Phyllis Bivins of Mott, ND a former 6th grade teacher at Mott/Regent School said "did you know there is a walk thru Maze on the Enchanted Highway located by the Deer?"

"I know how to fish, Grandpa showed me how! I know what I'm doing. Stop telling me I'm doing it wrong. You aren't so smart. The fish just aren't biting. Leave me alone," and Timmy turned away so Joey and Mike couldn't see the tears.

Best of friends since kindergarten, Joey, Mike and Timmy, lived in the same neighborhood, attended the same school and now have been spending time fishing together - - only problem, Joey and Mike were catching fish and Timmy - - seemed like he was always in the wrong spot, cuz the fish weren't biting. Joey would holler "caught one." Mike would scream for joy, hold up his fish, no matter how small, and laugh at Timmy - - "at least I caught one." "Will you ever stop making fun of me?" questioned Timmy - -. "Someday I'll catch the biggest fish - - I'll show you." They would then laugh with each other - - same ritual and words all summer.

School began and the first week posters were handed out to students - -. Fishing tournament - - First week lessons, second week fishing and third week grand prize winner. This was a huge event for the city. Student came from all around.

First week - - how to throw your line, how to reel in fish so not to loose it, pulling in with net - - all things that Joey, Mike and Timmy already know.

Second week, fishing - - Joey and Mike caught theirs, as usual and Timmy - - well. Inquisitive as to why all the students were catching fish except Timmy, the instructor sat and talked to Timmy. He had all the answers correctly, did everything the instructor told him to do - - then why?

That night the instructor pondered over Timmy's problem - what was wrong? He knew everything about fishing - - next day as they began preparing for going out into deeper waters, the instructor question. "Timmy tell me how your Grandfather taught you to fish."

Timmy stood up, took his rod and said, "This is what Grandpa always did," put his hand in his pocket, touched the fishing line and - - he always caught fish. It was like magic. I always do the same but I never catch anything."

The instructor smiled - - "Timmy, what did Grandpa have in his pocket?" "Magic," said Timmy. "No Timmy, Grandpa had worms in his pocket, pulled one out and hooked it to the line. I'm sure because you were so little he didn't want you to see the worms - so."

Timmy smiled. The instructor showed Timmy how to bait the fishing line - - guess who caught the biggest fish?

School has started, children are learning new skills - - maybe we can too - - never to old to learn something new- -.

Consider coming to the Enchanted Castle, Wednesday, October 6th

Maybe we're forgetting to put the worm on the line!

Expressions of HOPE

Work on You Before You Work On Others

by Fr. Jarad Wolf, St. Charles Church Bowman, ND

School has begun and with it the fall sports season! I know that I, personally, enjoy taking in the games at the collegiate, professional, and high school levels.

But it is also a time that a silly tendency which I possess as a fan becomes apparent to me. This time of year, I as a fan notice how easily I complain about calls missed against my team and yet how quickly I laugh when my team gets away with one!

Now, don't get me wrong, I am not naive and I am not recommending naivete. I am confident the missed calls this upcoming sports season which "get my Irish up" will be in fact horrible missed calls, and I sincerely hope Jesus figures out some just compensation at His Second Coming. But it is something to be noted not just small things, but also in large - the tendency of the human heart to respond vigorously to injustice and to my rights and to what should be, and yet to respond slowly when the rights of others are injured. Or again to respond vigorously and harshly when the faults of others are displayed, and yet slowly with shrugging shoulders when my own fault is revealed. Or still yet, how willing the human heart is to become the guide to others even when we ourselves are lost. To point out the wrong, to offer advice meant to fix others and the world at large.

The Gospel addresses this tendency.

To take Jesus' words from the Sermon on the Mount:

"Why do you see the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye? Or how can you say to your brother, 'Let me take the speck out of your eye,' when there is the log in your own eye?"

You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye." (Matthew 7:3-5, Revised Standard Version)

The clear message for the disciple of Jesus: work on you before you work on others and the world.

