“Potato Family” I raised in my garden this year. :-)

Farm yard animals Celebration Day - - each and every year Farmer Jones puts on a Celebration Day for his farm animals. Visitors, especially young children come from miles around to see the animals - feed them - play with them - pet them - ride the ponies - sheep - its quite a celebration.

And of course the animals get plenty of food - lots of love and they wait with anticipation for next year.

Best of all is Farmer Jones loves his animals and this year he decided - - because they are so good with the children - well he thought maybe they would like a TV - - winter coming and they would be cooped up in the barn - - so electrician was called - - TV installed - huge one so everyone could see it.

Animals - - they were excited especially knowing winter was coming - would be cold - and when the first picture came on - you know it - everyone wanted to be inside.

Knowing it was only fall and not cold yet Farmer Jones allowed the animals to watch the TV - - He just smiled when he heard the sheep - cows - kittens - dogs - - it was like they were saying thank you.

In the area there lived a wise old Owl - whose job was just to travel from farm yard to farm yard - survey all the animals in that part of the kingdom - -

He did have to admit that the animals in Mr. Jones farmyard were probably the best fed - best living barns and now - the TV idea really impressed him.

So happily every week, he too would sit on a branch and watch a few sights - then off he would fly and check out the other farmyards - making sure everything was okay.

One day as Mr. Owl was about to do his tour of the farm yards, he heard a terrible ruckus - louder and louder - until he almost toppled the tree over - better check this out - so up into the air he flew - high enough to see - it was coming from Mr. Jones farmyard.

Hurriedly he flew right down in the middle of the ruckus and questioned- “What’s the problem?” And much to his surprise - the problem was the TV - Mrs. Cat had seen a commercial about better cat food - wondering why would Mr. Jones not give her the best food - then Mr. Dog watched a commercial and they have food for dogs with more energy - and the list went on and on - about better food - has Mr. Jones just given us plain old food. - When he could have done better.

What an uproar - the barnyard was boiling - each animal had seen something that would make life better - no more did they want to be nice to the children on Celebration Day - unless they had better food.

Problem - Mr. Owl was overtaken by the complaining - it just got louder and louder - he sat in his tree - looked around and tried to figure out how to solve the problem - came up with a few questions.

Flew down - sat amongst the animals and began - where do you live - answer - Farmer Jones farm - who feeds you every day - answer Farmer Jones - who helps you when in pain - answer - Farmer Jones - list of questions continued and always same answer - Farmer Jones.

Upon listening to all good things Farmer Jones did - finally the animals decided - -

Instead of looking at what we don’t have maybe we should thank the farmers/ranchers, businesses, professionals, workers, people for all we do have.

You never know who is going to show up at the Enchanted Highway Gift Shop! Wendy Schmidt the manager of the Gift Shop had a special visitor, the one and only "Mr. Peanut". I don't know how much ice cream he ate, but I know he had peanuts with his ice cream. Peanuts with your ice cream may be one of the specials on the menu next summer.

The Gift Shop's last day to be open was this past Sunday September 27th. It turned out to be a very positive tourist season and we look forward to next summer. The Enchanted Highway Foundation Board will start planning the off-season activities and the improvements to be made at each of the metal sculpture sites next Spring.

The extremely sad end of Clancy Delancy

Clancy Delancy loved a sweet girl
With all his heart, all his soul and his liver.
Clancy Delancy and the girl he loved Went for a walk by the river.

He asked her a question; she quickly replied:
"Will I marry you Clancy? No niver!
And she walked away and left him there
With his shattered dreams by the river.

Clancy Delancy sat down on the shore.
By mischance he sat down on a sliver.
And they never saw Clancy Delancy again
For he bled out alone by the river.

A lot of good could be accomplished in this world if nobody cared who got the credit.

If I had a dollar for each person who lives in North Dakota who has asked me this summer about Ballot Measure 1 coming up in just over 4 weeks, I might be able to afford to go to another Chief's game this year—just kidding...I tried that a couple of years ago and, I think just about got it paid off now. Anyway, what exactly is Ballot Measure Number 1? Last year, the ND House (NOT the voters) passed Resolution 3003 which means that elected officials (not the voters) are seeking to change how us voters amend our constitution AND, how many votes it takes to pass/override one of the legislature's enactments to put an amendment on the ballot. Essentially, right now, since 1889, it takes 50.0000000000...1% (a simple majority) of the votes cast in an election to either change the ND Constitution or, repel an unpopular bill to do so and, these guys want to change it to at least 60%. That's it. Not complicated. But...hang about, is that really necessary you have asked? And, what exactly are the elected officials seeking to change? That's what folks keep asking about this thing.

All I can say is that Article III, Section 9 of our constitution says (right now) that for the VOTERS to start the process of amending our state constitution (first written in 1889 and, then, amended for the 1st time in 1894), we need to change that process by voting "YES" on this new "amendment"—Ballot Measure #1 and, increase the number of votes upward 20%. The idea has historically been to update our government as society, technology, and the state's needs have changed. North Dakota's Constitution has been amended more frequently than the federal because our state Constitution contains may detailed rules about how the state is run and, therefore, change comes by amendment NOT by passing a new law. So, in regards to amending our constitution, this new ballot measure dramatically changes Article III, Section 9's, Powers of the People's, amendment process by increasing the required vote from 50-60% (a 20% increase) of the number of "YES" votes in the future to change things. Simple math.

Ballot Measure #1 also affects Article IV, Section 16 of the state constitution which seeks to control how the LEGISLATURE proposes amendments to the document when a "roll call by a MAJORITY (50.0000000000...1%) of our elected officials decide to ask the voters to amend the state constitution but, requires 60+% of us to actually do that. The principles are identical. So, again, folks are asking, is this a good idea? The guys pushing a "YES" vote on this amendment claim that...well I'm not really sure what they claim but, the important thing to remember is the language of Article III, Section 9 states, the "Powers of the People" NOT the powers of special interest. So, I can't say how I'm going to vote but, substantial change needs to be justified in my humble opinion. In sum, if you want to decrease the "power" of the voters, you vote "Yes" on this thing. If you want to maintain the status quo, you vote "No." Easy peasy, lemon squeezy, as they say. I hope this answers your questions and, we can move on to NFL football...or not.

