORD of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge."

If you are trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ alone to make you right with God, you have a refuge that the world knows nothing of. God promises never to leave or forsake His children. He promises to carry them through this life with all its ups and downs and to bring them safely to heaven for all eternity. May God grant us grace to be partakers of this matchless blessing.

Join JMHCC for National Hospital Week celebration

Jacobson Memorial Hospital Care Center (JMHCC) in Elgin will celebrate National Hospital Week with activities May 9-13, including discounted prices on certain lab tests and a 5-K color walk/run in Elgin. The theme for the week is "We Are Health Care."

"We invite the public to celebrate the week with us, and encourage everyone to take advantage of the screenings we have scheduled," says JMHCC CEO Theo Stoller. "With the pandemic putting even more pressure on our health care facilities over the past two years, we also want to recognize our staff, who have given an extraordinary effort into continuing to care for all our patients."

COLORING CONTEST, SPEAKER

As part of the activities, students in kindergarten through fourth grade have been invited to participate in a coloring contest at Elgin/New Leipzig Public School, Glen Ullin Public School and Richardton-Taylor Public School, with the winners announced during the week.

The public is invited to hear a speaker share about joy and positivity at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 10, in the activity room at JMHCC, with speaker Kristi Pflieger-Keller, Hazen.

The staff at JMHCC will also hold an in-house food drive for the local food pantry.

"JMHCC is always looking for ways to give back to the community and this is just one way our staff would like to continue that tradition," Stoller said.

DISCOUNTED LAB TESTS

Discounted prices on 10 different lab tests will be available during clinic hours during the week at the Elgin Community Clinic, Glen Ullin Family Medical Clinic and Richardton Clinic. Specific tests are shared on JMHCC's website at www.jacobsonhospital.org or its Facebook page.

"Knowing what your numbers are is an important aspect of taking charge of your health, so we offer these discounts during National Hospital Week," Stoller said.

Those wishing to complete one or more of the tests should first make an appointment at their local clinic during National Hospital Week.

For appointments, call the Elgin Community Clinic at 584-3338, the Glen Ullin Family Medical Clinic at 348-9175 or the Richardton Clinic at 974-3372. All tests must be prepaid.

COLOR WALK/RUN

While JMHCC has sponsored walk/runs in the past, the hospital is kicking it up a notch this year, with a color walk/run on Thursday, May 12.

The public is invited to participate in the color walk/run on Thursday at 1 p.m., beginning at the Elgin Community Clinic parking lot. Each participant will be given a free T-shirt upon registration that day before the 1 p.m. walk/run.

The course will take participants to the golf course clubhouse and back to the clinic.

A separate color walk/run is being held with students at the Elgin/New Leipzig Public School that morning.

OTHER OBSERVANCES

JMHCC will be celebrating National Skilled Nursing Care Week May 8-14, too!

Celebrating with the theme, "Creating and Nurturing Connections," events are planned throughout the week to recognize long-term patients at JMHCC. For details, see the activities calendar on the "Patients/Visitors" page at www.jacobsonhospital.org.

National Nurses Week is also observed that week, and in-house recognition will be shared with JMHCC nurses, with fun activities planned during the week. If you see staff wearing sunglasses or munching on a donut, it's because "our future is so bright" and "we don't know what we would do without you!"

If you see one of JMHCC's nurses, thank them for their dedication!

New Program to Help Businesses Capture Tourism Traffic

Bowman County Development Corporation released the Hospitality Website Loan Program early May. This program will assist hospitality related businesses in Bowman County in creating a website to best showcase their services. This specifically addresses one of the five goals outlined in Bowman County's 2022-2027 Strategic Growth Plan to "Prioritize Tourism as an Industry".

This program provides a forgivable loan to restaurants, bars, entertainment businesses, and hotels to create or update a business website to include specific items. This will provide ease for tourists during their visit.

It is proven that 88% of consumers who search for a type of business on a mobile device call or go to that business within 24 hours. However, a well-designed, mobile-friendly website is very important as 57% of internet users say they won't recommend a business with a poorly designed website on mobile.

