Don't Forget
Time Change Coming!!
Sunday, November 2nd

Little Susie hollered as she walked out the door - - bye Mom, “running to see Grandma.” “Ok honey - love you” and out the door she ran.

Running through the woods, listening to the birds, watching the sun peek thru the tree branches - - oh it had to be the most beautiful experience any one could ever imagine.

Not only was the scenery beautiful but Susie loved to watch the squirrels jump from tree to tree - - she marveled at what they could do. Her only question was always the same - - why can't I do that? So when going to Grandmas she would hop from stone to stone - - laugh when she fell down and wondered what the baby squirrels would do if they fell to the ground - how would they get back to the top of the tree? Did someone magical come along?

Such thoughts were very natural for Little Susie. Her mom always said - - “Someday” and would just smile - - plus she knew, the time with Grandma would eventually give her answers.

Grandma live about three city blocks from Little Susie, only it was in the country and Grandmas house was surrounded by trees - trees of every kind, green trees, golden trees, apple trees - - every kind one can imagine. Grandpa loved trees and every new one that came along, he planted, took care, trimmed, but now that he was deceased, the over growth had consumed Grandmas house, which made it even more enticing.

Much excitement filled Little Susie today, cuz she was staying overnight with Grandma, due to her parents going to the city. “Grandma, I'm here!” she screamed as entering the front door. “Welcome home” were the words from Grandma as she gave her welcoming hug, anxious to have Little Susie with her.

Fresh baking bread, filled Little Susie's nostrils, raspberries floated around in the kitchen sink and the most beautiful chocolate cookies sat on the counter - - Little Susie was in heaven.

After spending time with Grandma her favorite thing to do was tour this beautiful big mansion - - as Little Susie saw it to be. Upstairs, the attic - Grandma just let her roam. She found all kinds of Grandmas treasures - - from old fashioned straw dolls, clothes Grandma had made for them, a doll house with wooden carved furniture made by Grandpa - - all there treasures were in Grandmas attic and Grandma knew it was Little Susies favorite past time.

Sun shine eventually passing thru the trees Grandma called to Little Susie - - “Time to come down,” and happy Little Susie responded. Supper almost finished, Little Susie, screamed - - Grandma - look! There in the sliding glass doors stood a humongous Big Black Bear. Grandma walked over to the window, waved her arms and Black Bear disappeared.

“How did you do that?” “Someday” was Grandmas answer.

Time went on - Little Susie grew into a beautiful young lady but in her heart she still wondered whenever she questioned Grandma she also received the same answer - - “Someday” and Grandma now on her death bed, still had her right hand closed, same as Susie could remember when very small - - Grandmas had always looking like she were holding something.

Grandma eventually left this world and as Susie and her mom went to make final arrangements, the mortician handed something to Susie - - your Grandma was holding this - - then Grandmas words came back to her - - .

Someday you will know
Someday you will understand

“Time”

Time to move on - time to be better, time to set back our clocks.

Time - a word used over and over but never seems to be enough.

How about you - do you have more time then the average - - or less time. We know that everyone has his own time.

This week the Eido is filled with articles connected with time - - but all the articles are filled with good time.

Now is the time, the one moment where time stands still and you get to make a choice - - which is more important.

Time is valuable or is it detrimental, depends on how you use it.

Cell Phones Of
The Future??

... geno sloan

Enroute home from a recent trip to visit family in Alabama, I had a lay-over at the Denver airport.

People-watching is different than it used to be. These days everyone is attached some way to other people – with their cell phones.

Some walk down the corridors watching the cell phone in their hand. I'm amazed at how few collisions there are due to this. Others are connected with a phone pod in their ear, so they walk while speaking loudly, while laughing and joking with. . . . . who?? Are they talking to me? Should I answer? Are they talking to the man coming toward them? Nope. He walked right past, looking as puzzled as I was.

Perhaps soon we can arrange to have a type of cell phone attached to our bodies, so we don't have to carry it around in our pocket or purse. Women could have their phones made into hair bows or bobby pins. Neck chains or finger rings could also be cell phones. They would simply give a little electric zap instead of a ding-a-lingy sound.

I think maybe I will see if I can get my cell phone implanted in my finger. Then when I get a call, all I have to do is put my finger in my ear. How's that? Oops! What if I needed to pick my nose????? I guess that wouldn't work.