WHAT IS HUMAN TRAFFICKING?

Human trafficking is the exploitation of a person for the purpose of compelled labor or a commercial sex act through the use of force, fraud, or coercion.

Human trafficking does not discriminate - anyone can be a victim.

Information from Sheriff Sarah D. Warner

Due to the recent incident in Mott, that the Hettinger County Sheriff's has been investigating concerning Trafficking, I have been asked what do citizens need to know about trafficking and what are signs that citizens can look for if someone is being trafficked.

As we have seen, trafficking can happen in communities of all sizes. Trafficking doesn't always look like a person being forcibly taken or held captive. In many cases, traffickers use manipulation, threats, gifts, money or emotional relationships to control a person.

Dealing specifically with child trafficking, citizens can play an important role by knowing what to look for when a child is being trafficked. Paying attention to changes in a child's behavior, and reporting concerns to law enforcement.

Child trafficking involves the exploitation of a person under 18 for purposes such as commercial sex or forced labor. A child does not have to be physically restrained or transported across a border for trafficking to occur.

Traffickers may be someone the child knows, including an acquaintance, romantic partner, family member, or another trusted adult.

WARNING SIGNS CITIZENS MAY NOTICE

One sign by itself does not necessarily mean a child is being trafficked. However, several concerning signs together may warrant attention.

A child who is being exploited may become unusually withdrawn, fearful, anxious or secretive. A child may suddenly become disconnected from family and friends. They may appear to become unusually fearful of a particular person. They may also, stop participating in activities they previously enjoyed. A child may show signs of depression, stress, or exhaustion. They may become reluctant to talk about where they have been or who they have been with.

Be aware of sudden changes in a child's possessions or finances, particularly when there is no reasonable explanation.

Examples may include; Expensive clothing, jewelry, electronics, or other items. Large amounts of cash, hotel rooms, transportation, or other expenses being paid by an older person. Also, new possessions that the child seems uncomfortable explaining.

Be aware of an unusual relationship with an older person. A concern may arise when an adult or significantly older individual appears to have an unusually controlling or secretive relationship with a child. Pay attention if the older person controls where the child goes or whom they see. Speaks for the child constantly. Controls the child's phone, identification, money, or transportation. If the older person becomes angry when the child speaks independently or attempts to isolate the child from family or friends.

A trafficked child may be under someone else's control if they show signs that they seem afraid to leave or speak freely, the child doesn't know where they are staying, they do not have control over their identification or personal belongings, is constantly monitored by another person, appeared to be coached about what to say or seems frightened about what will happen if they disobey someone.

Many times, our youth meet people online that they don't know. Traffickers are increasingly using social media, messaging apps, such as WhatsApp and Snap Chat, gaming platforms, such as Minecraft, Roblox, and Fortnite, and other online services to contact and manipulate young people. Parents and other adults should be alert to sudden secretive online relationships, an older person communicating privately with a child, requests for private and inappropriate photos. Offering money, gifts, modeling opportunities, jobs, travel, or relationships. A child suddenly communicating with people they refuse to identify, social media accounts or online activity that appear inconsistent with the child's normal behavior.

Watch for warning signs of physical indicators that may include, unexplained injuries, signs of physical abuse, poor hygiene or inadequate clothing, lack of adequate food or sleep, untreated medical needs or signs that the child is being neglected or deprived. These signs can have many explanations and they should be viewed as reasons to pay attention, not as proof of trafficking.

If you believe a child may be in immediate danger, call 911 or contact your local law enforcement agency.

If the situation does not appear to be an immediate emergency, you can report your concerns to local law enforcement or a child protection agency. When making a report, provide factual information, such as where you saw the child, when you saw the child, what you observed, names or descriptions of people involved, if known. The vehicle description and/or license plate information, if safely obtained. Any statements the child made that causes concern or any other specific observations.

Citizens should not confront, follow, threaten, or attempt to rescue a suspected trafficker or child themselves. Doing so could increase the danger to the child or to the person making the report. Instead, document what you safely observed and contact law enforcement.

Most importantly, don't ignore your concern. You do not have to be certain that trafficking is occurring before reporting a legitimate concern. The Hettinger County Sheriff's Office or law enforcement in your area are trained to evaluate information and determine what action is appropriate.

A citizen's observation may provide an important piece of information that helps protect a child.

Every child deserves to be safe, protected and free from exploitation.

KNOW THE SIGNS. TRUST YOUR INSTINCTS. DO NOT INVESTIGATE IT YOURSELF. REPORT IT.

If anyone has any questions, contact your local law enforcement agency.

NORTH DAKOTA STATE REVENUE SOURCES

A report that was released last week of August 2026 by the American Experiment North Dakota stated that North Dakota is a high spending state that relies too heavily on oil and gas taxes. The article stated that oil and gas tax revenue makeup 41% of total state and local taxes. The 41% was true back in 2021-23 biennium however, it has been

SOURCE OF REVENUE	AMOUNT	PERCENT
Sales, Use & Motor Vehicle Taxes	$2,719.0 Million	20.0%
Individual Income Tax	$ 894.0 Million	6.6%
Corporate Income Tax	$ 515.0 Million	3.8%
Tobacco, Liquor & Gaming	$ 105.0 Million	0.8%
Insurance Tax	$ 113.4 Million	0.9%
Dept. Collections & Interest	$ 238.7 Million	1.8%
State Bank, Mill & Lottery	$ 170.0 Million	1.2%
Oil and Gas Tax & Mineral Lease	$3,966.0 Million	29.2%
Highway Fuel Tax	$ 605.4 Million	4.4%
Legacy Fund Earnings	$ 688.0 Million	5.1%
Common Schools Trust Earnings	$ 586.0 Million	4.3%
Fees & Lic. State Agencies	$ 556.3 Million	4.1%
Fees & Tuition Higher Education	$2,408.0 Million	17.7%
Total Revenue for 2025-27	$13,612.8 Million	100%

Fact #1: As of September 2026 (Current) estimates above are right on except the General Fund Revenues are $42.0 million under forecast, but the Oil and Gas Revenues are $350.0 million over forecast. The conflict with Iran is the main reason for the $350.0 million over forecast for Oil and Gas Tax revenue. This will change the Oil and Gas Tax Revenue from 29.2% to 31% of total revenue.

