What is it? - Watch and see what a Mother/Grandmother can do!

"What next?" Anna sat at the kitchen table and wept. Her daughter had just called - "husband lost job - taking Sarah to hospital, fill you in on" and cell phone went dead.

Second phone call this week, affecting her children and the trials they were experiencing - - first one was from her son whose best friend was a police officer - - killed in line of riots - - duty they say but, Anna knew better. Her world was turning topsy-turvy - - upside down and inside/out. What had last year seemed like a small part of heaven now turned into - - she wasn't quite sure - - anyway she allowed the tears to flow.

"Breakfast ready?" Hollered Dan as he slammed the back door. "Cows fed, ready to go to the field, can you take me after breakfast?" Smelling nothing and noticing Anna's red eyes he pulled up the kitchen chair and sat beside her.

First rays of sunlight now danced thru the kitchen window - - then Anna told him about the phone call. Dan listened, then reminded her of the old trunk in the barn - - check it out hon - remember the story Grandma told us about the village of no hope - - "Coffee smells good - I'll have some and be on my way, got a farm meeting in town - - "love you" and out the door Dan went.

Anna wiped the tears, put unmade breakfast food back into the fridge, stood for a moment - "should I?" questioning herself as to whether or not she should check out the old trunk in the barn. She had heard the story but whether she believed it was always the question in the back of her mind.

Decision made - she would check out the old trunk - - out the door, only to run back into the house - - forgot something - - and out the door again. Smelled like rain, looked like rain but she knew nothing would happen cuz the weatherman said - No rain. Looking around, grass brown, flowers not being planted, then the thought of her children and the tear's came again.

Opening the barn door, which she hadn't been in for ages, due to the fact the new building had now taken residence over the old barn, she noticed the old trunk. No wonder she had forgotten about it, piled high with hand tools, forks, dust, one readily didn't see it anymore.

A twinge of excitement ran thru her body as she reached into her pocket and pulled out the key - - fond memories filled her heart with the story her grandparents had passed on thru the ages - - how the old trunk was filled with magic - - .

This is the story.

Hundred of years ago a Mother lived at the edge of a thriving community. Not many paid attention to her for she was very old. Years were good - so people were happy. Then years took a turn and no rain, prices high, sickness - - everything one can think of went wrong. People were unhappy - - everyone that is except the Mother on the edge of town.

"What's your secret?" They began to question. The only answer she ever gave was the old trunk. "What's in the trunk?" they questioned. "Magic Dust" was her answer.

When the Mother died they went thru her things and especially the old trunk - - here's what they found - old letters telling her how much she was loved - wall hangings of you are beautiful, you are perfect, books on gratitude -- and the list of articles was endless, but the most important was the magic dust - - .

Anna picked up the framed picture - - wiped off the dust and read - - "Remember dust always comes and goes."

Expressions of HOPE

A New Past

by Father Paul Eberle
St. Charles Catholic Church
Bowman, North Dakota

I have been reading a book by Fr. Wilfred Stinissen entitled, "Into Your Hands, Father: Abandoning Ourselves to the God Who Loves Us". A section of the book speaks of a "new past" and how we not only have the ability to form and shape our present and future, but that we also have power over our past. Fr. Stinissen writes, "When we see our past in the light of the Holy Spirit, with the eyes of God, it is created anew." This seems so important.

All too often we see our past through the eyes of our emotional wounds. The pain of past hurts, especially if inflicted by family and friends, makes the present and the future look fuzzy and less bright and cheerful. Jesus, however, is the healer of our wounds.

We read in 1 Peter 2:24, "By his wounds you have been healed." Jesus has the power to restore our peace and even to help us be grateful for our past, wounds included. When Jesus appeared to the disciples in the upper room after his Resurrection and showed them his wounds, he did so not to bring shame upon them for abandoning him in his greatest need, but to show his mercy, forgiveness, and peace. Jesus' first words to them in that moment are, "Peace be with you".

