"Mom, Mom, Joey's Mom and Dad are building a new house - can we too, can we too?" questioned Sam. "Don't think so Sam, they have more money than us, live in a bigger community, would be nice but - -." "Oh money - you always say no - - what can we do - we always have excuses," - - oh well - - and off Sam went with friends to play basketball.

Mom sat down at the kitchen table, thought about what Sam had said - - Mom you always say no - - then began to question herself - -.

Why - why do I always say no, can't be done - - kinda in a rut - maybe, maybe someone can help me. But who??

The next few weeks, Mom forgot or tried to forget about the house her and Sam had spoken about. Life went back to normal, make lunches for husband, take children to school, hold down job, fix meals - - all the everyday happenings - - life pretty happy except when Sam would throw in those tiny comments about his cousin in the city, who was building a new house.

One day, much to their surprise the house across the street was vacated. For Sale sign went up the next week - - Mom lost her best friend - now - who was she to talk to. People came and went looking at the house - no one yet. Then one day a moving van backed up to the house - neighbors- children - - what joy was celebrated. As the moving van eventually pulled away Mom decided - cookies - better bake - welcome them.

Jones' that's their name - Jones. Mom readied the box full of cookies, for she saw many little ones running around. Rang the door bell and much to her surprise a lady - with a cane and dark glasses appeared. "Mrs. Jones" - "Yes," she answered. Cookies - - Mom extended them to her, but instead of her accepting she said - - "please come in and place on the kitchen table." Then Mom realized her neighbor was blind. She thanked Mom and mom returned home.

As time went on Mrs. Jones and Mom became friends - but one thing Mom could never understand was why was Mrs. Jones house always clean, why did she see Mrs. Jones out weeding the flowers. How could she do all this? So one day she found enough courage to ask her, and Mrs. Jones told her this story - -.

"Many years ago I could see with my eyes - I ran around busy, many projects finished, running children here and there never really noticed anything. Then one day a car ran into me. I was in the hospital many months, everything turned out okay but I was blinded." Mom listened, tears flowed - - "But, now, you have a clean house, you work in the yard, how can you do that?"

"Oh, that's easy," said Mrs. Jones -- I learned to see with my heart. Now I see how beautiful my children are by the tone of their voices, I feel the dirt in my fingers, the leafs on plants are different. I smell the bread as it bakes - I can see with every part of my body - only not my eyes.

Mom went home, took out paper and pencil and began to write --.

Tom is a good husband

Sam is growing and beginning to question.

Debra is becoming a young lady.

Mrs. Jones is - - and the list continued. She folded it, placed it in her shirt pocket close to her heart - where it could be a reminder to her to practice seeing with her heart.

May we too begin to see the good in our communities and place them in the pocket of our heart.

BARN QUILT

I was asked to put together a class to paint Barn Quilts.
What is a barn quilt?
It is a large piece of wood that is painted to look like a quilt block.

The History goes back 300 yrs.
It was too costly to paint a barn so they painted different patterns on the barn. The designs were believed to protect and bring good fortune. Different patterns celebrated different heritages and helped to identify the farm. Today they are a work of art.
They are still used on barns but also on houses, garages, fenceposts and indoors etc.

2ft x 2ft boards are primed and ready to paint your design on.
I have some designs worked up, but feel free to bring your own ideas. You may not be able to finish in a day but the studio will be available to finish up at your leisure.

Zap holds second annual

"Zap Motor Daze."

By: Vivian Hernandez

What a pleasant surprise to spend a Saturday in Zap North Dakota at the "Zap Motor Daze!" The "Daze" events included a Car Show, ATV Mud Run, Garden Tractor Pull, Buy-Sell-Trade-Swap It, City Rummage Sales, Corn Hole Tourney, Pine Wood Derby Races, Marketplace Vendor Show, Kids Events, Motorized Bar Stool Races and a Street Dance. The Fireman served "Fleischkuele" in the fire hall.

Our grandsons got to race in their first ever Pine Wood Derby. It was no "Zip to Zap" but a good time was had by all, we're putting it on our must attend for 2022.