Fact #2: There was a beginning balance of $1,153.97 million (1.15 billion) going into the 2025-27 biennium and it was included in the $14,540.5 million of total spending. Plus, there was an ending fund balance of $226.77 million left unspent.

Fact #3: People need to remember (41%) $5.94 billion of the $14.54 billion is not spent on state government, but local government.

decreasing the past four years. The table below shows the revenue sources for the current 2025-27 biennium that were estimated revenues by the legislative appropriations committees in the House and Senate. Remember some of the estimates will come in over and some will come under the estimates listed. The following table list the forecasted revenue for 2025-27.

Fact #4: Note the revenue from Higher Education fees & tuition of $2,408.0 million ($2.4 billion). The revenue and the expenditure amounts are entered in the State Special Fund Budget and the funds are left at each Higher Education Institution. The $2,408.0 million was placed in the budget for transparency purposes and does not affect state government revenue or spending.

The opinion of the writer of the article in the American Experiment North Dakota publication states that North Dakota spends too much in comparison to the state's revenue. What will happen if measure #2 passes and $130 million of spending is embedded in the North Dakota State Constitution?

We will talk about it next week!!

The Cure For Greed: Generosity

Pastor Corey Jenkins
Bowman Methodist Church

The definition of irony is this: the transformation from greed to generosity is a desire for something more! A young man came to Jesus and asked, "Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus said to him, "You lack one thing..." [ref. Luke 18:18-27] Sometimes when I read this passage, I'm reminded of Rich Mullin's song, "My One Thing" where he says, "Everybody I know says they need just one thing; and what they really mean is that they need just one thing more!"

So what do you do when you already have it all, like the young man who came to Jesus? You look for something else – something more. He had it all, he was rich and young – his life spread out before him – he had power and influence – and he was righteous. He told Jesus he kept all the commandments: don't steal, don't commit adultery, don't lie, don't covet and all the others – and yet he came to Jesus because there was something missing! "Jesus, can You help me? There's an emptiness inside and I think there's something more..." And loving him, Jesus said, "Yes, I can help – there IS something missing in your life!"

Transformation happens when we choose generosity. "Jesus said, "Sell what you own, give the money to the poor, and come follow Me." But the young man went away sad because he was very wealthy! Jesus wasn't talking to you and me – I don't believe that commandment is for everyone – but it was very much for THAT young man. And Jesus wasn't pulling any punches – He turned to the disciples and said, "It's almost impossible for folks with lots of money to get into heaven! In fact, it's like tryin' to stuff a camel through the eye of a needle!"

And yet, Jesus WAS talkin' to us! His words are tough – demanding – radical. The problem of greed calls for an extreme change, and it really takes some tough words sometimes for us self-sufficient folks to admit our need for something more – our need of God! It's definitely going to take the Holy Spirit Himself to teach us the difference between what we need and what we want. In Romans 12:2, Paul said, "Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your minds so that you may discern what is the will of God – what is good and acceptable and perfect." Generosity blossoms when we dare to trust God.

Greed is grounded in fear: we're afraid we won't have what we need – food, shelter, safety, stability – so we keep struggling for more and more to hoard it away Scrooge-like. But when is enuf, enuf? Jesus said we should just relax a little – read Matt. 6:25-34. Also, check out Luke 12:16-21...

Do we truly live by the motto on all our U.S. currency: In God We Trust? Well, do we or don't we? Isn't that the real question? But remember, what's impossible for us is entirely possible with God, and even "rich" folks like you and me can enter the kingdom of heaven!

Our Grand Finale Hettinger Community Turkey Luncheon is Back for the 48th and Final Year

By Ted Uecker,
WRHS Foundation

A longtime tradition in Hettinger is back for another go-round, albeit the final go-round (at least for this particular event) -- the West River Health Services Foundation's "Community Turkey Luncheon" will take place for the 48th time at the Hettinger Lutheran Church on Thursday, November 5th. And, you never know, the WRHS Foundation just might pivot to another amazing community event for next early November!

After last year's all-time record-breaking 735 meals created, delivered and enjoyed by our supportive community, the West River Health Services Foundation -- with help from area volunteers -- looks forward to possibly matching or possibly even surpassing our all-time record! The calls are being made to the over 50 area pie bakers and the 24 huge turkeys are on their way! We're also getting our volunteers lined up to cook and cut turkeys, make dressing and gravy, slice pie, decorate, assemble to-go meals, deliver meals, serve meals at the church, waitress, clean, and more!

The 48th and Final Final WRHS Foundation Community Turkey Luncheon (yes, you read that right -- the WRHS Auxiliary hosted this event for 42 straight years; the WRHS Foundation the last six) will be held on Thursday, November 5th, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Hettinger Lutheran Church Basement. Please enter south side doors.