I hope Elon Musk will invent an Instant Transporter; have us walk through a mirror and we are THERE. – won't deal with cell phones AT ALL! What would you think of THAT?

In a never-ending attempt to gaslight us regular folk, progressives are always intoning that "these are not the 'droids you are looking for" and, nowhere has it been more true, this past month, than the "No Kings" and "Ain't no illegal voters registered in the US" gambits. First, what is wrong with people who deny reality, dress up in ridiculous, inflatable Pokemon, dinosaur, or Sesame Street character suits as they rage away about not having a king in this great country of ours? It's a mental health group hug which reminds me of Al Franken's character Stuart Smalley on Saturday Night Live back in the 90's, you know, when the show was actually funny. "I'm good enough, I'm smart enough, and doggone it, people like me!" Uh...not so much there Pilgrim! OK, hunker down and listen to some deductive reasoning...if we actually had a King running the show, he wouldn't allow anyone to "protest"...he's a king, right? He'd 'er, 'um drag you to jail and, you know, end you wouldn't he? I mean that's what kings historically did but, I digress. Much ado about nothing it would seem. There ain't no king!

Another gaslight by these folks, when they're not group-hugging, "dancing" and screeching and all, is that there are not illegal, dead or non-citizens voting in our elections. Well, on this past Tuesday, Ohio Secretary of State Frank LaRose announced that he uncovered 1,084 non-citizens who "appear to have registered to vote unlawfully in Ohio." Now, the progressives like to say that "voter fraud in the United States has, historically, been extremely rare, with most allegations proving unfounded." Hang about there mate, I'm from Missouri, the show-me state and I recall the civics class in High School where I was taught that election fraud (manipulation of the ballot box) goes all the way back to 1793 when New York's governor and lieutenant governor won election because Otsego, Clinton, and Tioga Counties were disqualified on technicalities resulting in all the remaining ballots handing George Clinton the majority of the votes.

And, wasn't there a Tammany Hall society (1786) which controlled votes in New York state for decades, the Tom Pendergast machine in Jackson County, Missouri (1925-39), and, don't even get me started about Chicago, Arkansas or Richard Nixon. Curious how one has to have a "real ID" to get on a plane, a driver's license to drive a car, and you can't even get into a secure building without some sort of ID with your photo on it. But, the talking heads assure us that there simply ain't no voter fraud going on in our great country. Who you gonna believe? Me or your lying eyes. I would like to believe the pundits but, being a skeptic, I would rather be safe than sorry. You know...being a deplorable and all. Have a great week!

Hettinger's Magical Medora Christmas Show Tickets On Sale Now!

By Ted Uecker,
WRHS Foundation

The Magical Medora Christmas Show is coming back to Hettinger for the second consecutive year on Friday, November 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Hettinger School Gymnasium. Hettinger will be their first stop on a twenty-four-city tour of the four-state region, all in 24 consecutive days!

West River Health Services Foundation, the fundraising arm of West River Health Services and Western Horizons Living Centers, is once again sponsoring the event with the help of their terrific partners: Rick and Tracy Berg, Mark & LaNae Kristy, Josh & Carrie Ranum, Hettinger Jaycees, Mike and Sandy Marion, and Slope Electric Cooperative. Thank you to our partners for once again supporting our efforts to bring top-shelf entertainment to our rural community.

A year ago, the Magical Medora Christmas Show brought over 600 fans to Hettinger and amazed the capacity crowd with polished Christmas music, numerous musical instruments, a young magician, sensational lighting and video effects, and imaginative, ever-changing wardrobes. Bill Sorenson Productions is once again producing this amazing Show, with many of the same talented performers returning. And yes, Bill Sorenson himself, will be here to provide some of his magic and scintillating dialogue.

$40 Tickets for the Show are now on sale at the following area retail locations: KB Jewelers and the Community Promotions Office in Hettinger; Scranton Equity Gas Station; Roosevelt Custer Office in Bowman; Bravera Bank in New England; The Tulip in Mott; The Flower Box in Lemmon; and Dacotah Bank in Bison. You can also call Ted Uecker at 701-567-3666 and he'll help you get tickets.

Tickets can also be purchased online via credit card at medorachristmas.com. Just select the Hettinger event for November 28, and your ticket will be issued. The total cost may be slightly over $40 with fees, but it is a convenient option.