One never knows

Many years ago a young college man was writing for his college paper. As a joke he said party at Zap. Who ever heard of Zap, ND - - not many of us - - Spring college party there placed Zap forever in our memories. Now a community of - - - people, Zap still celebrates, works together - guess it pays to step out of our Comfort Zone. Who knows, maybe that one story kept the people in Zap believing they had something to offer

Come help us look at what can happen. Wednesday, October 6th at the Enchanted Castle, Regent, ND. You may just be the young man who creates an idea that will resonate in peoples hearts forever -- and instead of remembering Zap, the people will remember your community.

Goals: there's no telling what you can do when you get inspired by them. There's no telling what you can do when you believe in them. There's no telling what will happen when you act upon them.

Mott Lion News

On Monday, May 20th at the regular meeting of the Mott Lions, we received a visit from the District Governor of ND of 5 NW, Scott Ressler, whom some of you know as a former resident of Mott, the son of Pete & Dorothy Ressler. Following our regular business meeting, he presented Linda Huether with an award for being a member for the past 15 years and some ideas on how to keep our membership active and growing. It was a privilege to have him join us and share some of his thoughts with us. The following is a presentation that he gave that was very impressive and we wished to pass this along to you all.

What would happen if you had the opportunity to have a device that you would need to look yourself in the eye and review the day. You would get an honest overview of you day. There is nothing to compare to, not another person or group, just you. An honest look at you! Just imagine if such a device were available, how many people would be brave enough to sign up for it? Would you?

Imagine knowing at the end of the day how many acts of kindness we did.

Imagine knowing how many times we listened to someone to understand what they were saying and not needing to reply.

Imagine how many times we smiled at others

Imagine how many times we said thank you, please and meant it

Imagine getting a summary of how we did as a spouse

Imagine getting a summary of how we did as a parent

Imagine getting a summary of how we did at being a friend

Imagine knowing how many times we did the right thing without anybody knowing

Imagine knowing how many times we admitted when we were wrong and apologized

Imagine knowing how many times we put others ahead of ourselves

Imagine knowing how many times we stretched the truth

Imagine knowing how many times we got angry

Imagine knowing how many times we honestly considered someone else's view

Imagine how many times we accepted responsibility and didn't make excuses

Imagine knowing how many times we gave, without expecting anything in return

Imagine how many times we complimented someone

Imagine knowing how many times we went out of our way to help someone

Imagine how many times we practiced forgiveness

As a Lion, imagine knowing how much we served others.

JUST IMAGINE!

The motto of the Lions is 'We Serve'. We are part of the world's largest service organization. As a Lion, we have enormous potential to unite the world in peace through kindness and service. When we do service projects, we give back to our community and so many people in need, plus we have pride in what we do to serve others. If you are looking for ways to be involved, consider the Lions. Lions are local people getting together to help others. Is that something you are interested in doing? Ask a Lion or come to one of our meetings on the 3rd Monday of every month at the Pheasant Café. We would be glad to have you join us!

Respectfully submitted

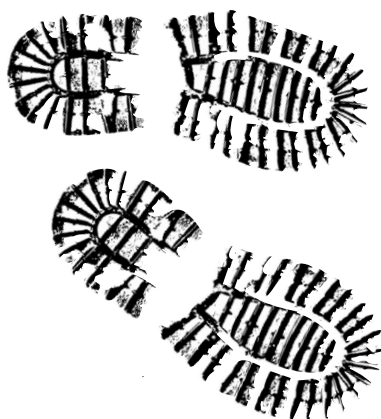

June Schmidt,

With a packed morning, the afternoon lent to some creative learning opportunities as it kicked off with "Business Speed Dating" an interactive game-show style panel that addressed what employees are looking for in the workplace. After the panel

Joni Nash and Danna Larson took the stage and delivered "Building a Better Community". Following this presentation panelists took the stage to talk and answer questions about conflict resolution. The day closed with Paul Long's keynote "Connecting the Workplace and Life through F.U.N."

Attendees responded: "It was so well put together. The speakers, food, and atmosphere were wonderful!"

"Very good speakers; good energy; and a quick, one-day conference filled with activity. It was nice how things kept moving."

"I really enjoyed the presentations. Terrific energy and outside-the-box type thinking!"

"It was refreshing to see so many learn and grow together again. By making just one manager, employee, or leader stronger, we are strengthening our entire region," said Fusion Team Member Shelby Kinkade.