It would be an error to see this message as one of self-condemnation! In fact, I would be breaking the 2nd great commandment "to love one's neighbor as yourself". In this passage Jesus offers not self-condemnation, but freedom. How often is the peace which is a fruit of the spirit lost through concern with things totally beyond our control? How often is Christian joy sucked dry via anxiety with global problems while our own attitudes, thoughts, and behaviors lie unexamined?

Or to return to the words of Jesus in the Gospel of Luke, "He also told them a parable: 'Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit?'" (Luke 6:39, Revised Standard Version)

The question this Gospel puts to us is this: to whom have I entrusted the guidance of my soul? Who do I pick as a guide to my spiritual life? Who acts as a teacher to the way I interpret the world and its events? Whom do I allow to point out and to take out the speck in my eye?

Are they just as blind as I am? Do they recognize the primacy of Jesus, the need for a Savior? Are they people and sources who themselves have repented and sought to live faithful Christian life? Have they sought to first take the log out of their own eye?

When it comes to silly things such as referee calls, not much is at stake. But when it comes to important questions such as "how ought I live" or "whom can I trust" or "what is true", much more is. Let it be for us the one the disciples called with devotion "Teacher". Let it be for us Jesus.

Thank you

To all the people and organizations that donated goods, money and time to help us with our fundraiser. It was a rousing success and we greatly appreciate the support. On top of that, it was just plain enjoyable to see so many people together having a good time. It was especially sweet after having to cancel last year. So, again thank you and we hope to see you next year.

"The Artist, Picasso could have been a Life Coach"

By- Don Taskila - Regent, ND

Yes, I believe that Pablo Picasso could have counseled and encouraged many of "Us" on matters having to do with our careers and, or those personal challenges that "We" often face head-on. I think or suppose that his personal quotes, his exact words- sayings; writings; could entrust "Us" to form the changing opinions within ourselves that we're often- 'Positively Looking For'. Certainly, enlisting prayer always helps too!

...Consider these: Quotes by, Picasso...

"Others have seen what is and asked why. I have seen what could be and asked why not."

"Only put off until tomorrow what you are willing to die having left undone."

"When I was a child my mother said to me, 'If you become a soldier, you'll be a General. If you become a monk, you'll be The Pope.' Instead, I became a painter and wound up as Picasso."

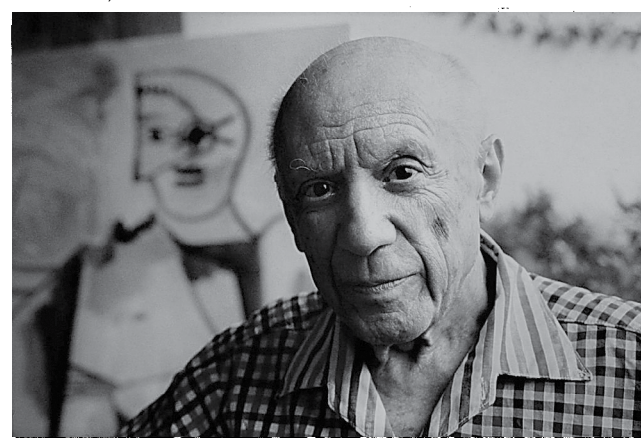

"I am always doing that which I can not do, in order that I may learn how to do it."

Born October 25th, 1881 in Malaga, Spain, "Pablo Ruiz Picasso" (Note: In his Spanish name- the first or paternal surname is "Ruiz" and the second or maternal family name is "Picasso".) He was a Spanish Painter- Printmaker- Ceramist and Theater Designer who spent most of his adult life in France, where at the age of 91 he passed away in Mougins, France on April 8th, 1973. He was an exceptionally prolific artist throughout the course of his long life and was regarded as one of the most influential. Picasso achieved an immense fortune for his revolutionary artistic accomplishments and became one of the best-known figures in 20th-Century Art.