When I have a painful memory that comes back to my attention, I try to welcome it in Jesus' name and remember that it is Jesus' memory too, and that he was with me then - even though I was not aware of it - and is with me now. It helps me give the memory and the pain over to him so as to be transformed. Everything that wounds us has wounded Jesus first. God has truly gone through all of our pain with us, and so we can in faith and trust pray God's message to us in Isaiah 43:1-2,5 "I have called you by name, you are mine. When you pass through the waters I will be with you; and through rivers, they shall not overwhelm you; when you walk through fire, you shall not be burned; the flame will not consume you...Fear not, for I am with you." May your heart be filled with a new confidence in God's loving presence in your life.

Dr. Toshi Is In!

Dear Dr. Toshi,
Does eating too much sugar cause diabetes?

We talked about diabetes last week and I'd like to continue a little bit more on that topic today. Many people think that if you eat too much sugar, you'll get diabetes, but does eating sugar really cause diabetes?

Before getting into details, I'd like to introduce a very important concept when it comes to talking about risks today, namely the difference between "causality" and "association." You might have heard a sentence like this in the past: "A causes B," or "B is caused by A." For instance, smoking causes lung cancer. You may also have heard "A is associated with B." For instance, when I was in medical school, my professor gave this example: "Driving BMWs in this city is associated with a higher incidence of breast cancer in women." Well, of course it's unlikely that just driving a BMW in that city is what causes breast cancer. They just found that there was an association. It maybe that women who drive BMWs tend to do something else more than other women that leads to their higher incidence of breast cancer, e.g., maybe they go to tanning salons more, or eating more rich, high-fat food, or smoke more, or sunbathe on beaches more than other women. The researchers have to do more research and sort out many factors to find out more about this association.

The relationship between sugar intake (particularly sugar-sweetened beverages) and risks of diabetes (Type 2 diabetes in this case) has been studied quite extensively, but we don't know that sugar-sweetened beverages cause diabetes. However, many studies show that sugary beverages are associated with an increased risk of developing diabetes. The important point is that it shows increased risk. Studies show that higher consumption of sugar-sweetened beverages is strongly associated with both greater weight gain and type 2 diabetes, and obesity is also associated with diabetes. So, to be scientifically accurate, we have to say that high consumption of sugary beverages is strongly associated with diabetes, but we can't say for sure—at least yet—that drinking sugary beverages causes diabetes.

There are many other factors that are associated with developing Type 2 diabetes, too. Pre-diabetes is very strongly associated. Other factors include family members who have diabetes, your ethnicity (there's more diabetes among Asians, Latinos, and Black Americans than among White Americans), obesity, "abdominal obesity" (having a large waist size), high childhood weight, lifestyle (poor exercise and diet), smoking, and inadequate sleep. A lower risk of developing Type 2 diabetes is associated with a Mediterranean diet, eating nuts every day, and a high fiber diet, for example.

Marxen Joins NDSU Extension in Hettinger County

Heidi Marxen has joined North Dakota State University Extension as the agriculture and natural resources agent in Hettinger County.

She started May 3 and works out of the Extension office in Mott, N.D.

Marxen will develop and deliver educational programs in livestock, horticulture, agronomy/cropping systems, farm business management/crop marketing, community economic development and leadership, and 4-H youth development to adult and youth audiences in Hettinger County.

"An Extension agent position has been a lifelong goal of mine," Marxen says. "Working as an agriculture lender in Hettinger County for the past six years has allowed me to know the producers and build trusted relationships with them. My goal as Extension agent is to continue to build relationships with the agriculture producers and provide them access to the research information that NDSU Extension has to offer."

Marxen also looks forward to continuing the success of the Hettinger County 4-H program and sharing the many opportunities 4-H has to offer with area youth.

She comes to NDSU Extension with a strong 4-H background, having been a member for 12 years and a 4-H camp youth counselor during her college years. She also has served as a 4-H club leader and volunteer in Hettinger County.