My Community

My community is composed of people like me
I help make it what it is
It will be friendly if I am
It will be holy if I am

It's streets will be filled
If I help fill them
It will do great work, if I work
It will be prayerful if I pray

It will make generous gifts to
Many causes, if I am a generous giver
It will bring others into our communities, if I Invite and bring them

It will be a community of loyalty and love
Of fearlessness and strength
Of compassion, charity and mercy
If I who make it what it is
Am filled with these same things

Therefore with the help of God
I now dedicate myself to the task
Of being all things I want
My community to be.

A LITTLE BIRDIE TOLD ME

By Vivian Hernandez

A Little Birdie Told Me: The mystery "Sal" has been revealed! Sal Di Leo, is coming to the Enchanted Castle on Oct 6th: if you missed his bio in last week's paper be sure to go to eidoconnect.com and read it. If you are a community leader or concerned about small town America, don't miss this presentation. It's not everyday a speaker of his caliber takes time to visit with small town folks with the intent of helping us develop a VISION for the future of our communities. If you're frustrated with the decline in our small towns and don't know where to turn for help this is for you. Sal gives practical, sometimes hard to swallow advice about the direction our communities are going, how to change by first taking a look at our past, present and future. He'll be asking us to take a hard look at ourselves, are we part of the problem or the solution? It's been said "Small Towns are the Backbone of America" right now we might feel a bit bent over walking into a good old North Dakota "Breeze" but now is not the time to give up! Let's come together at the Enchanted Castle on October 6th and learn how we can build our communities into something beautiful for the future.

A Little Birdie Told Me: "It's never too late to do great things for our communities and world!"

What could I do to benefit
my community?

Midnight Train to Georgia

By Kathy Craig-Harteis

As the song says; we're about to leave on a midnight train to Georgia. In actuality it's an morning departure in a Camry, but the end destination is the same.

Finally after two years of canceling and rescheduling we are making the long awaited trip south.

We plan to take our time and see as much of the south as we can. We plan to explore and of course indulge in some of that fine southern cooking.

The bonus will be visiting our dear friends Gary and Katherine Teragawa in Georgia. Along the way home we will see my cousins Jimmy and Deena, both in Arkansas.

I'm used to making cross country trips, but always before to California. This will be an all new adventure for me.

I've been to Arkansas before, but as a child so I wasn't driving.

I have high hopes of seeing some beautiful fall colors. We'll spend three days in Kentucky and visit the replica Noah's Ark.

Just imagine; fall foliage and blue grass!

Nothing makes me happier than a road trip and this one promises to be a doozy.

We are blessed to be able to do this, and we're blessed to have daughter Velvet taking care of Rocky. Maybe he'll have better manners when we get back.

Growing up, my dad's baby sister Betty lived with us. Although she's my aunt, we agree we are more like sisters. This week Betty fell and fractured her hip. She did great in surgery but will have six weeks of rehabilitation.

I called to talk to her and as usual she was upbeat and rolling with the circumstances. If you pray, please pray for Betty. She's a special person for sure. The last day of summer was this week. We covered the pool, but the grandkids visited and are still able to use the trampoline for a while longer.

With the end of summer comes the anticipation of fall and winter events. I'm a sucker for all of the holiday events and preparations. It does my heart good.

Life is good today.

Think of what you can do with what there is.

Thoughts for the Day

By June Schmidt

One of the phrases that I used to hear when I was young was 'a women's work is never done' and I was wondering do we still think of things as women or men's work?

Sure there are things that men seem to do better than women which is mostly due to build and strength, but I think that the phrase that was in 'a song I remember that goes 'anything you can do I can do better' may apply in some cases.

When it comes to household jobs is there such a thing as women's work? I think that when you share a house you share the responsibility of maintaining that house. When we are young our parents show us how to do certain things and maybe that has something to do with what we think belongs to one gender or another, but it really shouldn't. There is nothing wrong with a man learning to cook as evidenced by many famous chefs out there and when they say that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, I think that if a man cooks for his significant other that can go pretty far in a woman's estimation as well. Although, cleaning up after you cook may be more special than the actual meal.

In today's world with women and men having jobs outside the home, there needs to be some accommodation in sharing the household chores as much as sharing the expenses. How many women try to 'do it all' and end up being overtired and depressed because they can't meet the ideal that they show on TV of the perfect wife. That can put stress on a marriage that is hard enough to maintain in the first place. Sometimes its just as simple as picking up after yourself and not expecting the other party to clean up your mess. That's a small price to pay to keep the peace in a shared household.