This program will help hospitality businesses increase their reach and service to not only visitors, but locals as well. This is one of the many programs being released that relates directly to the most recent county-wide strategic plan. The Hospitality Website Loan Program is funded by the City of Bowman Restaurant and Lodging Tax and BCDC's Growth Fund.

Thoughts for the Week

by June Schmidt

I wonder what would happen if everyone actually did what they said they would do? Not that most people if they commit to something don't follow through with it, but there are a lot of promises made in this world and not everything gets completed.

One of my pet peeves is requesting something be done, giving the complete directions to do it, and then finding out that whomever received the request failed to read the entire request and did not complete the entire change and now it has to be requested again. How frustrating that is when you have promised someone that you will 'take care of something' and then you find out that you have broken your promise because the person that you trusted to do what you asked didn't try hard enough to do their job, therefore you could not do yours.

It seems to me that what is lacking is motivation to do a job correctly. So many people clamor to get paid 'what they are worth' yet cannot prove that they are worth what they are paid. How hard is it to do the job that you are hired for? Is it right to do a poor job just to get it done and get a paycheck or should there be a higher standard out there to do the job right in the first place? How much responsibility do we have in what choose to do? There are stories all over the internet saying how this or that person got the wrong thing that they ordered. Should the person that just puts in their time and does as little as possible get the same pay as the person that goes above and beyond to do the best job that they can? According to the current trend, we should all get the same paycheck because we are entitled to it. Where did this standard come from?

After the Great Depression of the 30's, people were eager to work at any job that they could. Unfortunately there were not that many jobs available as many businesses went out of business and the jobs went with them. Thus came the WPA that created jobs so that people could earn enough money to feed their families. The people back then were grateful for any job that they could get which is simply not the same for today's world. Now people have no problem with changing jobs as often as they want to for any reason and it appears that many just don't take pride in the job anymore. Its more a case of putting in their time just to get the paycheck. Don't get me wrong, there are lots of people that do a great job and take pride in what they do. But there are more that are just as happy taking a job to do minimum work and complain because they don't get big pay for it. That's pretty sad as that says little for the pride of doing the best that they can. And there are programs on TV that actually celebrate and make fun of those that do very little at their job. What does that say to the younger generation that are watching these programs? Do their parents explain to them what's wrong with that situation or do they just let them make their own decisions about what they see?

In any case, the bottom line is that in order to support yourself, you need to have a job. I guess I always felt that if I was hired to do a job, even if I didn't like the job so much, it was still a job and it was my place to do the best that I could at that job. Maybe this is outdated, but it seemed to work for me and I am happy with the result. Anything worth doing, is worth doing right, so if you take on a job, paid or not, I feel you need to do the best that you can and the reward is not so much the money, although that is good, but the satisfaction of doing a good job. When you can make someone happy with what you do, that's a good thing. So if you are one of those, good for you. If you are not, I guess I will just wonder why not? God Bless you all.

What could I do to benefit my community?

SEEING INSIDE YOUR EYES LIKE NEVER BEFORE

Dr. Kludt

West River Health Services Eye Center sees improved healthcare with new technology

by Frank Turner

Reprinted with permission from the Adams County Record

The West River Health Services Eye Center in Hettinger added a new, world-class medical diagnostic imaging machine, called an Optical Coherence Tomographer with Angiography, to its arsenal of optometry equipment in Oct. of 2021; already it has made a major impact on local healthcare.

The new machine allows optometrists like West River Health Services Optometry Doctor John Kludt to see the eye in a new way through Optical Coherence Tomography (OCT) and OCT Angiography technologies. According to Kludt, the new equipment is a major step forward in imaging technology compared to traditional imaging technologies. "This is state-of-the-art technology," said Kludt. "We have so many people in our service area that can benefit from this technology. Whether it's diabetes, retinal vascular disease or macular degeneration, we can just take care of them better."

So how does the machine work? Instead of taking imagery from the outside-in, the new machine captures a cross-section view of the eye by taking thousands of measurements per second. Using this data, the computer generates a highly detailed picture of the eye, allowing a whole new perspective for the healthcare provider.