Area fans should also remember that prior to the Medora Christmas Show, Hettinger will host fireworks, the 40th Anniversary of the Wake-Up Santa Lighted Parade, candy and cocoa for the kids, and photos with Santa and Mrs. Clause at the Fire Hall.

Doors at the Hettinger School Gymnasium will open at 6:30 p.m. for general admission seating (first come, first served). If you've never seen the Medora Christmas Show, this is your chance. If you have witnessed this top-quality production before, we know you'll want to see it again --it's that good!

Onward to bringing the arts to rural America through our top-quality healthcare system and friends of the West River Health Services Foundation.

Reflections on the Words of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie,
Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

We have been considering the practical instruction for believers in Christ from 1 Peter 2:17: "Honor all people. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king." So far we have looked together at the first two commands, to honor all people and love the brotherhood. We come today to the third directive: "Fear God." It's likely that we don't hear much about this concept in our day, but it is a very important one. Now it is possible for the unbeliever to fear God in a sense, but that is not what Peter means here. The fear of God which the unbeliever has is the fear of getting caught and punished for doing wrong. Instinctively, people know that they should love and obey God. That is part of being created in His image. But unbelievers do not fear God rightly because they do not have a correct view of who He is.

Only the believer has the potential to fear God in the right way. That is because the Spirit of God has come into his or her life. And the Holy Spirit works through the Word of God to teach the believer that God is the most important Being there is, and what He thinks is supremely important. Furthermore, the believer is taught by the Spirit that God is awesome and holy and that if He gave us what we deserve, it would mean being sent to hell forever. This leads to making Christians more and more sensitive to sin and eager to put it away, not only to avoid the misery that sin brings, but because of the amazing grace and love of God, who loved and saved us even while we were His enemies. As believers learn more about God's character, we are led to worship and praise Him and to fear Him in the sense of holding Him in deep awe and reverence. This fear of God gives believers singleness of purpose in life, seeking to please Him by living more and more in obedience to His Word.

Brothers and sisters in the Lord, let us be careful not to live for the approval of man. Something in all of us wants to avoid conflict and disagreement. Something in all of us wants everyone to like us. But that cannot always be the case for the believer. We are to live for God even if others disagree with us or call us fools. We must live in the fear of God even if it is not comfortable or convenient. We belong to Him. He has purchased us with the blood of Christ, and we need to keep the right perspective. We tend to live too much for the here and now. But this life is like a drop in the ocean compared to eternity. And the old saying is very true: "Only one life; 'twill soon be past; only what's done for Christ will last."

We read in Proverbs 9:10, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." In God's view, it is impossible to have true wisdom without the proper fear of Him. And the benefits of wisdom are immeasurable.

They are described in Proverbs 3:13-15, "Happy is the man who finds wisdom, and the man who gains understanding; for her proceeds are better than the profits of silver, and her gain than fine gold. She is more precious than rubies, and all the things you may desire cannot compare with her."

Friend, do you have this fear which results in wisdom that is more valuable than gold? It is only for the person who has been brought to see his or her sinfulness and is trusting in the blood of Christ alone for forgiveness and right standing with God. If that has not happened in your life, please ask God to grant you His saving grace through Christ. And may He enable us all to love and fear Him more and more.

you were

In Loving Memory
of Chloe Bonaparte
Stinchfield

January 24, 2025 – October 13, 2025

It is with deepest sorrow that we share that our sweet daughter, Chloe Stinchfield, passed away in our arms on October 13, 2025, at just 8 months old, due to complications from a rare genetic condition called Gaucher Disease.

Though her time with us was short, Chloe brought immeasurable joy to our lives. With a quiet, curious spirit and a sweetness all her own, she lit up at the sound of her crinkle books and gave us the biggest smiles as she banged her silicone spoons, bobbed her little head, and blew bubbles with delight. Nothing brought her more comfort than her soft pink blanket – a constant presence in her world, and now a cherished piece of ours. Despite the challenges she faced, Chloe met each day with gentle strength, grace, and a quiet joy that touched everyone around her.

Chloe was deeply loved and will be forever missed by her parents, Phoebe and Zachary Stinchfield; her older sister, Lily Stinchfield; her grandparents, Mark and Teresa Stinchfield; her grandmother, Anne Bonaparte-Krogh; her aunts and uncles: Mary and Jeremy Wahlman-Krogh, Katherine and Zane Merva; and cousin, John Joseph Merva. Chloe was welcomed into heaven by her grandfather, Paul Bonaparte-Krogh, and is playing with her cousin, Amelia Merva who both passed away before her.