When I was little I was taught to 'put away' my toys and books when I was done with them and if I didn't do that I was told that if I didn't respect my toys they would be given to a little girl that didn't have what I had as they would respect them more than I. Not having a lot of toys in the first place that was a pretty big threat, so I always put my toys away. When I grew up, the habit to clean up after myself was already established. Am I a perfect housewife? Not hardly. Some days I am better than others, but I do believe in putting things away and it seems to work for me.

So what does that mean in real life terms? Consideration is what I think it means. When you agree to share a life with someone, you must think of their needs as well as your own. If you cook better then do that, and if you don't then do the cleanup. When you make a mess, clean it up and don't expect someone to do it for you just cause you don't want to. If you don't there are consequences that can make life difficult for you and the others that you live with. Sure you can create your 'pile' and you may not feel that you are hurting anyone, but are you? Are you making harder for someone else because you don't 'feel like it' when it comes to cleaning? Could you lose a relationship because they get tired of your mess? Something to think about.

As for me, I am happy to have a spouse that understands that we both live in the same house and we work together to maintain that house. That makes it easier for both of us and lessens the frustrations of the day. Has that come over time? Yes, it doesn't happen over night, but if you really want to make your spouse happy, do something special for them, like a favorite meal or the vacuuming and you may be pleasantly surprised at the result. Just a thought.

A LITTLE BIRDIE TOLD ME

By: Vivian Hernandez

A Little Birdie Told Me: "A Sunday drive can turn into a great adventure." On a recent visit to my Uncle Fr. Charles Heidt's home near Garrison I was given several large Easter Candles from years past. I do some crafts with old candles but these being blessed Easter Candles I felt they should be used for something special. Several years ago Fr. James Kilzer from the Assumption Abbey in Richardton visited St. Mary's in New England with his handmade candles from - you guessed it old candles. After Mass on Sunday seemed the perfect time to take a drive, visit Fr. Kilzer and drop off the many pounds of candles and raw bees

Father James Kilzer

wax I'd been given.

Sunday drives are meant to be leisurely, a time to "Stop & Smell The Roses." My husband was in the driver's seat and took the Lefor road, which to my surprise came out on Highway 8 north of Mott and on into Richardton. We arrived just as the Monks and their guests were finishing lunch. Fr. Kilzer helped unload his loot and was happy to escort us to the gift shop and wine cellar.

mond in the rough. The variety of handcrafted items is something to behold. In addition to the candles made by Fr. Kilzer the pottery created by Brother Llewellyn Kouba is a must see. Brother Llewellyn collects and processes local clays, which is time consuming, and labor intensive. It can take up to two months to create enough pottery to fill the 45 cubic foot down/draught kiln. Items in the gift shop are not sold on line or the only way to enjoy the beauty of these handcrafted gems.

Now onto the wine cellar one of my favorite places to visit. The Abbey first starting selling wine in the early 1960's: in an effort to support the Abbey Schools. The Abbey has never made the wine sold contrary to popular belief. The Abbey allowed the Brookside Winery of Guasti, of California to sell wine under the "Assumption Abbey" label. Labels were printed in Germany and the Abbey received royalties for the use of their name. The Brookside Winery was sold in the mid 1980's the vineyard was replaced with a housing development. The monks came to an agreement with San Antonio Winery of Los Angeles, the labels are printed in the Abbey Press. Labels are sent to California and come back with wine bottles glued to them. As luck would have it Cabernet and Merlot were out of stock (my wines of choice) re-stocking can take up to two months, just in time for Christmas.

Assumption Abbey is so ture, fine art, good food (homemade bread, fruitcake are also for sale) the beauty of nature and the seasons, the Abbey has all this to offer. The gift shop is open Monday - Saturday 1-3 and upon request. The wine cellar is open upon request, just stop in to the Assumption Abbey Visitor Center and ask the friendly monk for tour.

A Little Birdie Told Me: "Get off the beaten path, take a Sunday drive you just might find a Diamond in the Rough."

Just a short note - Fr. James Kilzer is from Mott, Brother Llewellyn Kouba is from Regent, and Fr. Charles Heidt is from New England.