"Using OCT, we are able to look at the individual layers of tissue in the eye, and it is awesome," said Kludt. "We can see changes occurring before they start to impact vision because we can see what is going on at a much finer and detailed level than traditional technology would allow."

OCT Angiography takes the technology a step further, capturing the light reflected off of individual red blood cells moving through the vessels within the eye. Taking between 70,000 to 100,000 pictures per second, the technology is not only more accurate, but it is also less invasive than previous methods of imaging.

"We used to inject the patient with dye to record the movement of red blood cells, but we don't have to do that anymore because of this technology," said Kludt. "It really is quite amazing what this new technology can do."

Ultimately Kludt said the machine improves his ability to evaluate diseases within the eye, leading to earlier diagnoses of eye diseases such as diabetes, retinal vascular disease, glaucoma, and macular degeneration. For some diseases, such as macular degeneration, Kludt said the machine can identify the need for preventative care and ultimately reduce potential vision loss.

"With this technology, we are able to make adjustments to treatments as they are needed," said Kludt. "We can identify issues like capillary drop-out before the eyes start to bleed and reduce the potential for vision loss."

In less than a year of using the new machine, Kludt said the new technology has already greatly improved the local diagnostic capabilities of optometry in Adams County and paved the way toward better healthcare at the clinic.

"We have been able to detect problematic macular degeneration in multiple patients at our clinic and point them to the right sub-specialist before it impacted their vision," said Kludt. "This technology is just one more step in providing world-class healthcare to rural citizens in small-town America; in many ways, this machine is the pinnacle of my career in rural healthcare."

Controlled Burn Procedure

While the county is under a FIRE EMERGENCY and BURN BAN Declaration, the Controlled Burn Procedure is in place.

Being under the FIRE EMERGENCY and BURN BAN Declaration means, that burning is allowed ONLY when the Fire Danger Index Rating is in LOW or MODERATE. There is no burning of any kind when the State Fire Danger Rating Index is in HIGH, VERY HIGH, EXTREME or a RED FLAG WARNING. Be aware, that conditions can change and anytime someone starts a fire, precautions need to be in place to ensure it does not get out of control. You must remain on location of the fire at all times, while the fire is burning. Willful violation of this declaration can be considered guilty of a Class B Misdemeanor, up to 30 days in jail and a $1500 Fine. Restitution for damages and Fire Suppression costs may be sought by the court as well.

The Burn Ban Restrictions & Fire Danger Rating Map are both found on <https://ndresponse.gov>. The site is updated every morning.

Hettinger County's procedure for those who want to have a controlled burn on their property is as follows:

Contact State Radio (911 Dispatch) at 1-800-472-2121 or 1-701-328-9921 before you begin to burn. Provide them with the following information:

1. Name
2. The location where the burning is taking place
3. What is being burned: field, garbage pit, tree piles, etc.
4. What time you plan to burn
5. How long you expect it will take to burn.
6. A contact number where you can be reached.

The Sheriff's Office is then notified of the location of the burn. The Sheriff's Office will contact the fire chief of that district to let them know where the burn is located.

This allows State Radio to know there is a controlled burn and if someone calls stating that they see a large fire or smoke, State Radio already knows the area of the controlled burn and will not call the fire departments out unnecessarily. This procedure ensures our volunteer fire departments are not called unless there is a real emergency.

Once the fire is out, contact State Radio again to inform them the fire is completely out. Contact the Hettinger County Emergency Manager at 701-824-2935 or 701-209-0810 for more information.

Mott/Regent Wildfire Winn 3 on 3 Tournament

Brad Greff of Farmers Union Insurance sponsored 4 young boys for a 3 on 3 tournament in Dickinson May 1st and he coached them to a Championship. The team consisted of two of his grandkids, Daniel Fischer (Ryan & Tracy) & Simon Greff (Lucas & Angela), Tate Smillie (Luke & Kristin) and Jayce Ottmar (Jeremy & Holly). The boys went undefeated to take the Championship!!

The final team they played were very talented and apparently very hard to beat. The boys were down 6 or 7 early on but fought hard to pull out the VICTORY!!

