Three Blind Mice, see how they run, they all ran after the Farmers Wife, who cut off their tails with a carving knife, have you ever seen such a sight in your life as Three Blind Mice.

Music playing, sheets of paper with above story on paper. Class sat down and Professor said, "today we learn a new song, tomorrow we discuss."

Three Blind Mice - - class sang over and over. Professor Joe said "Now turn over sheet of paper and sing" - - students did. Many remembered - - a few didn't. Professor Joe said, "assignment for tomorrow - know this by heart and memorize for tomorrow, class dismissed."

Comments by students as they walked out the door - - dumb song, what can we learn, may be interesting - - some sang the song, practiced together and some well - you know how it goes - - interesting - - maybe not. anyway - -.

Morning came, some laughing and singing as they entered the classroom, some grumpy face and Professor Joe just smiled at them. Then he began - -.

"Remember, everything we learn can be beneficial or detrimental - - it's what we choose to do with it - - we are all different - - now with technology life is truly on a learning curve -- that's why we are going to take the story of the Three Blind Mice. We must always be opened to hearing, listening, discussing and making a choice. Every story can be tied to something else in life - each story heard will have a different meaning to each person who hears it." And he began - -.

"Three Blind Mice - see how they run. They all run after the farmers wife - - questions -- ." Students just sat and looked at Professor Joe. "My question to you -- if they were blind how could they run after the farmers wife. How did they know who she was or how to run after her if they were blind?" Then he formed three groups of students and asked them to come with an answer.

Much discussion was had - some laughter, some dumb comments - then asked for their answers - -.

One group - - "Just a dumb story - we hear them all the time." Second group - - "Why were they blind, what happened to them?" Third group - "We couldn't figure out how blind mice could chase after the farmers wife - - could they smell - - we laughed at that answer but then we agreed maybe they were pretending they couldn't see - kinda like us - - sometimes we pretend so we don't have to do something or we pretend cuz we don't really know or we pretend so people feel sorry for us"

Next question - - "She cut off their tails with a carving knife?" Again much laughter as they each tossed out funny answers - - then one by one each group gave their answers - - Group one - "Poor mice, bet it hurt - ran back into their hole and cried poor me." Group two - "We'll never chase her again" and Group three - - "Sure glad we have a doctor in our nest and he's in the clinic today and the three mice were taken care of" - -.

Professor Joe's comment - - "As you see - - we are all different, each answer is right, each answer comes from your heart, depending on how you are that day or what you really think. Now take this story to your community - - and ask yourself are we blind to all the gifts we have - the special people, special businesses. Can I make a difference by my thinking - question for you - your thoughts - -. Class dismissed."

"Yesterday, Today, Forever"

Last weekend I had three tasks in mind I wanted to accomplish. One, get rid of all the dead plants, tomatoes, peppers, and flowers, and put away all the flowerpots for the season. Two, rake up all the pinecones on the ground. Three, put away all the decorations around the yard in preparation for the white stuff that is to come. As I write this article, I am two-thirds of the way done. The decorations might have to wait until this weekend.

As I was looking at all the pinecones on the ground after the winds of last week, I thought this would be the last time I would have to rake them up this fall. I then looked up to the top of the pine trees and realized I was wrong. In my mind there should not have been a pinecone left on the trees, but lo and behold the tops are still full of pinecones. I guess I might be doing some more raking.

As I began raking up the pinecones, as I have done on a number of occasions this year, I thought how different and yet how same the process is. I first raked up pinecones in the spring of the year, and then in the summer of the year, and now I am raking them again in the fall of the year. The only season I hope not to be raking pinecones is this winter, but if we do not get snow, I just might be raking them again.

So, you might be thinking, where is he going with this? The answer is Ecclesiastes 3:1, "For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven." I thought about this verse as I raked up pinecones during this third season of this year. While the author does state there is, "a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted" my thoughts turned to there is, "a time to rake up that which is blown down." This thought will not make it into scripture, but it spoke to me each time I have raked up the never-ending abundance of pinecones that have fallen to the ground, so far, in three seasons of the year. I am not holding my breath for when winter comes.

One of the beauties of living in North Dakota is that we have four seasons of the year, or somewhere near that. It depends on the year, but we have gone from winter to spring and to summer in a matter of what seems to be only a few days. We can go from summer to winter, and sometimes bypass fall all together. As much as we look forward to all four seasons of the year, sometimes the seasons do not follow the normal pattern that we want them to. As much as we want them to be constant, sometimes that is not the case, and the seasons are what they are.