"In a One-Room Schoolhouse"

by Don Taskila - Regent, ND

One-Room Schoolhouses (the kind of schoolhouse that Laura Ingalls Wilder, Author of the Little House on the Prairie series- studied and taught in herself) were commonplace throughout rural portions of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming. Yes, in fact, in All of America before 1861 when primary education became compulsory, a lot of people in the United States received their education in a one-room schoolhouse. One-Room Schoolhouses thrived in both the 19th & 20th centuries serving many rural or isolated regions, several of these schools had a bell at the ridge of the roof. The ringing of the school bell announced important times to the school's students, such as marking both the start of the school day and its ending, as well as recess breaks. America's One-Room Schools still exist although they've dwindled from 190,000 in 1919, to fewer than 400 sprinkled across the United States today.

We have come a long way from the simplicity of the well-known little One-Room 'White' Schoolhouse, though it needs to be noted that some One-Room Schoolhouses were painted 'Red'. "The Little Red Schoolhouse... Why was it 'Red'?" There are countless references to the Little Red Schoolhouse in history and literature. The references are vivid, conjuring our image of the typical one-room school, although country schools were often built of logs or brick, or of clapboard siding painted red, white, yellow, or even blue. The question may be asked again...why red? The original pioneer One-Room Schoolhouses were built of hewn wood logs, whereas the see-through cracks were plastered with clay or mud to hold back the wind and weathering COLD. These buildings were not painted- 'Until about, after the Civil War Time' houses, barns, and schoolhouses were covered with sawmilled boards (lumber). Buildings then started being painted to give them a paler color and protect the wood from the ravages of seasonable weather. In the early days of the northeastern United States, little 'Red' Schoolhouses were as common as red barns. Why? Because in the early days there was no scarcity of iron ore. When iron ore- or iron oxide- was ground fine, it could be used as an inexpensive paint pigment generally called 'Venetian Red'. In those early days of making color paints, one liquid with which iron oxide 'Red' pigment was mixed was none other than "Hello, Buttermilk". Eventually, 'White' Schoolhouses came into being when the United States started mining its own lead supply (rather than expensively importing it), and the price of lead oxide, first used to make 'White' paint- dropped, making it cheaper and more popularly accepted. Today... Paint manufacturers have replaced (health and environmentally hazardous) white lead with a less toxic substitute, titanium white (based on the pigment titanium dioxide), which was first used in paints in the 19th century. Titanium dioxide is often coated with silicon or aluminum oxides for durability.

Now that I can tell you that 'Red' and 'White' paint mixed properly can make "PINK", let's continue our history walk "In a One-Room Schoolhouse". Let's revisit what going to school was like in the late 1800s? To start with, imagine everyone in school sharing only one teacher (male or female) in one classroom. Usually, only one teacher would typically have students in the first through eighth grades and taught them all. The number of students varied from six to 40 or more. Sometimes the youngest children sat in the front, while the older students sat in the back, but really seating was left to the teacher's discretion. The teacher usually taught reading, writing, arithmetic, history, and geography. Students memorized and recited their lessons. Their computer was a set of encyclopedias. The teacher's desk may have been on a raised platform at the front of the room, and there was a wood/coal-burning stove. The bathroom was outside in an out-house.

There are volumes that can be written about One-Room Schoolhouses, but I'm going to close by mentioning 'Lunch-time'. Moms would make the school lunches for their children. She would typically pack thick slices of homemade bread around layers of jelly and peanut butter, wrapped in wax paper. Sometimes those two slices of bread held a slab of Spam. An apple, an orange, or a brownie might have come with the sandwich. There were nine children in my dad's family, he and his two brothers each shared six sisters. His mother made six loaves of bread at a time. She had the old-fashioned bread box filled with flour, purchased in 50-pound or 100-pound cloth bags. In that flour bin sat a hand-operated sifter. My dad had vivid memories of his mother kneading the dough, rolling it over and over in flour, placing the dough in bread pans, opening the big door of the wood-burning oven, and placing six bread pans inside, then closing the door with a hot pad. Some kids brought their lunch in syrup cans or lard cans that had nice carrying handles. Maybe about half the kids had a rectangular lunch box.

Margaret Lyon Reno Rites Held

Margaret Lyon Reno, age 105, of Lemmon, SD, passed away on Monday evening, September 13, 2021 at the Five Counties Nursing Home in Lemmon, SD.