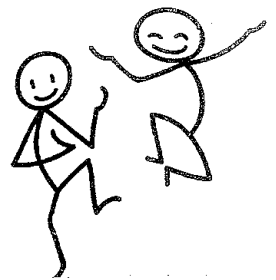

It's important to note that baskets are scored as 1 point .2 for 3 pointers. They started at 8 am and finished the day at about 1:30pm. It was super exciting!! We are so proud of all the kids and SO GRATEFUL to Brad for his time, energy and willingness to be there for these

James Steiner Rites Held

James Steiner, age 73 of Belle Fourche, went home to heaven on Thursday, April 28, 2022 at the Fort Meade VA Medical Center in Sturgis.

His life was celebrated on Thursday, May 5, 2022 at 10:30am, at Leverington Funeral Home of the Northern Hills in Belle Fourche. There will be no visitation. Inurnment will take place at Black Hills National Cemetery with Military Honors by the Belle Fourche Veterans Honor Guard.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are preferred to the Belle Fourche Veterans Honor Guard.

Jim's service was broadcasted live online, from his obituary page located on the funeral home's website: www.LeveringtonFH.com

James Edward Steiner was born April 13, 1949 in Elgin, North Dakota. He was the son of Tony and Caroline (Kuntz) Steiner. Jim grew up on the family farmstead in the Mott, North Dakota area. After graduating from high school, Jim entered the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War. During his time in Vietnam, Jim served with distinction. He was awarded the Purple Heart and several other medals of honor. After his honorable discharge, Jim returned home and started his business, Steiner Construction. The construction of homes brought him and his family to North Dakota and Montana. In North Dakota, Jim was one of the first men to build Earth Homes. He built three of these energy efficient homes, and he received much attention from the national and local media. They were beautiful homes, very unique, and as a result, the talk of the town. In the mid 1980's, Jim came to Spearfish, SD. He was united in marriage to Lois on July 5, 1991 and moved to St. Onge. In October of 1996 he settled in Belle Fourche. Part of Jim's life involved raising 3 children, and after his marriage to Lois he was blessed with 2 more. Eventually the grandkids started coming, and God blessed Jim and the family even more.

One of Jim's great loves in life was his second business he named DakotaLand Doors. Jim was a distributor of garage doors, and he also installed them and serviced them. This business was enjoyable to Jim. So much so that even in his last days of life, he was still concerned about the jobs he had on his schedule. Jim loved helping people and he was honest, dependable and trustworthy. Jim was also very patriotic. Finding ways to help veterans who were affected with Agent Orange and PTSD was very important to him. He was active in Pointman Ministries which was a ministry for veterans and his name is on the Spearfish Veterans Monument. Jim was also very serious about his faith, and his walk and his talk matched up very well to the faith he carried in his heart. He wasn't a perfect man, but he walked humbly and quietly and looked for ways to spread the Word. He was happy to have helped build a church in Mexico City, Mexico, and he also helped start several churches in the area. Jim enjoyed motorcycles, dirt bikes, memories made with a potato gun, and his yard work. He also loved old cars, camping, and fixing things. He was a good man, a wonderful husband, father and grandfather, and he will be missed very much.

James is survived by his wife, Lois of Belle Fourche; daughter, Nicole Steiner-Valentine of Spearfish; sons, Tracy (Diane) Steiner of Black Hawk, Ken (Susan) Steiner of Rapid City; step-sons, Chet (Kristen) Kilmer of Spearfish, Stoney (Jenn) Kilmer of Rapid City; grandchildren, Danielle Valentine, Maegan Steiner, Quinn Hall, Damon and Drevon Perry, Katy Schepler, Sarah Alfson, Taytum, Kylie, Cadence, and Desirae Kilmer; great grandchildren, Knox Steele, Ryan Hall, Maxis Hall; brothers, Gary (Janelle) Steiner of Bismarck ND, Howard (Kathe) Steiner of Rapid City, David Steiner of Spearfish, Ray (Phyl) Steiner of Mott ND; sisters, Mary (Verl) Heidecker of Belle Fourche, Eileen (Alex) Golian of Baltimore MD; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; and brother, Doug Steiner.