So, with the verse from Ecclesiastes still in my mind I thought about what is one constant that is a part of our lives. It definitely is not the seasons of the year as I have mentioned, so is there one constant in our lives? Yes, there is, and we know this again through the words of scripture.

We read in Hebrews 13:8, "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever."

Jesus the Christ is the one constant in our lives. We live each day of our lives in the presence of Jesus. When we have a good day, Jesus is with us. When we have a bad day, Jesus is with us. When we have a normal day, an average day, a blah kind of day, Jesus is with us. We are never alone—and that is good news to hear. In all the days, in all the seasons of the year Jesus is with us because, "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever." And what we have to remember is that this is true no matter what kind a day we are having.

This is the good news of the gospel. Jesus is always with us. Jesus died and rose to fulfill God's promise of eternal life for all who believe in Jesus. Jesus is with us every day of the year, every season of the year, every moment of our lives until the day when Jesus will come again to take us home to be with him.

Murder on the Yellowstone Trail held in Lemmon,SD

A very special treat was in store for anyone that attended "Murder on the Yellowstone Trail" written and directed by Paul Warshauer

The two performances were at the Kokomo Inn and we were served an excellent dinner of prime rib, mashed potatoes, carrots and dessert. Both shows featured local talent Dacia Hilkemeier, the Mayor, Michael Van Beek, Ryna Coyle, Charlotte Kvale, Dorothy Carlson, Jill Anderson and John Lopez. These were interactive shows and each table was given a sheet of paper with questions and who committed the murder. It was so entertaining to have such a subperf performance in our town. We are hoping that this will become an annual event.

Reflections on the Words of Life

By Pastor Paul Ferrie, Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

We come today to the second decision which King Darius made after the Lord delivered Daniel from the mouths of the lions. Last week we saw that he removed Daniel from the lions' den. Now we read in Daniel 6:24, "And the king gave the command, and they brought those men who had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions--them, their children, and their wives; and the lions overpowered them, and broke all their bones in pieces before they ever came to the bottom of the den." The scene described here was a most gruesome one. The gods of Daniel's accusers were powerless to help them. Their horrifying death illustrates what is stated in Psalm 7:14-16: "Behold, the wicked brings forth iniquity; yes, he conceives trouble and brings forth falsehood. He made a pit and dug it out, and has fallen into the ditch which he made. His trouble shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down on his own crown." The same principle is stated in Proverbs 5:22: "His own iniquities entrap the wicked man, and he is caught in the cords of his sin." We read a similar statement in the New Testament: "Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap" (Galatians 6:7).

Next time, Lord willing, we shall consider the third and final decision of Darius. But I'd like to elaborate a bit on the principle noted above--namely, that the plots of the wicked will eventually entrap them. God is absolutely holy, and He cannot violate that holiness by overlooking sin. Sometimes His punishment for sin at least partially occurs in this life, but sometimes it seems that the wicked go through life happily and carefree. Men have struggled with this seeming injustice for centuries. In Psalm 37 we read, "Do not fret because of evildoers, nor be envious of the workers of iniquity.... Do not fret because of him who prospers in his way, because of the man who brings wicked schemes to pass" (verses 1a and 7b). The same Psalm explains why the righteous should not fret when evil seems to prevail: "For evildoers shall be cut off.... For the arms of the wicked shall be broken.... But the wicked shall perish; and the enemies of the Lord, like the splendor of the meadows, shall vanish. Into smoke they shall vanish away" (verses 9a, 17a, 20). You see, though God might not bring obvious judgment to the wicked in this life, those who persist in their sinful courses without repentance will certainly be sent to eternal punishment at the final judgment.

Friends, we who are believers in Christ should of all people on this earth be the most thankful because God has extended grace to us. God's Word is clear that every one of us deserves His judgment in hell. Romans 3 tells us, "There is none righteous, no not one.... For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (verses 10b, 23). But the good news is that Jesus Christ has taken the punishment for the sins of all His people, the punishment that we deserve. So we do not have to fear being condemned to spend eternity in hell at the final judgment. This does not mean that believers are necessarily free from the consequences of sin in this life. For example, the person who has indulged in drunkenness might experience great suffering from cirrhosis of the liver. But if that person has repented and placed his or her trust in the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation, he can look forward to spending eternity in heaven with Jesus. For, "There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8:1). All sin must be paid for--either by the sinner or by Jesus. Please be sure that you are trusting in Christ alone as your sin-bearer.