Prior to joining NDSU Extension, Marxen was an agricultural lender, first with Farm Credit Services of Mandan and most recently with Dakota Community Bank and Trust. Before that, she was an Extension intern with South Dakota State University Extension for two summers while she was pursuing her degree.

She earned a B.S. degree in Animal Science from South Dakota State University.

"Heidi's 4-H experience, broad knowledge of agriculture, willingness to learn and serve others, and her ability to build relationships with agriculture producers make her a great fit for this position," says Jim Gray, NDSU Extension's west district director. "I am excited to have her on board in Hettinger County."

In her free time, Marxen enjoys camping, being outdoors, spending time with her family and scrapbooking.

Reflections on the Words of Life
by Pastor Paul Ferrie, Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

Today I would like for us to consider together the subject of Christian forgiveness, using Ephesians 4:32: "And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, just as God in Christ forgave you." If I can sum up Paul's instructions to the Ephesians in my own words, he is saying that Christian believers should forgive one another because they have been forgiven so much by God.

What many people do not realize is that experiencing the forgiveness of God is the greatest blessing any human being can have. Why is that? Because there is not a single one of us who DESERVES God's forgiveness. The Bible is very explicit in its teaching that every single human being is born in a state of sinfulness. Romans 3 states, "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God" (verse 23) and, "As it is written: 'There is none righteous, no, not one; there is none who understands; there is none who seeks after God. They have all turned aside; they have together become unprofitable; there is none who does good, no, not one'" (verses 10-12). This is the human predicament. Every human being is born a sinner, and we add to our sinfulness by the sins we commit every day.

What makes human sinfulness such a huge issue to almighty God is that He is just the opposite of us. He is holy, and it is not even possible that He could sin (1 Samuel 2:2; Habakkuk 1:13). From God's perspective, our sin is absolutely repulsive because it offends His holy character. On top of that, sin angers God because it is rebellion against Him. When we disobey God, we are deliberately rebelling against Him.

For God to overlook sin would be a denial of His own holy character. For God to be able to forgive sin, His holiness must be upheld. And amazingly, God found a way to forgive sinners without compromising His holiness. He did it by the most amazing act of love and grace the world has ever seen. Let me put into my own words the way God might have expressed His plan: "I realize that the human race is in a helpless and hopeless situation. They have all sinned against Me and have nothing with which to pay for their sins and no way of gaining My forgiveness. Therefore, I will PAY THE DEBT OF THEIR SINS FOR THEM. I will send my eternal Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, into the world to take the place of all who will trust in Him for their salvation. I will have Him die upon a horrible cross; as He is hanging there, I will put their sins upon Him, and He will pay for those sins. His resurrection from the dead will be proof that His payment was sufficient. Then, as time goes by, I will cause those for whom My Son will die to hear the gospel. I will send My Holy Spirit to convict them of their sin and to see their need of My forgiveness. And then I will put my Holy Spirit within them and enable them to trust in Christ alone for their salvation."

And thus, when a person hears the gospel message and is enabled by the Holy Spirit to trust only and exclusively in the saving work of Jesus Christ for salvation, that person is instantly declared forgiven and righteous by a holy God. There is no compromise of His character because all requirements for the debt of sin have been paid. God and the believing sinner are reconciled forever!

Do you see, friends, why I refer to God's forgiveness as the greatest blessing there is? Without His forgiveness, the sinner will go to hell forever as the just penalty for his or her sin. But with God's forgiveness, the believer will enjoy God's loving presence in heaven for all eternity. It's no wonder that the psalmist wrote those wonderful words which begin the 32nd Psalm: "Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man to whom the LORD does not impute iniquity." And that blessing goes on throughout the Christian's life. For we have this promise in 1 John 1:9: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." The sins a believer commits are forgiven on the same basis as the sins he committed up to the time of becoming a believer. They are all forgiven on the basis of the shed blood of Jesus Christ which washes those sins away. When the believer is convicted of sin, all he needs to do is run to his heavenly Father, confessing that sin to enjoy renewed fellowship with Him. It is my hope that each reader possesses this greatest of all blessings.