This could be the most sensational hot turkey meal you've ever had (at least since last year's luncheon!) Enjoy tender light and dark turkey meat, hot brown homemade gravy, savory dressing, white bread, cranberries (if you dine in), and a variety of homemade pies. Twenty-four large turkeys have already been ordered from Kennedy's Fresh Foods, the committee is getting back together, supplies are being organized, and we could not be happier! Many of the same healthcare and community leaders will be there, including Barb West, Jennifer Seamands, Suzan Hanson, Beth Erickson, Molly Wolf, Cindy Ham, Angela Hughes, Kory Van Wyk, Christi Schmitz, Erin Timm, Dana Andress, Tonya Jensen, Jill Sailer, Micky Rafferty, Cindy Vik, Howard Nelson, Kim Erickson, Tenille Guthrie, Dr. John & Shannon Kludt, The Lab Decorating Crew, numerous Board of Director Members, and more.

And if you want a Hot Turkey Meal with homemade pie delivered, our crew will deliver it right to your doorstep (for a goodwill donation to our Ambulance)! Call the church at 701-567-2598 the morning of Thursday, November 5, to place your order. Our experienced drivers, with help from Hettinger High School's National Honor Society and FFA students, will deliver your meal pronto! This is a full-service operation! We encourage a goodwill donation for our West River Ambulance Service. Checks to "WRHSF." If you want to get your delivered meal order in early, just text or call Ted at 701-567-3666 and he'll take your order.

Local businesses or organizations can also pre-order a group of hot turkey meals -- a great way to build employee morale. Contact Ted Uecker at 701-567-3666 to receive an order form and return it by November 4. On the other hand, simply come to the church to dine in or pick up a meal to go. If you would like to volunteer and help make this the best Community Turkey Luncheon yet, call Ted at the same number -- we need your support!

Once again, meals will be offered for a goodwill donation. Net proceeds from the luncheon will benefit West River Ambulance Service, and the Foundation will also make a gift to the Adams County Food Pantry, which provides food for area families in need. Plus, our WRHS Foundation will make a gift to the Hettinger School National Honor Society and FFA for their contributions toward this community effort.

Thank you in advance for supporting our 48th and Final Community Turkey Luncheon and these vital local programs -- for our patients and our rural community. Onward!

Schneider Brothers - Orders: Ready for Duty

The chartered flight on Allegiant from Bismarck, ND to Washington, DC wasn't the beginning of the Western ND Honor Flight 2 day adventure. I would say it was a three day adventure.

Saturday afternoon the four Schneider brothers, Earl, Harry, Marlin and Ervin gathered for a late afternoon interview, by Jody K., KFYZ-TV. As they sat around a kitchen table, she set up her cell phones on tripods. Many questions were presented. Each brother delivered their answers with pride and humility. Why did you want to join the National Guard? Was it a good choice for you? What were your duties? Would you have done things differently? Do you think your parents were proud of you?

Here are some of the brothers' answers with added facts.

Earl: Joined the ND Army National Guard, January 1956, Mott, North Dakota, unit. He went to basic training in Devils Lake, ND, Camp Grafton. From October 1961 through November 1962, Earl served with the 769 Transportation Unit at Fort Riley Kansas, during the Berlin Crisis. His duties throughout his career were: Assistant Motor Sergeant, while on active duty, Fort Riley, Kansas; Company Motor Sergeant in Mott, ND; Mess Sergeant in Mott, ND. In 1984, he moved his family to Minot, continued his career, ND Headquarters S3 and was promoted to Command Sergeant Major (CSM) E9. Two of Earl's most memorable military accomplishments were earning the Distinguished Rifleman Badge and being promoted to Command Sergeant Major (CSM), E9. Earl was also a member of the 1961 rifle team, Company B 131st Engineer Battalion C, in Mott, that won the Brocopp Trophy, a prestigious military marksmanship award. Earl retired as a CSM E9 in 1994. Outside of his military career, one of his favorite hobbies has been flying radio controlled model aircraft.

Harry: In November 1955, he volunteered for the draft and enlisted with U.S. Army. In June 1956, he was shipped to Alaska (before it became a state) and served until August 1957. After his service in the Army, he joined the ND National Guard, unit in Mott, ND, October 1957. Harry served during the Berlin Crisis, with 769 Transportation Unit, Fort Riley, Kansas, from October 1961 through November 1962. Like Earl, Harry was a member of the 1961 rifle team, Company B, 131st Engineer Battalion C, in Mott, that won the Brocopp Trophy. Harry worked in Hettinger for the ND National Guard as an Administrative Supply Technician (AST) for 7 years. In 1972, he moved his family to Bismarck and continued working for the National Guard. In 1981, SidPers was formed, Harry was instrumental in the accumulation of the records in the state from each guard unit and entering the information into the computer. He retired as a Master Sergeant, E8, in 1996. His hobbies include hunting and fishing, but his real love is music and to 'tickle the ivories'. In 2018, Harry was inducted into the Dakota Musicians Hall of Fame.

Marlin: Joined the ND National Guard, May 1956, with the unit in Mott, ND. He wanted to join on his 17th birthday, but his dad would not sign the papers. He needed his father's signature because he was underage. Marlin said, "That's okay. When I turn 18, I'll join the Air Force." Nineteen days later, his dad signed his papers. Marlin served in the 769 Transportation Unit, Fort Riley Kansas, October 1961 through November 1962 during the Berlin Crisis. He served as the Mess Sergeant. He was also a member of the 1961 rifle team, Company B 131st Engineer Battalion C, in Mott, that won the Brocopp Trophy. In July 1966, Marlin began working full time for the ND National Guard, in Mott, as an Administrative Supply Technician (AST). Marlin entered as a Staff Sergeant E6, promoted to Supply Sergeant E7, 1st Sergeant (1SGT) E8 and later Chief Warrant Officer in 1985. In November 1994, Marlin moved his family to Bismarck. He retired as a Chief Warrant Officer (CWO) 4 in 1999. He purchased the family farm in 1979 which gave him two full time jobs. Along the way, he also served as an EMT, a fireman, and a member of the school board. After retirement, he worked for FEMA for the State of ND for 12 years. Some of his favorite activities include camping, fishing and hunting. (Earl, Harry and Marlin were on the same 1961 Rifle Team)

Ervin: Joined the ND National Guard in 1959. He was part of the Mott unit 1959-1960 that hauled dirt for the new structure of the Mott National Guard Armory. Ervin was all packed, duffle in hand, ready to board the bus for basic training when he was denied the opportunity to serve. He received an honorable medical discharge. Although his military career was cut short, Ervin went on to dedicate his life to the news and printing. Ervin worked for the Mott Press, Bottineau Press, Dickinson Press, Mandan Pioneer Press, Bismarck Tribune and eventually moved to Bowman and was the owner of the Bowman Pioneer Press. In 1983, he moved his family to Mott and began farming and found a need for the Print Shop. In October 1994, Ervin started EIDO Printing, which is now EIDO Connect and it reaches more than eleven thousand households, each week, in North Dakota and parts of South Dakota and Montana. Ervin is a retired Deacon in the Catholic Church. Ervin's hobbies include hunting, hunting and hunting.