The greatest treasures are those invisible to the eye but found by the heart.

To Everyone Making a Difference

At first, Picasso's paintings were not well-received by critics or the public, as they viewed them as depressing, somber works of art that presented the likes of beggars, cabaret performers, and frail, older people. One such Picasso Painting from his recognized Blue Period: 'The Old Guitarist' (Pictured, along with a separate photo of Pablo Picasso) is an oil painting which he creating in late 1903 and early 1904 which depicts an elderly musician, a blind, haggard man with threadbare clothing who is weakly hunched over his guitar while playing in the streets of Barcelona, Spain.

Picasso's Painting- 'The Old Guitarist', Today sits at the Art Institute of Chicago where thousands of people view it daily. Some art appraisal experts in the field believe the painting is worth more than 100,000,000 Million U.S. Dollars, but because this work of art is likely never going to be sold, it might actually be considered "Priceless".

...But Pablo Picasso didn't give up, as his 'Thinking Spirit' attests to in these added Quotes by, Him:

"Inspiration exists, but it has to find you working."

"The meaning of life is to find your gift. The purpose of life is to give it away."

"I do not seek. I find."

"People want to find a meaning in everything and everyone. That's the disease of our age..."

In closing, I'll share one last Quote by, The Artist, Picasso who could still be a Life Coach:

"If I don't have red, I use blue."

You can't have a better tomorrow if you are always thinking about yesterday.

Just suck it up

By Kathy Craigo-Harteis

It's been a long hard week. I even literally fell on my face once this week.

I sometimes forget how old I am and don't slow down and pay attention. The next thing I know I trip and go flying. This time I really did land on my face. It's healing now.

But, like everything else in my life I sucked it up and kept going.

On a brighter note; we celebrated grandson Kohen's 9th birthday at our house this week. Taco's in a bag, ice cream cake, a piñata and presents. What kid could ask for more?

Son Val did a great job decorating the cake. He and Sami always manage to create what the kids want their cakes to look like.

Finally, we got lots of rain this week. It was like the sky opened and washed away the dust. We are thankful for the moisture.

Everything looks suddenly greener.

I harvested my peppers this week. It wasn't much of a crop, but pretty good for my first try.

I have tons of basil though so that's a good thing. I love cooking with basil.

Somethings in life make me happy, some confuse me and other things break off pieces of my heart. I have forever reminded myself that no matter what we're dealing with it will pass. I always remember that one year from today we won't remember why we were troubled. That has proven so far in my life to be true.

So, if you are troubled, holding a grudge or resenting anything let it go.

As my favorite speaker Joyce Myer always reminds us; we shouldn't dwell on anything, we are only allowing it to take our joy.

I've heard from some friends this week who are facing tremendous challenges in their lives. Others have been dealing with trials in their lives for months. These are far bigger things than a lot of us face. So even if you fall on your face, get up, suck it up and move one. Be thankful you could get up. Life is good today.

Thoughts of the Day

by June Schmidt

As I was sitting in my chair and wondering what the world has in store for the future, I was remembering some of the things I was told while I was growing up and I am wondering if those things are still true.

One of those was to try your best at whatever you do and even if you fail, you should be proud of yourself. Seems to me there is a lot more consideration being paid to just show up and whatever happens, oh well. Don't know how that will actually get you anywhere when it comes right down to it. Just being here doesn't really get you anything except a pat on the back, possibly and more than likely gets you into a rut that you never get out of. The sense of accomplishment that you get from doing a job – any job – right is a down right high and seems to me that's being overlooked.