"A WHITE Carnation"

by- Don Taskila, Regent, ND

We definitely should spoil our mothers every day of the year. But Mother's Day (May 9th, 2021) gives us a non-forgetting opportunity to express our utmost thankfulness; and show returned appreciation for her willing years of serving unselfish, unmeasured kindness. Mother's Day serves as a reminder of what our mothers have done for us, and an impulse to action for children who have moved away to come home and make a loving fuss over their mothers.

Mothers are extremely important. They're the first people we know when we enter the world, and they 'Love and Care' for us as we grow up to adulthood, and even beyond that their loving and caring nature never stops. Thank GOD.

But how did Mother's Day come to be in the United States of America?

America's Mother's Day came into being through the resulting efforts of three notable women: Ann Reeves Jarvis, Julia Ward Howe, and "Anna" Jarvis (the unmarried daughter of 1st mentioned, Ann Reeves Jarvis).

Ann Reeves Jarvis... (Born: September 30, 1832, in Culpeper, Virginia Died: 116 years ago this (2021) Mother's Day... on May 9th, 1905, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania at the age of 72.) "She was" a social activist and community organizer during the American Civil War era. She is recognized as the mother who inspired Mother's Day and as a founder of Mother's Day Movements going forward.

Julia Ward Howe... (Born: May 27, 1819, in New York City Died: October 17, 1910, in Portsmouth, Rhode Island, age 91) "She was" an American poet and author, known for writing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the original 1870 Pacifist (a person who believes that war and violence are unjustifiable) Mother's Day Proclamation. She was also an advocate for abolitionism (the movement to end slavery) and a social activist, particularly for women's suffrage (the right of women to vote in elections).

"Anna" Jarvis... was the unmarried daughter of previously mentioned, Ann Reeves Jarvis. "Anna" is recognized as 'The Founder' of the American Mother's Day Holiday. (Born: May 1, 1864, in Webster, Taylor County, West Virginia Died: November 24, 1948, at age 84 in West Chester, Pennsylvania) "Anna" inspired by her mother (Ann Reeves Jarvis) who frequently expressed a desire for the establishment of such a holiday; so- after her mother's death, "Anna" led the movement for the commemoration which finally started taking place on May 10, 1913, when the U.S. House of Representatives passed a resolution calling on all federal government officials (from the president down) to wear a white carnation the following day in observance of Mother's Day.

The modern holiday of Mother's Day was first celebrated in 1907 when "Anna" Jarvis held a memorial for her mother at St. Andrew's Methodist Church in Grafton, West Virginia. St. Andrew's Methodist Church now holds the International Mother's Day Shrine. Her campaign to make Mother's Day a recognized holiday in the United States began in 1905, the year her mother, Ann Reeves Jarvis, died. Ann Reeves Jarvis had been a peace activist who cared for wounded soldiers on both sides of the American Civil War and created Mother's Day Work Clubs to address public health issues. She and another peace activist and suffragette Julia Ward Howe had been urging for the creation of a Mother's Day dedicated to peace. 40 years before it became an official holiday, Julia Ward Howe had made her Mother's Day Proclamation in 1870, which called upon mothers of all nationalities to band together to promote the "amicable settlement of international questions, the great and general interests of peace." Anna Jarvis wanted to honor this and to set aside a day to honor all mothers because she believed a mother is "the person who has done more for you than anyone in the world".

In 1908, the U.S. Congress rejected a proposal to make Mother's Day an official holiday, joking that they would also have to proclaim a "Mother-in-law's Day". However, owing to the efforts of "Anna" Jarvis, by 1911 all states in America observed the holiday, with some of them officially recognizing Mother's Day as a local holiday (the first being West Virginia, "Anna's" Home State, in 1910). Then on May 8, 1914, the U.S. Congress passed a law designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day and requesting a proclamation. The next day, 'May 9th', 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a proclamation declaring the First National Mother's Day, as a holiday to honor mothers.