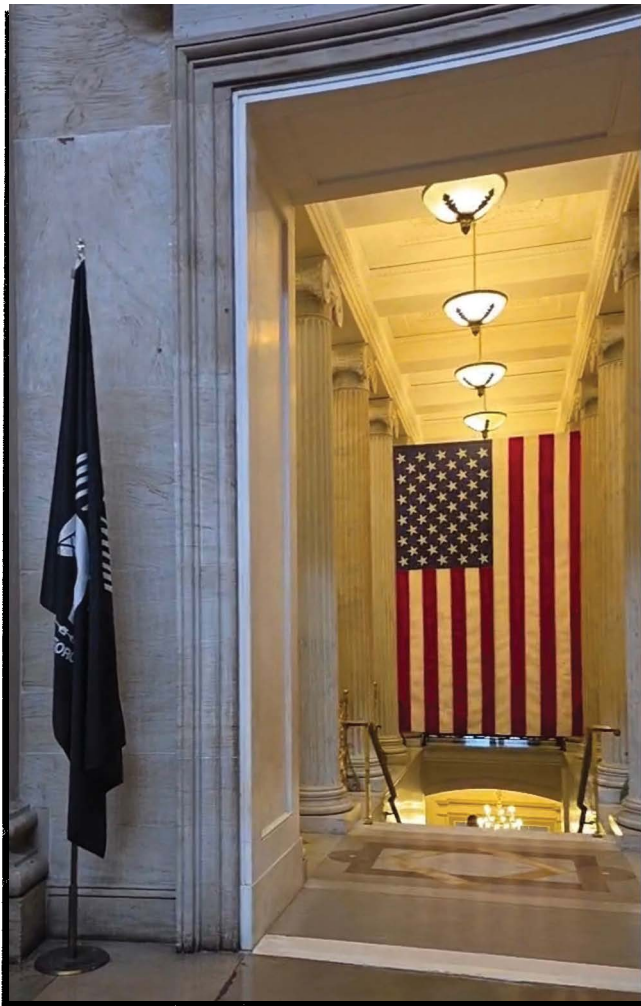

A Family Tradition of Service

The brothers agreed, they wanted to serve their country, just like others before them. Their mother's brothers, in which there were 5 Parsons' brothers: Virden, U.S. Army, Clifford, U.S. Navy, Lloyd, U.S. Army, Keith, U.S. Army and Bruce U.S. Army National Guard, were in the military, four of which were in WWII. And yes, they believe their parents were proud of them.

Sunday Morning – Wheels Up!

Early Sunday morning the four brothers were taken to the airport, dropped off at the baggage claim and wouldn't you know, Marlin forgot his 'earphones'. His daughter drove back to his home to retrieve them for him. She parked in the driveway and heard a little jingle ... and another jingle, but didn't waste any time getting what she was suppose to, hearing aids, case and cord. Back in the car, another jingle... She looked at her phone, not mine jingling, than realized it was her dad's, resting on the dash of the car. Back to the airport 'earphones' and phone delivered.

Western ND Honor Flight has a facebook page, and with anticipation it was checked every few minutes for updates on their journey. Soon enough here comes a video, with excited Veterans and volunteers, waving and cheering. Carefully scanning the video, there they are, Harry and Ervin in one row with Marlin and Earl directly behind them. And than the reassuring words, "Western ND Honor Flight #10, wheels up in Bismarck".

Waiting for each video, carefully scanning, with anticipation of spotting the Schneider Brother

Video Two – Exercise Break

The second video came from the airplane. It was time for an exercise break, and the song playing was YMCA. It's a catchy tune!! The veterans and volunteers were having some fun, as they made their way toward Washington, D.C.

Video Three – Welcome to Washington!

Then came the landing at the Dulles Airport, Washington, DC. What a wonderful sight! The smiling veterans deplaned to a tremendous welcome. People had gathered to greet them, young and old, cheering, waving of flags, and holding posters of appreciation. "Thank You Veterans", "Thank You For Your Service", "We Love You". It was a true hero's welcome.

Video Four – The Triple Shot

The fourth video showed the veterans visiting several of Washington's most memorable sites. The triple shot reflects the Lincoln Memorial, Korean War Memorial and the Vietnam War Memorial. Other monuments during this stop included: Washington Monument, Reflecting Pool, Vietnam Women's Memorial, and The Three Servicemen Statue.

An unexpected encounter: The National Military Monument, sponsored by USAA. The monument stands tall and is a living tribute to the generations of military members whose service and sacrifice for our country. "250 years ago a new nation was born from the belief that freedom and opportunity belonged to the people. And, if necessary, was worth fighting for. Since then, more than 41 million men and women have answered the call to defend our freedom. This moment honors them."

Veterans scan a QR code, enter their name or another veteran they want to find. The name of the veteran is displayed on the screen and their name is displayed. A perfect photo op!

It just so happens that the Schneider Brothers were interviewed by USAA.

Video Five – Arlington National Cemetery - Changing of the Guard, of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

It was breathtaking! Watching with precision, discipline and solemnity of the ceremony was an experience the brothers will not soon forget.