A memorial service to celebrate Chloe's life will be held at 11:00am, Friday, November 21, 2025, at Spruce Mountain Ranch 14771 South Spruce Mountain Road, Larkspur, Colorado 80118. Reception to follow.

In lieu of flowers, the family asks that donations be made to the National Gaucher Foundation (www.gaucherdisease.org).

Chloe's time with us may have been brief, but her impact is everlasting. She was our Little Pickle, our light, and she will always be in our hearts.

Gerald (Jerry)
Francis Houle
Rites

Gerald (Jerry) Francis Houle was born on August 29, 1937 in Williston, North Dakota, the second of seven children born to John (Jack) and Mildred (Carson) Houle. He graduated from Williston High School in 1955. On December 30, 1961, he married Edith Olson in Williston.

Jerry graduated from North Dakota State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy in 1962 and was a 50-year, lifetime member of the North Dakota Pharmaceutical Association. He did his pharmacy internships at Irgens Drug in Williston and at San Carlos Pharmacy in San Jose California. He had the privilege of serving as master of ceremonies for the President's Banquet at seven State Pharmacy Conventions.

He and Ede moved to Beach in 1962, where he worked for Steve Sleight at Sleight's City Drug. In 1966, he purchased the business and it became Houle's City Drug in "downtown metropolitan Beach, North Dakota." He was also the consulting pharmacist for Golden Valley County Hospital. He sold the business to White Drug in 1990 and then worked in their Glendive, Montana store. Prior to his retirement in 2003, he also worked for F&G Pharmacy in Glendive and for New Salem Pharmacy.

Jerry was very active in business and civic organizations and was master of ceremonies for a number of local talent and variety shows. He served on the Golden Valley County Fair Board and the Beach Park Board. In the early 1960's, he was a member of the Beach Roping Club, participating in "tie-down" team roping. He was crowned Miss Golden Valley County in the early 1970's, edging out Don "Fats" Abernethy for the title.

He took a year off from the pharmacy and helped Vince Nistler build his home in the country. Vince gave him the "opportunity" to hand trowel concrete for 44 steel bins. While working in New Salem, he spent weekends working with Marman Construction, where he did carpentry, brick work, rock work, concrete work, block masonry and water and sewer. After his retirement from pharmacy, he worked at Smith Creek Ranch and Sperry Horse Ranch. He was involved in fencing, coral building and general ranch maintenance. While working for Sperry's, he traveled with Robert to horse shows in Indianapolis, St. Paul Horsefest, North Dakota

Winter Show, Minot, Bowman and Glendive. He maintained the "Booth" while Robert competed in the shows. He also rode "shotgun" for Paul Schmitz, delivering lumber for Prairie Lumber Company throughout southwest North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana. In this capacity, he sampled caramel rolls in most of the regional dining establishments. He also hand crafted 44 signs from railroad ties for various area ranches, most of which can be seen while traveling north of Beach on Highway 16. He retired completely in 2018.

Despite never playing high school or college sports, he was very active in amateur sports. He played and sponsored or coached amateur softball, basketball, football, sand volleyball, team penning, "c' boy polo," a row-ride-run event, and broom-ball. At age 50, he took up ice hockey. He enjoyed downhill, cross-country and waterskiing. He also played some golf and tennis.

Despite only playing a very leaky, soldered, rented baritone for one year and being proudly unable to read music, he organized and played bass drum in the Golva-Beach Precision All Clown Marching Band. They marched in parades in Beach, Golva and the State Finance Convention in Medora. At the Beach 75th reunion, they marched and played a concert in Railroad Park. He was also a founding member, along with Kent Olson and Bernie and Melissa Schillo, of the Beaver Creek Dance Band. They played on weekends for several years. Jerry played drums, stand-up bass, electric bass and trash can bass. He also played with a spin-off band, Alkali Flats. They played at weddings, anniversaries, reunions and summer weekends on the patio at Buffalo Gap Guest Ranch west of Medora.