So many programs emphasize how equal we should all be and that no one is better than anyone else and in some instances, that may be true. But the reality is that not everyone is equal, and that's not a bad thing. We all have something we are good at – maybe it takes some of us longer to find that thing, but maybe, just maybe, we don't get the right encouragement to keep on trying to be good at that special something. Maybe the thought that we are 'owed' something is the message that is louder than anything else. Life isn't a sideline that you sit on and let the world go by and just being alive is no guarantee of a happy life. Don't like what you are doing, well there's a solution to that. Just find what makes you happy and until then do the best that you can with what you have. Sometimes you may be surprised by the result as that thing you are so sure you hate becomes what makes you happy in the end and you didn't even realize it.

Anything worth doing is worth doing right and that applies to everything that I can think of. To have a good relationship, you have to work at it and it takes love and understanding. So why do we think that to receive satisfaction at our job we don't have to work at it? I know not everyone has the 'best job' but there are people that take pride in doing the lowliest of jobs that are happy with their life. I also have seen those that just 'put in their time' moan and groan at how bad their job is and how they can't wait to be done. That would make for a long and unhappy day in my opinion. There can be satisfaction from any kind of job if you do your best. All in the way you look at the end result, whether you are the boss or the lowliest of employees. Your reward, in addition to the money, is knowing that you did your best each and every day. And maybe its the 'good job' you get from your boss or the smile and thank you from the person that you helped is that reward. Don't sell yourself short – you may be the reason for someone else to have a good day as well.

Well, that's my thought for this day and I hope you find something to like in your day.

Happiness is not based on possessions, power, or prestige, but on relationships with people we trust and respect.

Waddington Brothers in Concert at Shadhill Reservoir
Placemakers Co-op Hosts 3rd Annual Live at the Lake Concert Series

After a week off for the Thunderhawk Wide Open, Live at the Lake is back at Shadhill Reservoir for 2021's final performance on Saturday, August 28, 2021. There will be a free will supper starting at 5 pm, with delicious smoked pulled pork sandwiches donated by LemmonMade Butcher Shop. All proceeds will go to Placemakers Co-op to fund more great events.

Starting at 6pm, The Waddington Brothers from Regent, ND will perform. The brothers have been performing together since 2004. In the past, they toured the United States and Canada with their family band, The Waddington Family. They have performed with such notable artists as the Kruger Brothers, Ron Block and Bobby Hicks. A versatile acoustic group, The Waddington Brothers' musical style ranges from traditional hard driving bluegrass to the mellow sound and dynamic western harmonies reminiscent of Bob Nolan and The Sons of the Pioneers.

The concert will be held on Ketterling's Point at the day use shelter. People are asked to bring their own chairs or blankets to sit on and be prepared to spend a fun evening outdoors. The musical acts are sponsored by local businesses and individuals and are free to the public, but a SD State Park entrance fee is required. T-shirts will be for sale during the concert series, at <https://www.placemakersco-op.com/merchandise> and also at the Lemmon Area Farmers Market.

Why Plant Bareroot?
By: Tiffany Martin, Natural Resource Specialist Northwest Area Conservation District Bison, South Dakota

When it is time for tree sales from the Conservation District, there are two types of trees that they sell: potted and bareroot. Potted is usually what everyone asks for and are trees and shrubs of varying heights and varying pot sizes. People are more hesitant about buying bareroot because it is a little vaguer. So, lets dispel some of the vagueness and give you some more planting options.

First off, what are bareroots? They are tree's that have been grown in soil for at least one season. Then they are dug up when they are dormant, and all the soil is removed from the roots before they are stored in a cool place and shipped out to the Conservation Districts and customers. They are ready to be planted straight into the ground, taking into consideration to make sure the roots are going straight down, the tree is upright, and the soil is packed in tightly.

Why would you want to plant bareroots? A lot of the time what people ask for is the biggest plant possible, thinking of large potted plants. This gets you the instant satisfaction of having a decent size little tree compared to a smaller bare root. The thing about the potted plants is they can become root bound in the pots and grow slower or not as well once it is planted. A bareroot hasn't had the chance to become rootbound and has been growing freely for at least a year. This means once you plant the tree it should take off and often grow faster and better than a potted plant. Within a year or two a bareroot can catch up to and outgrow a potted plant.