The Sentinel's performed an audible drag step in honor of the Western North Dakota Honor Flight Veterans.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is a monument that honors the unidentified soldiers who died in wars.

Other stops included: U.S. Air Force Memorial, U.S. Marine Corps War Memorial (Iwo Jima) and Pentagon 9/11 Memorial.

Video Six – Evening Banquet

As the veterans, guardians and volunteers gathered to share an evening meal, the guest speakers were two Sentinels from the 3rd U.S. Infantry Regiment, known as "The Old Guard". They stand watch over the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arlington National Cemetery, ensuring that the memory of fallen soldiers is preserved.

Then came Mail Call.

Before the trip, family and friends had been invited to send cards and letters to veterans. The letter would be collected and presented to the veterans during Honor Flight. The letters were to a surprise. And they were.

Mail Call was a memorable way to end a very full first day in Washington.

Day Two – Continuing the Journey

Video One – A Special surprise

The second day began with a special surprise. The United States Capitol Police escorted the veterans from their hotel to Capitol. They passed by the Library of Congress, Supreme Court and Senate Office Buildings before continuing to the WWII Memorial. Law enforcement brought the city to a stop for our veterans. Hoorah!

Video Two -The Capitol

The veterans received a guided tour through The United States Capitol. The Capitol is the seat of the United States Congress. Their guides shared information about the buildings artwork, construction and history, including the Rotunda.

Video Three – World War II Memorial

The veterans visited the World War II Memorial, which includes pillars representing the states and territories. Our veterans found the pillar with "North Dakota". It was perfect for a photo of brothers and the state of which they have made home. The Freedom Wall contains 4,048 gold stars, each star representing 100 Americans who died in war. In front of the wall are the words: "Here we mark the price of freedom".

Video Four – U.S. Navy Memorial

The U.S. Navy Memorial has fountains with the blue water surrounding a wall of three-dimensional artwork and a large circular map of the world.

Video Five – Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center/National Air and Space Museum

The veterans then visited the Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center, a companion facility to the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum. The center houses an impressive collection of aviation and space artifacts, including the Huey helicopter, stealth bomber, Space Shuttle and numerous other military aircraft.

Video Six – Homeward Bound

Eventually, it was time to head home. The veterans and guardians were seated and ready for takeoff. There were smiling happy faces, waving to family and friends back home, and excitement about returning home to North Dakota.

Family and friends were reminded that the flight was expected to arrive in Bismarck at 7:15pm.

The message was simple: Come out to the Bismarck Airport and celebrate the homecoming of our veterans.

Homecoming – Waiting at the Airport

The flight was scheduled to arrive at 7:15pm.

But the families were told to arrive early because of the number of people expected for the homecoming.

Daughters of the four Schneider Brothers arrived at 5:05pm. The five us and another wife of a veteran were the first ones there. We walked in to the baggage claim area carrying the banner in our hands!! We found a volunteer to ask where we should stand. He placed the guardrail in front of us and said, "Right here. You will be front and center as they come down the escalator." We were told that each veteran would be individually announced as they came down the escalator.

So we waited.

We put up our banner hon-

there, waiting for family and friends who were coming from near and far.

Slowly, the crowd began to grow. Then it grew some more. And more. The airport began filling with people. There were flags, signs, banners, balloons with the red, white and blue everywhere. Patriotic music played throughout the terminal. There was singing. There was laughter. And there was an overwhelming feeling of gratitude. We were so thankful that our fathers had been able to experience Western North Dakota Honor Flight #10. The excitement continued to build. Then came 7:15pm. No veterans. Then 7:30. Still waiting. Then 7:45. Still waiting. Finally, at 7:53pm, an announcement came over the airport: "Our veterans have arrived." The crowd erupted.

The Homecoming

The words that seemed to capture the entire evening were: We are free because of the brave!

Our veterans were home. Family, friends and people who simply wanted to show their respect had filled the airport.

They came to honor courage. They came to honor sacrifice. They came to honor flag. And they came to honor veterans.

Then, finally, the veterans began coming down the walkway. We watched the top of the escalator. And then we saw them. One by one, their names were announced.

Marlin Schneider
Harry Schneider
Ervin Schneider
Earl Schneider

Four names that meant so much to so many people.

The brothers looked over the crowd. There were a sea of people below them, all trying to find someone they knew. Their daughters waiting. Family members waiting. Friends were waiting. And there were tears. Tears of pride. Tears of joy. Tears that came from finally seeing someone you love return home after an experience that had meant so much.

Earl. Harry. Marlin. Ervin.

The four brothers had left Bismarck together. The traveled to Washington together. They had visited memorials together. They shared meals, stories and memories together. And now they were home.

Four brothers. Four military journeys. One family. And one unforgettable Honor Flight.

The trip to Washington, D.C., may have lasted only two days, but the memories created during those days will last a lifetime. And for those of us waiting at the airport, watching our fathers come home, it was more than a homecoming. It was an opportunity to say what those signs at the airport had said all evening:

Thank you for your service.

Reflections on the Words of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie, Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

In our recent studies, we have been considering the fact that suffering for the sake of Christ is to be expected in the Christian life. Now in 1 Peter 4:13, we are told the right response to suffering: "But rejoice to the extent that you partake of Christ's sufferings, that when His glory is revealed, you may also be glad with exceeding joy."

Rather than thinking that sufferings are a strange thing or becoming depressed and discouraged by them, believers are to rejoice. But let us be clear about something: To rejoice in their sufferings does not mean to pretend they are not suffering. Their pain is very real, whether emotional or physical, and it is not wrong to acknowledge that. What Peter is telling us is that suffering for Jesus' sake, even though painful, gives the believer reasons to rejoice. He goes on now to tell us why.