Funeral Services for Margaret were held at 11:00 a.m. on Tuesday, September 21, 2021 at the Spencer Memorial Presbyterian Church in Lemmon, SD. Chaplain David Peterson officiated with burial at 2:00 p.m. at the Gallaway Cemetery south of Meadow, SD. The funeral service was livestreamed and a link will be available at the top of Margaret's obituary. You can view the service by clicking "View Funeral Service Here".

Margaret (Tidball) Lyon Reno, age 105, passed away on September 13, 2021. She was born June 13, 1916 in Faith, SD to Watson H Tidball and Anna (Paulson) Tidball. She was the oldest of 8 children and grew up along Black Horse Creek in southwest Corson County on her parent's ranch, where she tended to the horse herd. She attended local school through the 8th grade then graduated from Isabel High School in 1934. She attended St. Joseph School of Nursing in Pierre for 1 year.

On July 13, 1936 she married Newton Franklin (NF) Red Lyon at Bison, SD. In 1941 Margaret and Red purchased a ranch east of Coal Springs, SD where they raised their 7 children.

Margaret was a true pioneer of the prairie. Being raised by homesteaders, she lived through tough times which taught her to be determined, resourceful and to get by with what was available, sometimes that was very little.

Margaret had many talents, she was the go to person in the community for nursing or medical advice on anything, animal or human. She had a love for cooking and teaching that talent to her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. She could put a wonderful meal together for unexpected guest as if she knew they were coming. She had a lifelong quest for learning, she taught herself how to do many things such as type, take shorthand, sew and knit. She always had an interest in oil painting. Once again she taught herself and in the fall of 1991 she decided to take some painting classes at Northern State University.

Margaret was a founding member of Meadow Community Presbyterian Church, where she hosted church services in her home before there was a church building. She was a member until 2001 when she transferred to Spencer Memorial Presbyterian, Lemmon SD. She was a lifetime member of the Order of Eastern Star joining in 1950.

Wanting a new challenge in life, Margaret and a friend bought the Granny's Café in Faith which she operated for a few years. That meant she started her day early to drive the 43 miles to Faith and have pies baked by opening time.

In 1990 Red, her husband of 54 years passed away. Margaret remained on the ranch until April 1992 when she married Russell Reno. At this time she moved to Coeur d'Alene, ID, leaving the prairie that had been her home her whole life. In 2001 Russel passed away and Margaret moved back to the ranch. Even though Coeur d'Alene was beautiful, Margaret missed the wide open prairie. She later moved to an apartment in Lemmon and in 2008 to Five Counties Nursing Home.

All the things she did in life was led by her faith in Jesus Christ. She was kind and loving in all things. Her life resembled the Bible verse, Ephesians 4:32 "Be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving one another, just as God also forgave you in Christ."

She was preceded in death by her parents and both husbands; daughters Laska Schoenfelder, LuAnne Jordan; son Vivan Lyon; son-in-law, Mike Schoenfelder; grandsons Cody Lyon, Kevin Jordan; sisters, Patsy Monnens, Betty Everidge; brothers, James Tidball, Bill Tidball, Sam Tidball, and Keith Tidball.

She is survived by sons Jim (Joan) Lyon, Norman (Sue) Lyon, Ralph (Shari) Lyon; daughter Barbara (Tony) Lorenz; son-in-law Irving Jordan; daughter-in-law, Barbara Lyon; sister, Nora (Jim) Anderson; 23 grandchildren; 52 great grandchildren; and 61 great great grandchildren.

Condolences may be sent through our website at www.evansonjensenfuneralhome.com.

Karolina (Schauer) Nible Rites

Karolina (Schauer) Nible was welcomed into Jesus' arms on September 11, 2021. At the time she was a resident of the Good Samaritan Society Nursing Center in New Underwood, SD. Karolina suffered from the auto immune disease of rheu-matoid arthritis for over 45 years.