Mott Volunteer Fire Department held Open House as part of Fire Prevention Week

The Mott Volunteer Fire Department hosted an open house on Wednesday, October 12th to celebrate Fire Prevention Week. A free evening meal and an opportunity to bring fire extinguishers in to be inspected, as well as purchase a new extinguisher if needed, was the agenda. Several fire prevention items were given to community members as part of a free drawing. Fire Chief Brian Manolovits, of the Mott Volunteer Fire Department, said "It gets the message out there and gets people thinking about fire safety." This year, the department hosted an open house, as well as visited the Mott-Regent elementary school to discuss fire safety. "We're going to talk to kids about making escape plans and then practicing them," he said. However, the week goes beyond teaching children. "Everyone needs to be prepared in advance so they know what to do when the smoke alarm sounds." Comments Manolovits. This year, Fire Prevention Week turns 100 years old. The annual event, held in remembrance of one of the worst fires in American history, is designed to inform people about fire prevention and how to survive a fire. It is held during the week of Oct. 9 in remembrance of the Great Chicago Fire, which ignited Oct. 8, 1871. The blaze burned more than 2,000 acres and destroyed more than 17,400 structures, according to the protection week website. The fire killed more than 250 people.

Cory Van Boynton Rites To Be Held

Corey Van Boynton age 35 of Lemmon SD, passed away

unexpectedly into his Heavenly Father's Arms on October 13th, 2022.

Corey was born on May 20th, 1987 to Mark and Roslyn Boynton. He grew up in South Dakota and later attended school in North Dakota. As a child, he had a lovable but wild spirit, he loved climbing walls and was referred to as magic feet by his dad. He loved to wear all kinds of cool and unusual hats for outings and couldn't go a day without Winnie the Pooh. As he grew older, he longed to be a teenage mutant ninja turtle and would often be seen practicing his ninja moves with his wooden swords. His wonderful smile, as well as his comedic attitude was sure to brighten any room. He was a jokester and loved to play pranks with his family. He also had a competitive spirit, which was evident in the numerous hours he spent playing basketball, baseball, wrestling, and video games.

In his early 20s, Corey had the opportunity to return to SD to be the caretaker for his grandpa Van, as he battled ALS.

His decision to do so displayed just how selfless and loving he was. After his grandpa's death, he remained in SD on the family farm, raising sheep and cattle alongside his dad, until his passing.

As an adult, he enjoyed fishing and spending time with his family and his cat, Guppy. He was a self taught musician and learned to play the guitar, as well as the violin. He loved to cook and smoke meats, and enjoyed sharing his delicious meals with others. He was a dedicated Vikings fan and wouldn't miss a chance to discuss world events and politics. He was also very proud of his Dodge Rebel truck and loved to hot rod on the dirt roads.

He was a devoted son, brother, "fun-cle", and grandson, never missing his weekly meal with his mom and grandma, or an opportunity to entertain his nieces and nephews. He had a heart of gold and always looked for the best in everyone. He was always willing to help the less fortunate and took the time to make everyone feel loved and accepted, especially those who were bullied or left out.

The world was so much more beautiful with him in it. His smile, his laugh and his beautiful soul will be missed greatly. And though his life here on earth was brief, his memory will last through eternity. Rest easy and fly high Corey. Your work here on earth is done, you are now a mighty warrior in God's Heavenly Kingdom.

We will see you soon.

In lieu of flower donations, family will be accepting donations for suicide prevention. Corey's family will be establishing a suicide prevention program locally in memory of him and all of other families who have been affected by suicide within his community.