The first reason Peter gives for the believer to rejoice in suffering for Christ's sake is that he or she is sharing in Christ's sufferings. Again, we must be very clear about what Peter means. He does NOT mean that believers somehow help to pay for their sins when they suffer. Many religious people have given this false impression, claiming that suffering on the believer's part somehow merits favor from God. This is why in history there have been people (such as Martin Luther before he understood the true gospel) who have intentionally inflicted pain upon their bodies in hopes of gaining favor with God. But if we understand the gospel of grace, we know that there is no such thing as meriting the favor of God. All of God's favor and love come to the believer on the basis of the merit of Jesus Christ and Him alone. Salvation is a free gift—by grace alone, through faith alone, in Christ alone.

What then does Peter mean when he says that the suffering believer partakes of Christ's sufferings? He means that the believer who is suffering because of his or her faith in Christ is suffering for the same reason

Jesus suffered. Jesus did not suffer deservedly. All His sufferings were undeserved. He suffered because He stood for the truth. His sufferings were fulfilling God's purpose.

The sufferings of believers also occur because they refuse to deny the truth. And they also are fulfilling God's purposes.
God uses such sufferings to further the spread of the gospel.
This makes suffering for Christ a privilege. Seventeenth century Scottish minister John Brown affirmed the joy of suffering for Christ. He wrote, "The worst things of Christ are more truly delightful than the best things of the world; His afflictions are sweeter than their pleasures, His reproaches more glorious than their honors and more rich than their treasures." Believers, may we be willing to partake of Christ's sufferings and be enabled to do so joyfully. And if you are not a believer, please consider that the all sufferings of Christians are only in this life and are followed by an eternity of perfect joy. As the apostle Paul said, "For our momentary, light affliction is producing for us an eternal weight of glory far beyond all comparison," 2 Corinthians 4:17. But the most pleasant life of an unbeliever will be followed by an eternity of unspeakable misery. Please seek the grace to place your trust in Christ alone to make you right with God.

"Boxelder Bugs equal FRUSTRATION"

By Don Taskila
Hettinger County, ND
Feature Writer

dormant until the early spring, when temperatures start to rise.

...At this point of fall, I could mistakenly suggest that 'Boxelder Bugs' are becoming 'Snug as a Bug in a Rug', meaning they are getting very cozy, warm, and comfortable. Ok, I admit that I am now sounding just a little misguided (off balance) in my thought process.

[Control Tips to Fight Against 'Boxelder Bugs']

> When 'Boxelder Bugs' show up in your house, physically remove them using a vacuum and dispose of the vacuum's trashy waste contents right away. Keep in mind that crushing 'Boxelder Bugs' will cause them to release an unpleasant odor and discolor surfaces. Dead bugs can attract unwanted secondary pests.

> 'Outside Perimeter Sprays' can be applied directly to groups of 'Boxelder Bugs' by mixing one to two tablespoons of liquid dish detergent with water in a spray bottle or pump sprayer to eliminate their outer layer of defense. As an alternative, apply commercial residual pesticides to seal exterior entry points and spray (in the late summer or early fall) to foundations, door frames, and sunny exterior walls where 'Boxelder Bugs' congregate. NOTE: If you choose to use a pesticide, make sure you read the label and begin with a less dangerous product. Using 'Essential Oils'—such as diluted peppermint, clove, or eucalyptus oil—as a natural deterrent near potential entry points is another suggestion.

> Seal gaps—cracks around doors, windows, foundations, and utility pipe entrances, with silicone caulk or weatherstripping.

> Repair or replace screens... Make sure roof and soffit vents are securely screened, and fix any holes in window and door screens.

> To prevent ground-level 'Boxelder Bug' access, consider installing door sweeps on all external doors.

Here are some closing thoughts: ...Some people may think that 'Boxelder Bugs' are cute and innocent until they realize that these bothersome insects have hosted an uninvited block party for 25 of their closest friends on the living room window and that the added psychological warfare of witnessing an additional twenty-five more 'Boxelder Bugs' slowly crawling across the ceiling is also a reality.

...Telling your next-door neighbor-friend that you have significantly more 'Boxelder Bugs' on your siding than they do is perhaps a somewhat empty power move.

...Why did the 'Boxelder Bug' cross the road? To get to the sunny side of your house.

...WAIT FOR IT News: You can be sure that 'Boxelder Bugs' will actually think it's springtime and wander into the kitchen in search of a snack when the house heating system kicks on shortly after the outside temperature drops.

:) Thank "YOU" for reading "Boxelder Bugs equal FRUSTRATION"! :)

If you impact one life you can make a difference.

Dennis Knutson
Rites Held
Dennis Knutson, age 90 of Hettinger, ND, passed away September 25, 2026, at CHI

St. Alexius Health in Bismarck after a brief battle with West Nile virus. Dennis was born June 26, 1936, to John and Kathryn Knutson and grew up on the family farm southwest of Lodgepole, SD, alongside his four siblings. He graduated from Hettinger High School in 1955 and was a valued contributor to both the football and track teams.