Need a few more things to consider when debating on whether or not to buy bareroot. Bareroots on average are cheaper and not all of them are tiny little sticks. You can get tall bareroots that are up to 5 feet tall! They can be easier to handle since you aren't carrying or maneuvering a pot of soil around along with the tree itself. They are lightweight and can be laid down in your vehicle. Plus, if you are planting a shelterbelt the Conservation District can plant the trees for you!

All of this is not to say that potted plants are horrible, and you should never plant them. They are great if you are planting a yard tree or just a singular bush. They also tend to bare fruit sooner than a bareroot. When they are in pots, they can become a little root bound which tricks the tree into thinking it needs to bear fruit sooner. They can produce up to two years sooner than a bareroot!

Whether you chose to go with bareroot or potted both can be ordered through the Conservation District. If you have any questions about trees or planting, you can contact Tiffany Martin at the Perkins County Conservation District office at (605) 244-5222 ext. 109 or by email at tiffany.martin@usda.gov.

Ranchers,

With the hot summer weather coming, now is the time to give your cows some relief by using Vitaferm Heat mineral or lick tubs. What is Vitaferm Heat you ask? It uses garlic, a natural insect repellent for fly control and has Capsaicin and Amaferm, both research-proven to lower body temperature. For the rest of May to the end of July we are taking $2.00 a bag off or $2.00 a tub off the retail price on all Heat products.

Pierce Named to State Committee

Dianne Pierce of Dakota Western Bank-Scranton has been named to the Agriculture Diversification and Development (ADD) Committee for the State of North Dakota.

During the most recent legislative session, the Legislature passed HB1475, which created the Agriculture Diversification and Development (ADD) Fund. The ADD Fund will be utilized to provide loans, interest rate buydowns, and grants from the Fund to support new or expanded value-added agriculture businesses.

The legislation also created the ADD Committee. The primary purpose of the ADD Committee is to develop guidelines and make funding determinations for a grant program that will complement the ADD Fund loan program administered by the Bank of North Dakota.

The ADD Committee consists of eleven members. The North Dakota Agriculture Commissioner appoints five members, the Governor appoints one member, and the other members represent the North Dakota Bankers Association (NDBA), the Independent Community Bankers of North Dakota (ICBND), the Department of Commerce, NDSU, and the Agriculture Commissioner. Pierce was asked to represent the North Dakota Bankers Association.

Dianne is a DWB Vice President and is the Scranton Market President. She has worked in the banking industry for 35 years and has been an employee of Dakota Western Bank for 25 years.

THANK YOU

We live in such a Wonderful and Caring Community!! I would like to Thank Everyone for all the cards, flowers, food, phone calls, hugs, and the many prayers I have received during my cancer treatments and surgery. Thank you Lowell and Jan Faris for all your help during surgery, and the continued help. Thank you to John and Sarah Stuber for their many hospital visits, and for being with Wendy while I was in the hospital in Fargo. Thank You to Southwest Healthcare Services for all their wonderful care, and for helping me to get stronger so I could go home. All of you are so wonderful!! Last but not least, I want to thank my family for being with me every step of the way. You are such a blessing. I feel the hard part is behind me, and I need to continue looking forward. I still have some chemo treatments to go, but I can see the light at the end of the tunnel. There is a saying, "Faith can move mountains". I know this is true because of all of you!!

God Bless!

Roger Walter Rites Held

Roger Walter, 76, of Bowman, ND, went to be with his Lord and Savior early Wednesday morning, August 18th, after a brief battle with cancer. Mass of Christian Burial was on Monday, August 23, 2021, at 10:00 a.m. at St. Charles Catholic Church in Bowman. Father Jared Wolf celebrated Mass with a burial that followed at St. Josephat Cemetery in rural Belfield, ND. There was a Rosary and Vigil Service for Roger on Sunday, August 22, 2021, at St. Charles Catholic Church at 7:00 p.m. Visitation for Roger was on Sunday from 12-5 p.m. at Krebsbach/Kulseth Funeral Home Chapel and at St. Charles Catholic Church from 6-9 p.m.