Corey is survived by his mother Roslyn Ward; father Mark (Kathy) Boynton of Lemmon SD; brother Jeff (Nichole), nephew (Jace) and niece (Ava) of Bowman ND; sister Jennifer (Lucas), niece (Aria) and nephew (Blake) Bormemann of Bismarck, ND; step-sister, Kim (Nathan), nephews, Connor and Ethan of Dickinson, ND, sister Courtney Boynton (Joe), nephew (River), nieces (Freya) and (Mira) Tibor, sister Brittney Ullman and nephew (Sawyer) all from Bismarck, ND; step-family Kris Ullman of Bismarck, Kayla (Mark) Bren and children Chase, Sy, and Natalie, from Dickinson, ND. His uncles, David Boynton (Oregon), Larry Boynton (Wyoming), his aunt, Donna (Denny) Newman (Iowa), uncle Rick (Nita) Boynton (Montana), and uncle Lynn Boynton (North Dakota), His grandmother Jeanette Ward of Lemmon SD; his Aunt Ronda Ward, and children (Aubrey, Stephen and Portia), as well as numerous other cousins and great cousins.

He is preceded in death by his paternal grandparents, Van and Rose Boynton, maternal grandfather, Joseph E. Ward, maternal uncle, Joel E. Ward, and his step-brother, Dusty Ullman.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday October 23rd at 2:00pm at New Hope Worship Center with burial following at the Greenhill Cemetery in Lemmon SD.

Condolences may be sent through our website at www.evansonjensenfuneralhome.com.

William Dietrich (Bill) Stockman Rites To Be Held

William Dietrich ("Bill") Stockman, 97, passed away peacefully of natural causes on August 23, 2022 in Georgetown, TX.

Memorial services will be held at 2:00 pm (mt) on Saturday, October 22, 2022 at the Centennial Chapel (the "Chapel"), 700 2nd Avenue South, Hettinger, North Dakota. Burial will be in the family plot at the Hettinger, ND Cemetery immediately following the service. After the burial a lunch will be served at the Chapel.

Bill was born on October 31, 1924 in Alamo, North Dakota to George and Winnifred Stockman. He was the second of three children. He spent his early years in Alamo with his parents, his two siblings and an extended group of Stockman relatives. He attended grade school in Alamo until the family moved to Fargo, North Dakota. There he continued school and graduated from Fargo Central High. At Fargo Central he was on the hockey team that won the state championship. His dedication and love for skating earned him the nickname "Sailor". He attended North Dakota State University his freshman year and then enlisted in the Army. His unit was scheduled to go overseas when the war ended. When he returned to civilian life, he continued his education at the University of Minnesota where he received a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering.

After graduating from the U of M, he joined the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (the "Corp") where he worked for most of his career. During his career with the Corp he worked on improving waterways, designing and constructing dams and the minuteman missile sites along the US-Canadian border. For his first assignment with the Corp, he was first sent to the Bismarck, ND office to work on the design and construction of the Garrison Dam (a large earthen dam on the Missouri River north of Bismarck). He later worked at the Omaha, Philadelphia, Washington, DC and New York offices. While in Washington, DC he received his master's degree in Civil Engineering from Catholic University of America.

While in Bismarck he met Elizabeth (Betty) Thorson. They were married on November 12, 1950. They have three children, Linda Carol Stockman, Mark William Stockman and Jane Lynette Stockman, and three grandchildren, Lindsey Stockman Wagner, Samantha J Stockman, and Sophie Stockman. Family was a top priority for Bill. He was very proud of his family and loved them very much. Loyalty was also a top priority for Bill and he was always there for his family and friends. This brought Bill great joy and satisfaction.

Bill loved to build things, manage his finances and farm. Bill was a master carpenter and possessed a wide range of mechanical skills (including work on automobiles, HVAC systems, plumbing, wiring etc). Bill was an astute and careful investor. He learned the craft from his father and honed his skills over the years to expand the family's success. Bill owned a farm with his father near Alamo, ND. No matter where the family lived, he would typically use a portion of his vacation time each spring to help his father put in the crop at the farm. After Bill retired, he and Betty moved back to North Dakota and he farmed for many years (several with his father). When not farming, he and Betty enjoyed getting together with family and traveling. After Bill retired from farming, he and Betty moved to Bismarck, ND to be close to their son's family. Later he and Betty built a home in Sun City, near Georgetown, Texas. This eventually allowed them to spend winters there with their two daughters and granddaughter.

Bill was a wonderful husband, father and grandfather. His family loved him and will miss him very much.

Bill is survived by: his wife of 72 years - Elizabeth A Stockman; his three children- daughters Linda C Stockman and Jane L Stockman of Georgetown, Texas and son Mark W Stockman of Bismarck, North Dakota; and his three granddaughters- Lindsey Stockman Wagner of Irvine, California, Samantha J Stockman of New York, New York, and Sophie Y

Stockman of Georgetown, Texas.