Jerry died peacefully, at home, October 24, 2025. He is survived by his wife of 63 years, Ede (Olson) Houle, his daughter Cathy (Todd) Shirek of Hettinger, North Dakota and their children Michael and Emily, and his son Mike (Sona) Houle of Bismarck, North Dakota and their children Megan, Hannah, and Davis. He also leaves many nieces, nephews, in-laws and a wide circle of friends.

And the "drugstore c' boy" rode away.

Pray if you want

By Kathy Craig Harteis

I believe in the power of prayer. Moreover I believe in prayer and action. God wants us to rely on Him, but He has also blessed us with free will.

So whenever I'm challenged, my first instinct is to pray for guidance. Guidance to know what to do. Guidance to wait for God to show me the correct path.

Pray if you want, but be open to waiting for the answer. Keep in mind if God's answer is no, there is a reason. We are sometimes protected when we aren't even aware it's happening. Time will tell. Looking back we will have that aha moment and understand.

Yesterday I drove to Dickinson, ND. Driving through the Badlands I was once again reminded how blessed I am to call this home. On the drive home I saw a coyote cross the interstate. Honestly, it was the first time in 40 years I have seen one of the critters so close to civilization.

Years ago when I lived in rural Grimes, CA at our family farm I saw a coyote cross our orchard. I heard plenty of them howling in the night.

I realize the similarities of country living no matter where you live. I consider getting to live part time in both North Dakota and rural California a blessing.

No matter where we are, it's the people that make it home.

Today I learned of the passing of one of Beach's most beloved residents. Sadly Jerry Houle, former pharmacist, organizer of many events, master of ceremonies for most all events, clown band organizer and band master, drummer for Beaver Creek Band, provider of costumes to many, always available to lend a hand and all around good guy that so many of us appreciated and were blessed to call our friend. Always the joker but more over a man who we loved and a man we knew loved us back. We will forever remember you.

Because we knew Jerry, life can be good today.

Darrel Nelson
Death Notice

Darrel Nelson was born on July 16, 1940, the son of Earl and Emma Nelson, in Gascoyne, ND. He attended Scranton High School and graduated in 1958. He then moved to Rapid City, SD, where he married his wife, Lee. They both ran a fostering/taking in elderly businesses. They adopted their 2 children: Tammy and Greg. After Lee passed away, the place was getting harder to run so Darrel sold his business and soon moved to California and lived with his daughter Tammy and her husband Scott. After a year or so, Darrel moved back to the Black Hills. In 2017 Darrel moved to Bowman and lived with his younger sister Darlene until his health took a turn and he had to move into the Southwest Healthcare Long Term Center in Bowman. Darrel was a "Simple Man" and took life as it came. He loved spending time with family, making lefsa during the holidays. He enjoyed puzzles and even started framing them and selling them to friends while in the nursing home.

Darrel is survived by his son Greg Nelson, son in law Scott Junke, grandchildren Cody and Marcus, sister Darlene Nelson, Raymond (Mary) Nelson and many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his wife Lee, daughter Tammy, parents Earl and Emma Nelson, brothers, Roger and Robert, sisters-in-law, Betty Nelson and Patricia Nelson, niece Amy Nelson and great niece Amanda Froistad.

Jim Schmidt Announces Candidacy for North Dakota House, District 31 in 2026

Former legislator Jim Schmidt, a fourth-generation ag land owner, conservationist, and community leader, announced today that he will seek election to the North Dakota House of Representatives for District 31 in the 2026 election.

Schmidt previously served District 31 in the North Dakota House from 2011 to 2022, earning a reputation as a hard-working conservative and a strong voice for agriculture, water infrastructure, and fiscal responsibility. A Morton County farmer, Schmidt says his decision to run again stems from his ongoing commitment to protecting North Dakota's way of life, local control and responsible spending.

"Our district deserves experienced leadership grounded in hard work, straight talk and common sense," Schmidt said. "I've spent my life working with the land, helping ag producers, and making sure taxpayer dollars are spent wisely. North Dakota is strongest when we invest in our communities, not when we regulate them from afar."

A Record of Results

During his previous service in the legislature, Schmidt earned a reputation for turning priorities into results. Schmidt served on House Appropriations and as Conference Committee Chairman for the State Water Commission budget. He secured funding for major infrastructure projects, including $18 million for Mandan's new water intake and $21 million for the Mandan-Heart River flood control dike and additional funding for Southwest Water, while expanding support for Missouri West Rural Water Systems.