Roger was born February 16, 1945, to Beatrice (Kuntz) and Valentine Walter in Dickinson, North Dakota. He was the youngest of four brothers and grew up working hard on his family's farm. Roger attended school in South Heart and graduated in 1963. He then attended college at the National School of Business in Rapid City, SD, where he earned a degree in Business Management. In his younger years, Roger played with old-time music bands throughout the area when he met the love of his life, Teresa (Terry) Ewoniuk. In 1966, they were married at St. Demetrius Ukrainian Catholic Church near Belfield, ND; this past June, they celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary.

Their first home was in Rapid City, where Roger was in management training for K-Mart. They moved to Clinton, IA, where their daughter, Laura, was born. The next transfer was to Aberdeen, SD, where their son, Patrick, was born. After moving to LaCrosse and Green Bay, WI, Roger took a permanent position as Operations Manager for K-Mart in Rapid City. During that move, Bobby was born in Dickinson. Employment with Barber Transportation (1974-1982) brought the family to Bowman, where they fell in love with the community and remained for life. In 1986, Roger began employment with Northwest Tire, eventually retiring after 25 years of dedicated organization until his last days. He was a Pack Master for the Boy Scouts of America, Grand Knight for the Knights of Columbus, and President of the Bowman Hospital Board.

Roger had many skills, interests, and hobbies that were guided by companionship, charity, and competition. With Roger missing from the table, card games just won't be the same. His work-ethic was second to none. Being a jack-of-all trades, he enjoyed making birdhouses and getting involved in any construction project that incorporated labor. His children always felt Labor Day was a day to work, not rest from work. He enjoyed fishing, golfing, and relaxing at Hart Ranch when time allowed. He busied himself with taking care of the Lion's Park, driving cars for the local dealership, and working for the Bowman County Weed Board.

Roger was a skillful self-taught piano player, who learned by ear, and those that were privileged to listen couldn't help but dance or sing along. Although of German descent, Roger was passionate and happy to be involved with his wife's Ukrainian heritage. In 2006, Roger and Teresa were chosen to be Malanka, representing North Dakota Ukrainians at the Canadian National Ukrainian Festival in Dauphin, Manitoba.

Roger was a devoted husband, father, grandfather, uncle, son, brother, and friend. Roger is survived by his wife Terry, children Laura (Gary), Patrick (Marla), and Bobby (Andrea); grandchildren Ashlyn, Ian, Jessica, Jada, Darien, Jaelyn, Alyssa, Joshua and Halle; and brothers Clifford (Eleanor) and Donald. He is also survived by numerous nieces and nephews. Roger was preceded in death by his parents, brother Simon, sister-in-laws Anna, Catherine, and Mabel, in-laws Matt and Pearl Ewoniuk; and brother-in-law Fred Ewoniuk.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are suggested to: St. Charles Catholic Church, the Bowman Ambulance Squad, God's Child Project, or a charity of choice service.

St. Charles Catholic Church was near and dear to his heart. Roger felt blessed to be a Eucharistic Minister, especially bringing Jesus to those that were homebound. In addition, Roger gave back to the community, spending countless hours volunteering in multiple organizations. Being a strong voice who spoke with his heart, he was a natural for leadership roles. Roger was the Charter President of the Bowman Lions Club, and continued serving this

RECIPE OF THE DAY

BAKED RANCH CHICKEN WITH BACON (CHICKEN BACON RANCH)

4 boneless skinless chicken breasts
1 1/2 cups Ranch dressing
1/2 cup sour cream
1-1 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese divided
Kosher salt
Freshly grated black pepper
1/4 cup cooked bacon crumbles
Garnish: diced fresh parsley