"Happy Mother's Day!"

STAND UP TO Child Abuse

Child Abuse Prevention Month has never had more meaning

Preventing child abuse and neglect is an omnipresent societal concern, but every year, National Child Abuse Prevention Month shines a light on warning signs and preventive strategies to help protect the most vulnerable among us. Many child-welfare experts believe child abuse and neglect can be prevented through efforts such as increasing public awareness and developing community support systems. Scaffolding programs also provide critical support to struggling parents such as home-visiting programs and parent-support groups. Positive outcomes can be achieved by strengthening parenting skills, increasing knowledge about child development, and providing short-term child care relief to primary caregivers. The challenge to protect our children has never been greater. The impact of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) on daily life for citizens is extraordinary. Like the disaster Hurricane Harvey brought, many parents may now find themselves in an unprecedented situation with a lack of childcare, indefinite school closures, limited employment opportunities, and social isolation. Compounded with uncertainty, anxiety, fear, and frustration, the financial and emotional stress brought by the COVID-19 pandemic is likely to create a dangerous environment for children. Domestic violence, emotional and physical abuse, and child sex trafficking also present continuing threats to the sanctity of our families.

3:30 pm Princess Jocelyn will be taken on her

TOUR OF ROYALTY....

Stopping at each of the Enchanted Highway sites.....the Princess will be greeted by a motorcycle or two, who will present her with a gift, and they will then lead the van to the next sculpture, where another motorcycle will be stationed.

At the entry to Regent, Princess Jocelyn will be transferred to a horse drawn carriage, and will start her ride of Enchantment up Main Street of Regent. The carriage will be escorted by a group of local horse riders, who will throw out rose petals in front of the carriage.

In front of the carriage and horses a couple of local students will carry a banner, welcoming the Princess.

Along the way, she will be treated to music that is being played on Main Street; the street will have the light poles decorated and flags on each pole to guide the Princess up to the Castle.

Princess Jocelyn's subjects along the way will present her with flowers.

We need to have as many people and kids as possible to wave and cheer the Princess on as her carriage passes. Due to Covid and Princess Jocelyn's condition only her close relatives will be at the castle so - - -

Regent Development will be hosting a pulled pork meal and games for all who come and participate, starting at the Regent Slab, as soon as the Princess reaches the Castle. Then after she leaves, the castle will be open to an evening of family fun.

As the Carriage comes up to the front of the Castle, two students, or adults will play music, as the Princess is helped from the Carriage. She will then be escorted down a red carpet, under a number of swordsmen who will be honoring her with a sword tunnel.

As she enters the Castle, then into the Royal Ball Room, a DJ will provide music for the Princess and her entourage. She will then be greeted by the King and Queen, who will escort the Princess to a special chair where she will be given a Royal Sash.

She and all her guests will then be served a meal that is fit for a King. This meal is only being provided for Jocelyn and her family and her guests.

After a couple hours of enjoyment, the Princess will then be escorted from the Castle, to her van, which will be led out by the local fire department and ambulance, with lights and sirens blaring to let the people and the world know that Princess Jocelyn is leaving.

At this time the Royal Ball is open to all, and the rest of the evening is open to all families, to dance, and enjoy Princess Joce- lyn's coronation.

WE NEED YOU PLEASE HELP

We really need to have adults, kids, and anyone who wants to make Jocelyn's day special. To do this we would like to see a couple hundred people line the main street all the way up to the Castle. Remember this is her wish to be a Princess for a Day, and the Make A Wish group, and all of Hettinger County, want to make this day special for this young lady. If you can give a few hours of your time to make this happen, please do. If you cannot and want to make a donation to her, and to help make this event possible, any donation can be sent to the Dakota Western Bank, Regent, North Dakota. If you send a check, please make the check out to the Enchanted Highway, with a foot note that this is for the Make A Wish. This is what the Make a Wish Organization has requested. That way the extra funds can be donated to her parents to help with other expenses that may incur.