Family is the most important thing in the world.

Vernon Hansen Rites to be Held

When Edward and Mabel Hansen decided that their third child should be delivered in Battle Creek, MI, she traveled from ND to Michigan a few weeks before her due date to stay with family there. The baby boy was born on February 1, 1930. Because they hadn't yet agreed on a name he came back to ND with "No Name Hansen" printed on his birth certificate. It wasn't until a bit later that he was named Vernon Leroy. Even then, Edward wasn't totally sold on the name, and so he called him "the young one" until he could adjust to the idea.

Vernon grew up on the family farm south of Bowman with his two older brothers, Maurice and Eugene. During the Depression years, the family relocated temporarily to Minnesota, where Edward was able to find work and be close to family. Vernon recalled his father working in the fields with a team of horses until they were able to buy a tractor. He also spoke about the years they would harvest ice and pack the ice blocks away in straw. It would later be used for the icebox and the homemade ice cream that would be churned and enjoyed during the summer months.

Vernon attended high school at Maplewood Academy in Hutchinson, MN, and graduated from there in 1947. It was during his high school years that he met a red-haired girl named Darlene who was destined to be his wife. They rode their bicycles to meet, they talked across the fence, and letters traveled back and forth while they were away at school. Although they were quite sure they were meant for each other, Vernon wanted to be sure that Darlene had considered all of her options. He paid her tuition to attend Union College in Lincoln, NE her freshman year, hoping she would date around and be certain he was "the one." He was!

Vernon and Darlene were actually married twice in 1953. The first wedding was in early spring in Beach, ND, while Darlene recovered from polio, as her doctor felt it would be therapeutic for her. The second one was in June in Bowman. They teased each other frequently about which day they should celebrate. Vernon would say, "Our anniversary is in a couple of months" or "We celebrated that already!"

After they married, they farmed north of Rhame, ND for a time. While there, their first-born son, Rocky, died after a short battle with leukemia just a few days before his 2nd birthday. It was difficult to stay there after that, so they moved south of Bowman with their infant daughter, Pam. They farmed land in Minnehaha Township and also near Ladner, SD. Scott was the next addition to the family, followed by Brad a few years later.

Vernon was a farmer through and through. He loved working the land: not only in the wheat fields, but the garden. He and Darlene also raised sheep to help them through the lean years when drought or hail ruined the crops.

Farm life was busy, but he took the time to learn to fly a single engine airplane and earn his private pilot's license. He enjoyed flying his Cessna 172 and became very adept at landing his plane on the gravel road that ran by the farm. He also delighted in a good game of Rook. He and Darlene were the team to beat! Many Saturday nights were spent playing Rook, drinking Dr. Pepper, and eating popcorn. Simple pleasures!

Vernon was an active member of the Bowman Seventh-day Adventist Church, serving in several capacities as a leader and a teacher. He also worked on the Minnehaha Township board. But the biggest service that he provided was a labor of love for his wife. As Darlene became more and more disabled with post-polio syndrome, Vernon was her caregiver. Much of his time was spent helping her with daily medical needs and he was very skilled in his assistance.

He loved God and looked forward to being in heaven. He often said, "Jesus is coming soon!" His faith was strong and was a large part of his life. Because of wonderful helpers, he was able to stay in his own home despite the toll of Parkinson's. He passed away April 20, 2022, at the age of 92, in the Bismarck Sanford Hospital after a brief illness. Vernon is survived by his three children: Brad Hansen, Harwood, ND; Scott (Becky) Hansen, Bowman, ND; and Pam (Tim) Taylor, Brighton Colorado. He enjoyed three grandsons: Brock (Ashley) Hansen, Harwood, ND; Wyatt Hansen and Truxton Hansen, Bozeman, MT. He had one great grandchild, Elsie Hansen. The family is planning private graveside service to lay Vernon to rest. A memorial will be planned later this spring.

Mott Native Recommended for North Dakota Hall of Fame

The late Virgil Banning, who was born and raised in Mott, ND has been recommended to Gov. Doug Burgum as a candidate for the Rough Rider Award, the state's highest honor.