Heat oven to 375°F and spray an 8 x 11-inch baking dish with cooking spray. If the breasts are uneven in thickness, pound them to an even 1" thickness using a meat pounder. Sprinkle both sides of meat with half the grated Parmesan cheese, salt and freshly ground black pepper. Place the chicken in the prepared baking dish. In a medium bowl, whisk together Ranch dressing and sour cream. Pour the mixture over the chicken breasts and sprinkle with remaining Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375°F for 20-30 minutes or until a meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the breast reads 150°F. Set oven to broil and broil the breast an additional 2-4 minutes or until the chicken turns golden. It will burn quickly so watch closely. The chicken is cooked through when the thermometer reads 160°F when inserted in the thickest part of the middle breast. Remove from the oven and sprinkle with cooked bacon crumbles. Allow the chicken to rest a few minutes before serving. Garnish with diced parsley, if desired.

Reflections on the Word of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie, Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

For the past couple of weeks we have considered some indicators of revival. We've seen that true revival is a work of God the Holy Spirit. When the Spirit comes upon a people, He brings conviction of sin, leading believers to seek a life of greater holiness and leading unbelievers to see the need for Jesus as their Savior. In addition, the Holy Spirit creates in people a hunger and thirst for righteousness.

Today let us consider yet another characteristic of those who are experiencing true God-sent revival. Perhaps the most wonderful aspect of true revival is that people hunger to know God Himself. What I mean is that they do not stop at wanting to know about God. Knowing about God is important, and that is a part of hungering and thirsting for righteousness. But I'm speaking now about longing to know God personally and intimately.

Some people think that such a thing is not even possible. Since God is so great and awesome, they think mere creatures could not possibly have fellowship with the Almighty Creator. But this is the wonder of God's amazing grace--that although He is infinitely great, He seeks fellowship with His people through Jesus Christ. Yes, it is possible to know God intimately in a personal relationship. See this longing for intimate fellowship with God that the psalmist had: "As the deer pants for the water brooks, so pants my soul for You, O God. My soul thirsts for God, for the living God. When shall I come and appear before God?" (Psalm 42:1-2).

The reason why many Christians have shallow spiritual lives is that they have never tasted sweet and intimate fellowship with God. They are still trying to find fulfillment in such things as money or health or reputation or worldly comforts. But none of those things can fulfill the human soul because man is made in God's image. The only thing that can deeply fulfill the soul of man is God Himself!

Knowing God has a starting point. It starts by realizing that we do not know God the way we come into this world. We are born in sin, alienated from God. The apostle Paul explains in Romans 3:10-11, "There is none righteous, no, not one; there is none who understands; there is none who seeks after God." The first step in getting to know God is for a person to realize he or she has sinned against God. Then that person must turn from sin and trust in the sacrificial death of Christ on the cross to pay for his sins. The apostle John tells us in John 1:12 what happens when someone trusts in Christ as Savior: "But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His name."

But that's just the beginning. We can grow deeper and deeper in our relationship with God. God is so glorious, and fellowship with Him is the most wonderful experience a person can have. Israel's King David knew this. He wrote many of those Psalms which speak of the sweet and intimate fellowship he had with God. He also spoke of his passion to know God even more deeply. He says in Psalm 84:2, "My soul longs, yes, even faints for the courts of the LORD; my heart and my flesh cry out for the living God."

Friends, do you know anything of this? Have you tasted and seen that the Lord is good? Could it be that many of us are so busy filling up our lives with lesser things of this world that we are passing up the very best thing, which is intimate fellowship with God? When true revival comes, people set proper priorities. They long for God, and so they eliminate from their lives many of the things that keep them from seeking God. The results of this are wonderful. For they get what they truly long for. They come to a closer fellowship with the living God. Nothing else will truly satisfy. I like the way one hymn writer put it when he wrote, "Turn your eyes upon Jesus; look full in His wonderful face; and the things of earth will grow strangely dim in the light of His glory and grace."