Bill was preceded in death by: his parents- George and Winnifred Stockman, formerly of Fargo, North Dakota; and two siblings- Jacque Stockman, formerly of Fargo, North Dakota, and Jean Stockman Good, formerly of Darien, Connecticut.

Flowers and similar memorials are suggested to Evanston-Jensen Funeral Home, 902 4th Avenue South, Hettinger, North Dakota 58639. Any other memorials are suggested to the Alzheimer's Association in remembrance of Bill. What Would I Tell Her?

This summer I attended a Family Reunion which is held every five years. Upon returning home I dug through some of my memorabilia and did reminiscing. I found a close up picture of me when I was about 4 years old I looked at those bright eyes and smiling face and the thought came to me, "What would I want to tell that little girl?" Upon pondering the answer this is what this elderly woman who has experienced "life" would tell her.

- You have been "fearfully and wonderfully made" by God.

- You were created to have a personal relationship with God and with His Son Jesus Christ. You will feel empty and that there is "something more" until that takes place. Open the door of your heart and surrender your life to Him. The sooner the better!

- God loves you! Jesus loves you! "For God so loved the world that He gave His only Begotten Son that whosoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." Be that "whosoever" who believes. It will change your life for the good forever!

- You are a sinner. You need a Savior! Jesus is that Savior! God made Him who knew no sin to be made sin for us that we might become the righteousness of God in Him."

- "If you confess your sins, God is faithful and just to forgive you your sins and to cleanse you of all unrighteousness." The good news is that the blood of Jesus Christ covers your sins - they are no more! He takes your guilt and shame away! They are buried forever! Life is fragile and is uncertain. You will experience pain and sorrow. Know that with Jesus you will never go it alone! He will always be with you to lead and to guide. Jesus is the one who will comfort you in all circumstances.

- Life is made up of choices.

Choices have consequences so choose wisely with God's help. When you "mess up" and you will, remember that God can forgive you of anything if you are truly sorry and repent of your sin.

I would also tell that little girl that

- You "can do all things through Christ who strengthens you."

- You have a purpose! God "has a plan for your life, for good and not for evil, to give you a hope and a future."

- You have an eternal destiny! It is either heaven or hell. "And this is the testimony, that God has given us eternal life and this life is in His Son. He who has the Son has life, he who does not have the Son of God does not have life." If you don't have the Son of God in your life, just confess your sins and invite Jesus into your life. Then begin reading God's wonderful word, the bible.

- You will find that God is so good, no matter what happens. He is faithful. He is loving and compassionate. He is merciful. He desires that no one perishes. Praise God!

This is what I would tell that little girl, but, actually, these are truths that have been revealed to that little girl as she has traveled "life's journey."

A Little Birdie Told Me

By: Vivian Hernandez

A Little Birdie Told Me: "Halloween is Looming & The "School of Terror" is Waiting for You My Pretty!" Gary Greff of the Enchanted Castle and his band of ghouls have outdone themselves getting the old Regent School haunted with witches, ax murderers, clowns, dolls and other fiendish characters. Every room has a theme and you never know what or who's lurking around the next turn: A new addition is the vortex, constructed by Gary and his crew.

Being the ultimate scary cat myself I toured the School of Terror in broad daylight! My motto is "I'd rather be a live chicken than a dead duck."

The School of Terror will be open October 21, 22, 28 & 29 from 6-10 pm. Admission is $15 anyone under 12 must be accompanied by an adult - not this adult! Gary plans to have the School of Terror open year round so tourists have another activity when visiting the area. The School of Terror would be a great place for a birthday party.

Recently Gary and the Enchanted Highway received a surprise and great honor: The Stark County Sheriff's Department selected the deer on the Enchanted Highway for their Stark County Sheriff's Shoulder Patch. Lt. Eldon Mehrer of the Stark County Sheriff's Department explained the trend started around the country to update patches with new technology, detail and color. The new patch had to depict something relevant to Stark County: Sergeant John Hiltunen submitted the winning design.