Banning was an acclaimed war hero, winning the military's second highest award for bravery, the Navy Cross. It ranks second only to the Medal of Honor.

The nomination comes from Mott's Taylor-Skartvedt American Legion Post, an organization of veterans. It was suggested by Richard Roberts of West Fargo, a former resident and longtime member of the Mott Legion.

Banning was brought up in West Mott and was an outstanding student, athlete, and leader in high school where he graduated in 1936. At the University of North Dakota, he was selected for the prestigious Blue Key honorary fraternity, served as president of both the Interfraternity Council and Scabbard and Blade (an organization of military-orientated students) and was radio station program manager all four years.

During his 30 years in the Marines, including combat in World War II and Korea, he was awarded a number of medals. In addition of the illustrious Navy Cross and other minor awards, he was honored with many important commendations: the Distinguished Service Medal, three Legion of Merit Medals, the Air Medal, and two Bronze Medals. Wounded twice, he was awarded two Purple Hearts. He was present at the famous flag raising after the terrible battle conquering the Japanese-held island of Iwo Jima.

Among other posts during his career, he was an instructor in the Senior Military Academy at Quantico, VA.; served in the Pentagon as an advisor to President Lyndon Johnson; and was commanding officer of the 3rd Marine Division and commanding general at the Marine base at Twentynine Palms, CA.

Banning rose to the rank of brigadier general, retiring in 1969 whereupon he embarked on a successful business career in California in property management and development. He died in 2011.

If you're not sure - don't guess - ask

"Please, Thank You and You're Welcome"

By Don Taskila - Regent, ND

"Please, Thank You and You're Welcome" should 'STILL' be the most common phrases in the English language among Americans... NOT 'Who Cares'. America, "Please" let this one sink in. 'Who are We': we're "Americans"; and that is positively acceptable. Therefore, 'WE are ALL' worthy of being treated courteously. Working out life's rough edges can be a lifelong process for each one of 'Us', but I believe NOW is a really good time for Americans to start doing just THAT. Let's use "Please" to politely ask for something, "Thank You", or "Thanks" when someone does something for us; perhaps they provide us with a needed service or give us a gift, or pay us a sincere compliment- directly from their heart. Again, let's say "You're Welcome" as a polite response when someone kindly Thanks us for doing something nice for them. Or, how about- politely saying: "Excuse me" when we are attempting to get someone's attention, or- when we ask someone to move so that we may pass by them in a courteous 'n' safe manner.

It has been said, that a basic rule of good manners is to give one's time and effort to help others. When we meet someone, is it OK in our Spirit to think of a genuine compliment to give them, right after we first give our attention and interest to them as we personally look in their eyes & smile? A sincere compliment; which can include an expression of praise, appreciation, respect, or a warm sense of approval usually always boosts the receiving person's morale. A "Hello" or "How are you?" is most often not enough. Be generous with sincere words of warm greetings, sympathy, or whatever is rightly appropriate to the occasion at hand.

"The Sun always politely rises in The East", at all times- on all occasions exercise self-control; have restraint over your impulses, emotions, or desires, and have good behavior; obey the standards accepted by our American society. A well-mannered person has no need for self-advertisement. Let your good deeds speak for themselves every day!

It's thought, that being respectful of others is a required value of good manners. Listening to others is a way to show respect. Be genuinely interested in others; learn their names, and encourage them to talk about themselves. Look them in the eye, SMILE, and listen carefully to them.

Before speaking to someone directly, we need to consider what effect our words are going to have on their being comfortable talking with us. We need to remember that our body language (our posture and our mannerisms) are as important to their being comfortable with us as the words we speak; show kindness 1st- not contempt. Avoid being 'NEGATIVE' or airing on the side of gossip.

We need to be punctual; appreciate the value of being on time in America. We need to 'Call First' when we must unavoidably be late to an appointment or a commitment.