Following high school, Dennis attended Rapid City College before returning home to partner with his father in the family water well drilling business. Throughout his life, he drilled and serviced water wells throughout southwest North Dakota and northwest South Dakota, providing water to hundreds of homeowners, farmers and ranchers. Even after his son, Robert, took over the family business, Dennis continued working on the rig and remaining involved up to his final days. In addition to his well drilling work, Dennis continued to farm the family homestead. For many years, he spent evenings and weekends working the land along with longtime friend, Bob Kudrna. Dennis married his life-long partner and love, Eva Beehler in 1958. Together they built a wonderful life, raising five children and later enjoying their five grandchildren. They faithfully attended their many school and extracurricular activities along with their accomplishments. Dennis and Eva enjoyed teaching dance classes for several years to local couples. Outside of work and family, Dennis enjoyed golf, fishing, horse-shoes, reading and pinochle with friends. He was involved in numerous community and civic organizations, including the Jaycees, Eagles, West River Hospital Board and Beauty of Hettinger. He also served as president of the North Dakota Well Driller Association for several years and remained a dedicated fan of the Minnesota Vikings and Twins throughout his life. Dennis was a quiet, hard-working and honest man with a wonderful sense of humor. He valued family, friendship and community and was always willing to lend a helping hand. A long-time member of Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Dennis had a strong faith in God. Dennis is survived by his beloved wife of 68 years, Eva; his children, Dean (Stephanie), Kevin, Robert (Rhonda) and daughter Lisa (Lynn); and daughter-in-law Julie, wife of late son, Douglas. He is also survived by his grandchildren, Nicholas, Lexine, Ryan (Samantha), Rebecca and Samantha; sister Charlene Tank (Dennis); sister-in-law Bonnie Walch (Wayne); brother-in-law Francis Beehler (Karen); sisters-in-law Ada Jean Cornella and Viola Beehler; as well as many nieces, nephews, extended family and valued friends. He is preceded in death by his son, Douglas; grandson, AJ; brothers Jay and David; and sister Ada; and numerous other family members and friends. Visitation began at 6:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 1st at Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Hettinger, ND, followed by a Rosary and Vigil at 7:00 p.m. Funeral services took place at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, October 2nd at Holy Trinity Catholic Church, officiated by Father Greg Hilzendeger. Following the Mass, burial took place at Hettinger Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to West River Health Services or Holy Trinity Catholic Church.

Cycle of life
By Kathy Craig Harteis
And so it goes. My school-mates and I are at a precarious time of life. Again this week, another one of us passed. Longtime friend and schoolmate at Pierce Joint Union Chris Harding passed this week. Pals Deb, Connie and I had lunch with Chris when I was in California last spring. Little did I know it would be our last visit with Chris. We are now in that cycle of life when tomorrow is not guaranteed. My late Aunt Betty always told me to stop and smell the flowers. She didn't just say it, she did it. She literally stopped and smelled the flowers. We need to appreciate the world we have been given. I grew up here in Colusa County. It is farm country much like where we live in rural North Dakota. Sadly as a kid, I didn't take the time to appreciate the beauty here or the gift of living in a rural community. I know better now. I have lived in large cities in my lifetime, but I've always been happiest in the country. After my late husband David passed, daughter Tiffany and I moved to our family orchard property south of Grimes Ca. We recall those years as good years. We had the chance to live a good life and to form an even closer mother/daughter bond. We are blessed. Take the time to be grateful. Take the opportunity to share with others. You won't always have that chance again. Life is good today.

One kind word can change someones day.

STARBURSTS...

"Since you have accepted Christ Jesus as Lord, live in union with him. Keep your roots in him, build your lives on him, and become stronger in your faith, as you were taught. And be filled with thanksgiving." Colossians 2:6-7

The giant redwoods of California are one of the beautiful natural wonders of North America. These giant evergreens can grow to a towering 300 feet tall and live for hundreds of years. For all their magnificence, one would think the redwood would require a deep root system to keep them upright. Instead, they have roots that spread out along the surface of the forest floor to capture all the moisture possible, intertwining with the roots of other redwoods in the grove. The interlocking roots securely support and sustain these giant sequoias when storms strike and fierce winds blow. The trees' survival depends on the combined support of one another. When we stand together ... support one another ... encourage one another ... we become strong together, and like the giant redwoods, we keep growing taller.

Thoughts for the Week

by June Schmidt

Isn't it amazing when you are young that you know everything? Doesn't matter what it is, we know a better way of doing it. Face it, if you are not young now, just think back and remember what it was like. We were young in the 70's and we knew just how to fix the world and make it better. We knew just what to do to raise kids better than our parents, they were too old fashioned and didn't understand us and if they would just give us some freedom we would do better. We knew that all those math courses and history didn't need to be learned because that time was over and ours was just beginning. And now we look back and we see things so very differently.

And when we were parents or adults with young kids, we did things differently. We didn't expect those kids to work like we did. We wanted them to have the freedom of youth, to enjoy being a kid and doing things that we were prevented from doing. We gave them allowances instead of requiring them to have a job, we got them things that we never got, the latest and the greatest and if we had to work a few more hours, well that was just fine. We sent them to college and encouraged them to have a 'great time' while they were there and to get a degree that made them happy, not just one that gave them a great job. And some of them did and some of them just spent time in college and came out with a degree that couldn't get them hired, but we understood. We let them come home and live with us and supported them because we loved them.

Then they had children and we loved them and the children they gave us, but not all of them got married and some that did didn't stay married even for the children like we did, even when we didn't want to but we still loved them. Some of them never got married and some of their children were unhappy with no real roots in their lives and resenting their parents for not being there for them or their mother maybe working long hours to keep food on the table, so we helped them as much as we were able to. We tried to communicate with our grandchildren, but they were so into their electronics, they didn't want to be bothered so we loved them and let them be. Sometimes they moved away and we had a hard time getting together with them as they didn't always want to come home. They had 'things to do' and 'didn't have the money or the time this year' and even when they promised they would be with us soon, sometimes that didn't happen. But we waited for them nonetheless, always loving them.

And now we look back at the times we said we didn't agree with our parents and we see what we missed in our derision of their lifestyle. We missed the point of family. We stopped spending time together just because, with no holiday or anything planned, just sitting around on a Sunday and being together. We missed the point of working together to learn from our parents and our grandparents because they had a point of how to do things, because they learned from their parents and grandparents. Maybe we didn't know anything better, but we didn't take the time to learn what they knew. We forgot about making ties that bind and decided that 'letting things be' was better and now those ties have been taken away. We have left our children to fend on their own and they have done what we wanted them to do, but have moved away from us, from family and from the directions that we were given.

So we wait in silence and anticipation of phone calls that may or may not come and a new generation that says they have a 'better way of doing things' but they are relying on even less contact with others, working from home in bigger and bigger cities and with children that struggle to have a live conversation with others. And we wonder what the future holds. God Bless you all.