A new addition to Regent is the Black Butte Café, owned by Christina Geerts. It has been a dream come true for Christina's to run her own Café. The Regent Development Corp. was eager to help and found the perfect location for her to rent. The American Legion Hall on Main St. was available and the kitchen was just waiting for a cook. Christina offers breakfast, a lunch special, sack breakfasts and lunches are available for large groups. A meeting room is available to rent and Christina is happy to cater for meetings and other events.

When I stopped in there was a large group enjoying what they said was "The best food in the county!" The little Indians agreed.

On display at the Café is a huge pumpkin grown locally by Lynn Waddell. Also for sale at the Café are homemade plaques, mugs and wood items by a local vendor.

If you have trouble finding the café just look for the military tank parked in front of the American Legion Hall. Black Butte Café is open Monday, Tuesday, Friday & Saturday 6:00 am - 1:00 pm; Sunday Buffet from 8:00 am - 1:00 pm. Groups of 5 or more are asked to call ahead, 701-563-4871.

A New North Dakota Film is Set to Premiere Across the State Starting this Month

BISMARCK, ND — Sanctified is a western film set in the late 1800s. It tells the story of an outlaw who is rescued from death by a nun traveling through the North Dakota Badlands. She nurses him back to health in exchange for him guiding her to a church in Williston. A deep friendship develops between these two unlikely people as they learn to work together to survive their dangerous journey.

Sanctified was shot in the Badlands of North Dakota in May of 2021 and was produced by local production companies Canticle Productions and DN Cinematics along with Minnesota production company Headwaters Entertainment.

Additional showings are scheduled thereafter throughout North Dakota with locations, dates, and times also listed on their website. These one-night, red carpet showing events also feature cast and crew Q&A, available Sanctified merchandise, and a behind-the-scenes look at the making of the North Dakota film.

"It was a long journey to bring Sanctified to the big screen," says the film's producer, Dan Bielinski, and who is also program chair of Dramatic Arts at the University of Mary. "It began with a successful kick-starter campaign back in early 2020, and then our production was postponed due to COVID. Finally, we were able to put together a fabulous team and shoot the film in May of 2021. It's a very beautiful, exciting, and action-packed story, and we were fortunate to have some wonderfully talented artists on the team. The film is also a fantastic showcase of North Dakota scenery."

Bielinski says it was a priority for the production to use mostly local talent. Dean Bellin, technical director of theater at Bismarck State College, is the production designer for the film. Michele Renner, of Capitol Shakespeare, is the costume designer. Several students from the University of Mary serve in various roles both on and off-screen.

Previous work from Canticle Productions and DN Cinematics includes A Heart Like Water which premiered in theaters across North Dakota in December 2021 and is now available for streaming at AHeartLikeWater.com.

Change

By Kathy Craigo-Harteis

The leaves are changing and the air is crisp. Fall is here in North Dakota.

It's my favorite time of year. I like the cozy feeling of it all. I also like winter clothes better than summer ones but that's a chubby girl thing.

This week we will gather to officially welcome Sami into the Craigo Clan. She and son Vai were married in September. We are so happy she, Gage, Aubree and Bodhi are a part of us.

It's basketball season for grandson Kohen. His team is doing great and they are fun to watch. I hope they continue to play together through high school. They have the potential of a powerhouse team.

Halloween is almost here. There's pumpkins around so it must be time to start prepping them for Thanksgiving pie. I'm not a fan of anything pumpkin but I do make a pretty good pie.

They are especially good when you start with fresh cooked pumpkin in place of the canned stuff. You can find directions at www.cooklikema.com. Just scroll down to search line on the first page and type in pumpkin pie. The recipe should come up. We've been eating low carb, low sugar so the holiday season will be a challenge for us. I admit that while in Scotland we ate our fair share of 'lovely cake' but I've done better since being home. I've met my first weight loss goal and now I'm working on the second. Sadly most holidays revolve around food. It's going to be tough.

The key is to keep moving. I'm walking everyday. I'm not anywhere near the number of steps we took sightseeing but I'm moving.

All is good. Fall is here and I'm happy.
Life is good today.

Thoughts for the Week

by June Schmidt

Funny thing about getting older is how many memories that you have. Some great, some good and others that are like an old outfit you don't want to take out very often. It is surprising what things bring out a memory and what you actually remember over the years. It is said that several people can see an event and no two will remember the event the same. Its true with memories as well I think. We all see things just a little differently, which is not a bad thing and may be why we are the people that we are in this world.