His leadership also brought support for rangeland conservation, drought assistance, and programs strengthening the livestock and beef industries, including legislation requiring the labeling of lab-grown beef and grants for rural water development.

"When it comes to water issues, legislators turn to Jim Schmidt," said Senator Don Schaible. "He knows water, and he knows how to get things done."

Experience that Matters

Schmidt's deep agricultural roots and technical experience in natural resource management have long informed his pragmatic approach to governance. He has served:

- 16 years as a director on the Morton County Water Resource Board and Missouri West Rural Water System.
- Vice-chairman of the House Appropriations Education and Environment Division.
- Chairman of multiple Water Topics Overview Committees across legislative interims spanning 8 years.

His leadership has earned statewide recognition, including:

- North Dakota League of Cities Legislator of the Year (2019) for his work advancing rural water systems.

- National Water Resources Association "Water Statesman Award" (2022).

- Missouri River Joint Water Board "Riverman Award" (2022).

- Governor's designation as "Commodore in the North Dakota Mythical Navy" (2022)

- Clark Cronquist Waterline Award for leadership in rural water development (2023)

Priorities for the Next Session

If elected, Schmidt says his priorities will include:

- Protect property rights.
- Effectively utilize our water resources for our states people, economy, agriculture and recreation.

- Strengthen ethics and transparency so legislators never personally gain from office.

- Support agriculture and energy industries as key drivers of North Dakota's economy.

- Preserve local control over land use, education, and individual rights and freedoms.

"In the legislative process, there's no substitute for life experience," Schmidt said. "I understand the challenges of agriculture, business, and sustaining rural North Dakota's way of life. That perspective matters in Bismarck. Throughout my career I have lived and worked in many states and I've seen what works, and what doesn't."

About Jim Schmidt

Jim Schmidt lives in Huff, North Dakota, where he and his family operate a farm/ranch that has been in their family for over a century.

Schmidt is known as a trusted, proven conservative who values relationships, results, and accountability, an approach that's earned him the respect of colleagues and community leaders across North Dakota.

All Saints Day

Pastor Beth Parks
Western North Dakota Synod
of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America

November 1 - this Saturday - is All Saints' Day. Many churches will be remembering our beloved ones who have died this weekend. This occasion has gotten me thinking about saints. Who are they, where do we find them, and do they matter in our lives?

The first place I look for saints is in the Bible. We call many characters from the Bible saints, especially those in the New Testament. The four gospel writers (Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John), the twelve apostles, Paul the letter writer and missionary and his companions, and the Marys are all often called saints. All of these were followers of Jesus Christ, many knew him and walked with him around Galilee and to Jerusalem, and they were transformed by their experience with Jesus and then shared this news with other Christ-followers in those first years after Jesus' life, death, and resurrection.

The second place that I look for saints is in Christian history. Traditionally, some people are recognized by their community as having a special, close relationship with God, and having an impact on their community during and after their lives.

Some are "renewers of the church", like Augustine of Hippo or Martin Luther, calling the people of God into better alignment with God's will and the teachings found in the Bible. Some are martyrs, dying for their faith, or missionaries, sharing God's message with people far and near. All were recognized by the people around them as having a deeper than typical relationship with God.

Finally, the third place I look for saints is around me. Part of Martin Luther's teachings at the beginning of the Protestant Reformation, around 500 years ago, is that we are all simultaneously saints and sinners. God's beloved people, the Church, are "simul justus et peccator":

Simul = at the same time
Justus = justified, set in right relationship with God - and this happens by God's action, not our own

Peccator = sinner, falling short of God's will, God's law

We need God's action in our lives, we need the saving grace of Jesus Christ, we need the gifts of the Holy Spirit, for we are not holy by our own actions or will, but through the grace of God. Yet, as imperfect as we are, we are still God's beloved ones, and we can and do make a difference in the lives of those around us.

This weekend, as we observe All Saints' Day, remember your loved ones and others who have shaped your life and helped you grow in faith. Know also that for someone else, you may be a saint, a guide and example of faithful living. We, the people of God, are part of the saints of God. And sometimes without knowing it, we make a difference in someone's life, helping them see the light of Christ shining for them.

This weekend, remember the saints of the Bible, the saints of Christian history, and saints all around us each and every day.

There is no wrong side of the bed.
We get up on the wrong side of our mind.