Author Sal Di Leo addresses business leaders, university students, civic organizations, and spiritual audiences about the power of generosity and gratitude. Sal's message includes:

Finding Gratitude in Adversity Can Change Your Life. "Everyone in life is dealt pain and hardship in some way. If you really look hard at your life you can discover the good and overcome the pain to be free at last. I would like to show you specific examples in my own challenging life to help you find your peace."

THANK YOU

The family of Dorwin Howe would like to express our heartfelt appreciation for the many condolences, kind words, food, floral bouquets, plants, visits and the many memorials that we received at his passing.

Thank you to Greg Jensen for his kind, caring support to plan a celebration of Dorwin's life. To Pastor Mary Wiggins for her uplifting message. Jill Sailer for the beautiful music. To Bill Austin for his special tribute. Many thanks to all the staff at West Rier Health Services who cared for Dorwin over many years. To Johnson-Melary Post 115 Honor Guard for the graveside military service. It is an inspiring farewell to those who served their county.

Memorials in Dorwin's name will be given to Adams County Fair Association, Adams County Judging Team, Dakota Prairie Helping Hands, Hettinger Cemetery Association, and West River Ambulance Fund. We are forever grateful.

Not that I'm about to die as the movie characters were, but it's time to start checking the lists. I've had a bucket list for years. Rule of thumb is to check off the list items, but to add a new one to replace it.

I remember my parents working and planning. They always planned what they would do. It was always 'someday' they would do this or go there. They waited too long. Then their conversations were about what they would like to do if only they could.

And so, my chapter of doing instead of planning has begun.

Tom and I have scheduled adventures for ourselves. Our adventures are things we've wanted do for awhile. Years really. Now is the time.

I've lost a number of people in the last few years.

I have a friend who always says he doesn't want to leave any would've, could've, or should've memories of the people he loves.

I don't want those memories either.

So, this chapter; this chapter of plan and complete will encompass many things.

If you are a reader of this column you know the chapter includes travel. But, there's more, much more that I want and will now do.

A part of the chapter has to include reaching out to others.

If we have means and opportunities to help or share with one another, now is the time. We never know the impact we may have on someone else.

Meanwhile Tom continues to create an amusement park for the grandkids in our backyard.

The trampoline arrived last week. Now all we need is a family work day and we'll get it assembled and kids jumping in no time.. Gotta love it.

Life is good today.

What's in your chapter?
 By Kathy Craig-Harteis

I've had a number of revelations in the past few months. I've come to the now or never chapter of my life.

The first shot of reality came in February when my grandson Bodhi was born. It was then that I realized just how old I'll be when this sweet baby graduates high school. Yikes!

In that moment I knew it was time to embrace the future.

After this past year of hunker down isolation, it just might be time to break free.

One of my favorite movies was "Bucket List" with Jack Nicholson and Morgan Freeman.

Stephen Joe Timroth Rites Held

Stephen Joe Timroth, 48, passed away on April 3rd, 2021, in Hettinger, ND.

Stephen was born February 27th, 1973 in San Diego, CA. Many people would describe him as a free spirit. His heart took him many places during his life and led him to South Dakota where he resided with his wife Deana and their two children until late 2019 when he moved to Hettinger, ND.

Stephen had a great love of life and a love for the many people he had met during his life journey. He had a quick sense of humor and a way to make you laugh even on a bad day. His big heart made him easy to love, along with his generosity and willingness to help others, which was felt by the people around him. He never shied away from hard work and his love of the outdoors gave him great skills while learning the aspects of life on the ranch. Whether it was calving through spring storms, running farm equipment, or building things he always took it in stride and with enthusiasm.

Stephen had many personal accomplishments in his life, one of which was having his children's book published in 2009. He was thrilled about this and even with him fighting dyslexia he would always have something to give his children. This first book in his Dreamworld series captured how much he loved all his children and Dreamhawk will always be that special gift to them from him. Most of all Stephen was proud of his children and would often share this with others. The love he had for them was as unconditional as any fathers' and he always wanted and hoped for the best lives for each of them.