Some of our best memories that last the longest even with people who start to have memory problems are the ones of being little and loved - the secure feeling of knowing that your parents are there for you. Times spent with parents no matter what they were doing, as long as you could be there with them are always good times to remember. Playing games, coloring, listening to their stories of when they grew up, these are things that don't cost money but can be the best memories of all. Surprisingly enough I don't think that today's parents really think about how much that really means to a little child. It's hard in today's world when parents are often both working a job to take the time to be with them. They appear to forget that it's not that you have to spend a whole day with them, but just letting them help with a chore or sitting down and reading just one more story and then one more after that means more than anything else to a little one. And hugs, yes the hugs are never a bad thing. If you come from a family that hugs each other and says the words I Love You on a regular basis, great, but if you don't, please remember that those 3 little words are everything to your child. And it doesn't matter how old that child is, they still need to hear those words every once in a while. It's often what keeps us going in our lives and what helps us to get through the troubled times that we all go through.

And yes, memories are what keeps a family together. So much is lost when family no longer has parents or grandparents that are alive as they were much of the driving force of getting together. Then it becomes harder to gather together as they have lives with their children and friends and may live farther away than they used to. The effort and cost often means that family sees each other less and less and pretty soon it becomes only once a year, and maybe not even that much. Sure we can call and skype and facetime, but its not the same as sitting down in a room all together and sharing those childhood memories and experiences. Like I said, since we may share the experience we may not have the exact same memory, so it can be quite a revelation to hear the other side of the story once in a while.

So the point of this is to make memories. Hopefully you will make more good memories than have bad ones that you can bring out in later years to look at and talk about with your family. Like the little accidents that happened when nobody was looking or the fun of slumber parties with brothers and sisters and cousins. The picnics that were last minute with the peanut butter and crackers or the oreos and milk right before bed that you had with Mom or Dad. So many little things that can be done with just a little time and will be remembered forever as something special. You all know what I am talking about, so think back to what you remember as special and make those memories with your family before it's too late. One day you will open your box of memories and I wonder what you will find in there. Something truly special I hope. God Bless you all.

Wordsmith

In Spanish sombra is shade as in 'shade tree.' Spanish, Italian, French and Portuguese are called 'Romance languages' and many words are similar. It doesn't have anything to do with the play, Romeo and Juliet, that took place in a play in Verona, Italy. In Italian the word is (s) umbra; hence cometh the word umbrella. Back to the Spanish: 'del sol o de la luz' is a lamp shade. An artist has a tube of umber (dark brown) in his painting supplies. Because it means 'shade' many plants with large leaves are preceded by umbrella; umbrella plant and umbrella tree. In French it is ombretta (o) However, if you have dealings with a man with a 'shady past', you may loose your shirt. He is a sombro hombre and it is the same in Portuguese.

Relatively speaking, in Spanish, if you are sleepy, the word is somnolento. Most people sleep in the dark with their eyes closed. Some people drive with their eyes closed. I guess that's why one definition of 'closed' in Spanish is cerrarse and means to terminate.

Have you ever been to the airport east of Denver? Airport is a misnomer. It should be called Airport City. When you are driving in, there are great huge signs that direct you to the part of the airport where you want to go. The first one is TERMINAL....

that is the end of the line. The next sign says, DEPARTURE. It sounds like the title to an Errol Stanly Gardener mystery. TERMINAL DEPARTURE.

The character (not the heroine) is a paid assassin. He lures his victims to a very busy airport where he terminates them in such a way that they die on the plane somewhere between Miami and Lisbon. He's getting richer and richer. The heroine is a female security agent who works for the airport. She accidentally figures this out and sets out to catch him. But who is he among all the passengers waiting in the terminal? He knows he's been found out but he has one more job that will set him up on some tropical island with a pina collada and a dozen beautiful women. His mark is in the waiting area with a thousand other people, reading and drinking a Diet Coke. The 'hit man' drops a cyanide capsule in his Coke can. The heroin sees this and tries to arrest him, but there are so many people heading for their plane that he gets away. Now she knows who he is so he gets on the next outgoing plane with the rest of the passengers and flies away. The plane crashes in the Bermuda Triangle. No survivors.

The 'mark' throws the Coke can in the trash without finishing it and walks away. TERMINAL DEPARTURE.

NO ONE HAS EVER BECOME POOR BY GIVING