In closing, this feature story "Please, Thank You and You're Welcome" is meant to be about 'Social Etiquette' in America. 90-Plus Percent of Americans absolutely appreciate being treated in a courteous manner; with kindness and respect. However, while being well-mannered- it's possible that 1- to two, or 3-Percent of 'The Snarly Public' will chastise the larger number of polite people. Oh well... "You can please some of the people all of the time, you can please all of the people some of the time, but you can't please all of the people all of the time"

(Quote by John Lydgate, who was an English monk and poet, born in or around the year 1370 in the small village of Lidgate, near Haverhill, Suffolk, England, eight miles West of The Benedictine Abbey of Bury Saint Edmunds- once among the richest Benedictine monasteries in England, until the Dissolution of the Monasteries in 1539.)

Added Note: My idea for this article came forward when through my general grazing research I discovered that 100 years ago in 1922, Emily (Price) Post (Born: October 27, 1872, & Died: September 25, 1960)- an American author, novelist, and socialite. Famous for writing about social etiquette; first published her book entitled "Etiquette: In Society, In Business, In Politics and At Home" > Still in Print today. "Etiquette: In Society, In Business, In Politics and At Home" ascended to the top of the nonfiction bestseller list, and the phrase "according to Emily Post" soon entered our language as the final word on the subject of social conduct. From advice on planning the perfect wedding to eating an artichoke correctly, Emily Post's 1922 social etiquette book offered instructions on how to live a well-mannered life. This landmark book debuted during the raucous flaunting of morals and conventions known as the Jazz Age. [The Jazz Age was a period in the 1920s and 1930s in which jazz music and dance styles rapidly gained nationwide popularity in the United States. The Jazz Age's cultural repercussions were primarily felt in the United States, the birthplace of jazz.] Yet the book immediately became an overwhelming best-seller, as it codified anew the eternal idea that 'How You Treat Others Matters'. RECIPE OF THE DAY

MINI LEMON DROP CAKES

- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- LEMON GLAZE:
- 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon fresh lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons milk

Spray mini muffin pans with nonstick spray. Set aside. Whisk flour, sugar, salt and baking soda in a mixing bowl. Set aside. Dissolve butter in saucepan on medium heat. Add water and bring to a boil. Pour the hot mixture over the dry ingredients and beat with a hand mixer until just combined. Beat sour cream, egg, zest and lemon juice until smooth. Scoop the mixture into muffin tins. Bake at 325° F. for 12 minutes. Let cool for 5 minutes, then flip onto cooling racks. Cool completely before glazing. Dip the lemon drop side down into the glaze. Allow excess glaze to drop into bowl, then flip top side down onto cooling racks. (Put wax paper under the cooling racks for easier cleanup.) Allow the glaze to set.

LEMON GLAZE:

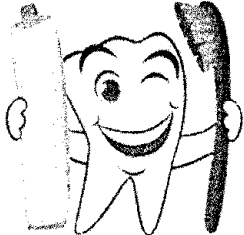

Whisk all glazing ingredients together in a small mixing bowl. Heat for 10 seconds in the microwave until the glaze is very fluffy.

Landmark

By Kathy Craigo-Harteis

Are there landmarks in your life? Do you remember anything or anywhere in your life that brings instant recognition?

Mine is a tree.? A really big tree. It grows in the very center of the street in front of my childhood home.

Next door to our home was the Scout Cabin, a often-time gathering place for celebrations or meetings.

When a gathering would happen the street would fill with cars. It wasn't uncommon to see parked cars lined up on either side of the tree in both directions right down the middle of the street.

I'm not sure how that is legal parking, but apparently it is and has been for as long as I remember.

The fact that the giant of a tree still stands, growing up through the road is amazing in itself.

It has withstood nature's challenges these many years. I'm not sure how old it is, but I know it's past 70.

The tree is a monument of sorts. It marks the spot of where so many of us grew up.

Our town was small. The kids we grew up with are still like our family.

Just as that mighty tree has endured the years, so have many of us.

I imagine the tree has deep roots. So do we all. There are deep roots of friendship that grew in our little town of Grimes, California.

I hope that tree will continue to be there until we'll after I'm gone. It represents strength, courage and community.

Think about it. What is your landmark?

Life is good today.

Think of what you can do with what there is.