Stephen is survived by his wife Deana (Akers) Timroth; children; Drake of Glenwood Springs, CO, Spencer and Layla of Parachute, CO, and Jaylien and Stephanie of Lodgepole, SD; Father and mother Drew and Joanne Timroth of Heber City, UT; four sisters; Anna Timroth of Heber City, UT, Laura Gisber of Heber City, UT, Kathryn Timroth of Kerhonkson, NY, and Kindahl Atwood of Tallahassee, FL; and grandmother Laura Hasti. His passing has left a huge void in our family and lives, but he will always be remembered in our hearts.

A private memorial service was held and can be viewed on our website at www.evansonjensenfuneralhome.com and clicking on Stephen's obituary. A link for viewing is provided at the top of his obituary.

Myron Larson Rites Held

Myron Larson, age 85, of Mott, ND, passed away at home on Sunday, May 2, 2021 in Mott, ND.

Funeral services for Myron were held at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, May 6, 2021 at the Evangelical Community Church in Mott, ND. Pastor Steven Meckle officiated with burial following in the Sunnyslope Cemetery at Mott.

The funeral service for Myron was live streamed through Myron's obituary on our website www.evansonjensenfuneralhome.com

Myron Dee Larson was born in Mott, ND, on August 1, 1935 to Svend and Dorothea (Waiheim) Larson. He was raised in Mott and attended Mott Public School, graduating in 1955. While still in school Myron started his first job. He purchased a pickup and turned it into a home-made school bus of sorts, complete with sides, a topper, and even seats in which to take kids to and from school. Following his graduation he began working for the local TV repair and radio tower installation business in Mott.

While at a dance in Haynes, ND, he met Shirley Barnhart. On July 28, 1957, they were united in marriage. Two children were born to this union, Myria and Monty. Myron and Shirley lived in Mott, raising their family, while Myron built a successful business constructing grain bins, numerous buildings in western North Dakota and operating numerous contract busing routes for area schools. Later, Myron and his brother, Vernon, started farming and ranching. His son Monty would join the farming venture raising grain and cattle. Myron was very proud of his achievements and was very ambitious.

While in business, Myron began flying, joking he wanted to have a big enough business to fly a Leer Jet. Myron was an IFR (instrument flight rules) multi engine rated pilot, and would often fly to different building projects he was working on. He enjoyed hunting and flying, spending time in the field, and was proud of being a lifelong member of the Elks.

Myron sold his cattle in 1999 and began focusing on crop production. He enjoyed working alongside his family until his health forced him to retire 2000.

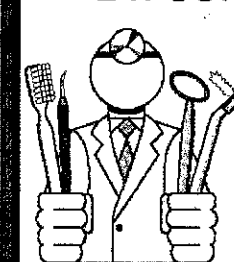

Myron is survived by his faithful and devoted wife, Shirley Larson, Mott, ND; one son, Monty (Jackie) Larson, Mott, ND; one daughter, Myria (Stephen) Perry, Beulah, ND; six grandchildren, Matthew (Amanda) Perry, Stephanie (Aaron) Hayden, Justeen (Dave) Hodgson, Mandy (Thiago) de Menezes, Josh Larson, and Marshall Larson, five great-grandchildren, Hope Hayden, Oliver and Willow Perry, Beriah and Durham Hodgson, and baby boy de Menezes due in June, 2021; two brothers, Vernon (Ramona) Larson, Mott, ND and Roger (Mary) Larson, Holmen, WI; one sister-in-law, Sharon Larson, Mott, ND; and numerous nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; and one brother, Jim Larson.

On line condolences may be sent through our website at www.evansonjensenfuneralhome.com

What could I do to benefit my community?

proud of is when he and Sid Stromme ventured to the Philippine Islands for five days where they auctioned off 369 pieces of heavy equipment for importers and exporters. Binstock recalled that experience as "unbelievable."