Thoughts for the Week

by June Schmidt

So the latest brou-ha-ha is regarding the White House renovations. It appears to some that a building that was constructed in 1791 should remain as it is, untouched by human hands in the interest of 'saving history' but if you research it at all, the building has actually gone through several renovations and additions over the years. Each President has had a chance to put their own 'stamp' on the building.

The White House was constructed in 1791 and took 8 years to be constructed, and John Adams was the first to actually reside in it, even though it was still under construction at the time. However it got it's official name in 1798 because of a preventative coat of paint which gave it it's official color to protect it from the elements. There was a misconception during the war of 1812 that it had to be repainted because of the burn marks from the battle, but that is untrue, as recorded in official documents. However, it was actually set on fire by British forces during that war and had to be repaired, which was completed in 1818 at which time it was again opened to the public.

In 1902, Theodore Roosevelt occupied the position of President and he was the proud father of 6 children, so since he needed more room, construction of the West Wing was begun. In 1909, the Oval Office was added by President William Taft.

In 1927, during the Presidency of Calvin Coolidge, a third story was added, which included 18 new guest and service rooms. The roof was also replace at that time. The White House Historical Association notes that the rooftop upgrades included a solarium, or a 'sky parlor' frequently used for therapeutic reasons by the first family.

In 1929, President Herbert Hoover remodeled the West Wing, including reconstruction work in the basement level and remodeling the first floor; after a fire on Christmas Eve, the West Wing was repaired and reopened in 1930.

In 1934, President Franklin D. Roosevelt overhauled the West Wing, added a second floor, a larger basement and a swimming pool, and relocaed the Oval Office to it's current location; in 1942, President Roosevelt constructed the East Wing. He also added a family theatre in the East Wing.

In 1948 through the 1950's, under President Harry Truman, the White House was completely gutted, leaving only the exterior walls behind. When the dust settled, the newly fireproofed building reopened with a 2 story basement and walls reinforced with concrete and 660 tons of steel according to the White House Historical Association.

In 1962, President John F Kennedy constructed the modern Rose Garden. Jacqueline Kennedy's primary work on the White House was a comprehensive restoration of its rooms and furnishings, transforming it into a living museum of American history. She established a committee to raise funds , personally appealed for historic items, and created the first White House guidebook to support the project.

In 1970, President Nixon converted the swimming pool into the press briefing room and in 1973 he added a bowling alley in the basement. He also converted a third-floor bedroom into the White House game room complete with a pool and a ping pong table. A new outdoor pool was constructed by President Gerald Ford to replace the original pool.

Every President since 1952 has had the opportunity to change the White House, some being just modernizations, and some being major construction or reconstruction projects. The latest changes are no different than what has been done before, so personally I am not sure what all the fuss is about. The White House is the house of the people and will remain so long after this administration is no longer there. Personally, I am happy that they have all chosen to maintain one of the symbols of our country in such great condition and that it will also remain open for the people to tour when they are able to visit our Nations Capitol. It is something that every American can be proud of. God Bless you All.

A Little Birdie Told Me.

A Little Birdie
Told Me

By: Vivian Hernandez

A Little Birdie Told Me: "I Have Learned More From Pain Than I Could Have Ever Learned From Pleasure."

The Little Birdie has been under-the-weather for the past month and not with the bird flu. On September 18th I had my knee scoped with significant damage to the meniscus repaired and shaving of the arthritis. The following day I started vomiting and after 2 CAT scans an ultrasound and finally a HIDA scan my gallbladder turned out to be the culprit.

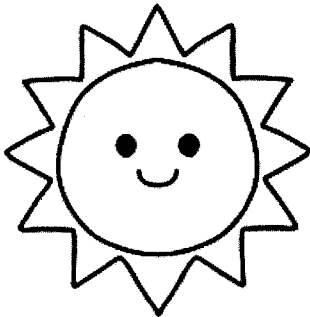

Last Tuesday I had my gallbladder removed and am still in recovery mode. As a weight loss program I wouldn't recommend it. After being on a bland diet of cooked rice cereal, applesauce and Jell-O I am so ready to eat a steak and cheesecake for dessert.

Had to reschedule the carpal tunnel surgery for December 29th, it was scheduled for November 6th but my husband is having total knee replacement done that day! I love my husband but I'm not looking forward to being his nursemaid, so I'll be in need of a few extra prayers for patience!