Over the span of 40-year career as an auctioneer, Binstock said he has learned the act of "pleasing people" and "trying to do the best for the seller."

"There's really no challenge, you just go talk to the people that want to have a sale and you book it. And then you go ahead and line it all up and, and try and do the best that you can for their merchandise. Do good advertising and try to get the most for their merchandise. It's really no challenge; it's just doing it," he said, laughing.

Now at 83, Binstock continues setting up sales with the help of two other colleagues. When asked if he will retire in the near future, Binstock said he will keep going until he can't auction anymore.

"It made me keep busy with my life," he said. "I had a lot of auctions and I (sometimes) go back and reminisce a little bit with the people; a lot of people have died since then. But it was an interesting lifestyle for 40 years and I'm still doing it."

Auctioneer Ed Binstock reflects on a few newspaper clippings from The Dickinson Press that detail his career as an auctioneer at his home in Dickinson on April 8. Binstock has been an auctioneer since March 1981 and he just celebrated his 40th year.

40 Years and Still Counting

By Jackie Jahfetsen
The Dickinson Press

His white cowboy hat echoes a resemblance to a clean cut George Strait. He sits in his office at his home in Dickinson as posters of upcoming and long since passed auctions paint the walls in memorabilia — marking 40 years of bid calling. Even at 83 years old, Ed Binstock's heart and mind yearn for the next sale on the list.

"Betty Botter bought some butter, but she said the butter's bitter. If I put it in my batter, it will make my batter bitter. So she bought a bitter better butter; put it in her bitter batter; made her bitter, better, better. So Betty Botter bought her bitter better butter," Binstock said, with a smile "It's just lingo that you go to practice once in a while."

Binstock, owner of Big E Auction Service of Dickinson, has served as an intermediary between buyer and seller through the southwest North Dakota's economic booms and busts. From household furnishings, farm equipment to antiques, Binstock has sold a little bit of everything. He has participated in several farm foreclosures or liquidations in southwest North Dakota over the years, and some he knew from childhood.

In December, Binstock was hit with a tripleheader challenge with being diagnosed with bladder cancer, viral pneumonia and contracting the coronavirus. But despite all of those complications, Binstock calls himself a survivor.

"I can't imagine that I'm still here. That's how sick I was," Binstock said. "...I still say prayers is what done it. Friends and family, that's about what it is."

Born on Oct. 27, 1937, in Regent, Binstock used to practice auctioneering on the dairy farm he ran for 24 years in his hometown. It was during that time Binstock decided he wanted to become an auctioneer.

"I just wanted to be. I used to walk down the aisle when was milking cows and I used to auction every cow off," Binstock said.

Before picking up the bid-calling career, Binstock later worked as a tank truck petroleum salesman and managed a truck stop café in Lemmon, S.D.

In March 1981, Binstock earned his diploma from the Western College of Auctioneering in Billings, Mont., known as the "Cadillac of auction colleges." Binstock noted that is where he learned his style, chant and overall values on how to be a good and successful auctioneer.

The name of his business was inspired by a lesson learned while attending auctioneering school, Binstock said, explaining that the instructors emphasized on the letter "E" with words such as equity, elaborate and energetic.

On June 27, 1981, Binstock conducted his first auction for the Regent Co-op Store.

"You could not believe the butterflies I had in my stomach," Binstock recalled in a previous Press article. "From then on, I loved to auction and sell anything and everything."

One of his biggest accomplishments Binstock is most

Mott-Regent Junior Class | Prom 2021

Somewhere in small-town North Dakota – Mott, to be exact, a junior class put together a prom. They decorated and dressed up all fancy, in sparkly dresses, fine suits, shiny shoes, flowers, and smiles, and enjoyed an evening of music, dancing, fun and friendship. At the same time, their parents came together to plan and provide a safe place to continue the fun!

We, along with our teens, are so grateful for the support that you have all so generously shown. With your donations of prizes, funds, food and services, we were able to provide a night of fun they will remember forever! We live in a wonderful community! Thank-You!