Karolina was born on May 17, 1934, in the summer kitchen on the family farm at Havlock, ND, to Jacob and Louisa (Dill) Schauer, Jr. She was the 6th of 13 children. Karolina attended the Alden #3 country school for her 1st through 8th grades of school. She attended Regent High School for 9th through 12th grades, graduating in 1953. She then attended the Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis, MN, graduating in 1955. Following her graduation from LBI, Karolina moved to Spokane, WA, where she met Frank R. Nible. Karolina and Frank were married September 2, 1956, in Regent, ND. Born to this union were sons Gregory Alan, Jeffrey Charles, Bradley Wayne, and daughter Nancy Lynelle. Frank's enlistment in the USAF took them to Dover, NH; Cheyenne, WY; and Oklahoma City, OK. Following Frank's retirement from the USAF they lived in Rapid City, SD, and Buffalo, SD, where she resided for 47 years. She was blessed to have traveled to all of the lower 48 states, Mexico and Canada. In late 2011, Karolina bought the house next door to her daughter and moved to Rapid City.

In earlier years Karolina taught Sunday School and Vacation Bible School at various churches, and she led the Good

Reflections on the Words of Life

by Pastor Paul Ferrie, Grace Reformed Church of the Lord Jesus, New Leipzig

I'd like for us to begin looking together at a very exciting and encouraging book in the Bible which sets forth the great sovereignty and power of God in the affairs of men and nations. It is also one of the most attacked books in the Bible—the book of Daniel. Why is this book so opposed by critics? Because it is so full of the miraculous. In a day when probably a majority of those on our planet are denying the existence of God and desirous of eradicating all thoughts of God from our thoughts, the book of Daniel is a nuisance. There is hardly a page you can turn to in the book where the sovereignty and supernatural power of God are not made manifest.

Another thing that bothers the critics about this book is the fact that Daniel is full of the most amazing prophecies, many of which have already been fulfilled to the letter. Some of the prophecies focus on the rise and fall of four major kingdoms. These kingdoms began with the Babylonian Empire, followed by the Medo-Persians, Greeks, and finally Rome. In these prophecies are revealed—sometimes in remarkable detail—what would occur over the next four hundred years of history. Now we can only marvel at the omniscience of God who revealed such things to His servant Daniel.

The late Dr. R.C. Sproul spoke about the view of many in our day that the universe is a "closed system." This means that the universe is closed to outside influence and is basically the product of what goes on inside of it.

But the teaching of Scripture, and particularly the book of Daniel, is that the universe is not only an open system, but it is God's system. He created it, and He governs it after the counsel of His will and for His good pleasure. He is the God who is both able, and, at times, finds it within His good pleasure to reveal His secrets to His people as He did to Daniel. He is also the God who is able and finds great pleasure in intervening in the affairs of men on behalf of His people, even if it sometimes means overruling His own natural laws.

Daniel is full of encouragement for the people of God through all generations. As a young man Daniel was taken captive by the Babylonians, separated from his family, and brought to live in a pagan nation, far from his beloved homeland of Judah. Yet he lived through the seventy-year captivity to see God fulfill His promise given by the prophet Jeremiah that He would restore His people to their own land after seventy years. The book of Daniel shows us that God is able to make His people stand in an environment which is opposed to God and His Word. It's one thing to live for God when the government is supportive and the spiritual climate of the country is one of revival. But it is quite another to live for God when the government is oppressive and hostile and when there are only a handful of those seeking to walk with the Lord. Yet, these are the very conditions under which Daniel not only lived, but thrived and remained faithful to the Lord. The book of Daniel ought to be an encouragement to us in showing us that real spirituality and personal integrity often grow best, not when conditions are such that Christians are pampered and protected like plants in a greenhouse, but rather when they are exposed to every kind of adversity. This book is a testimony to the faithfulness of God to His people.

Lord willing, next time we shall consider more about this wonderful book, but I want to close by asking an important question: Is the God of Daniel your God? We are living in a country that is becoming more and more like Babylon in its hostility to Christianity. Do you have the comfort of knowing that God is your loving Heavenly Father who will take care of you and see you through whatever might come your way in this life? Do you know that when you die, you will be ushered immediately into the presence of the Lord Jesus to spend a happy eternity with Him? If not, you can. Simply go to God with a sincere heart, telling Him that you realize you are a sinner who needs His forgiveness and salvation and that you are relying only on the payment which the Lord Jesus Christ accomplished on the cross to restore you to a right relationship with Him. God never refuses anyone who truly comes to Him in this way.

New Leipzig Oktoberfest

Friday night consisted of the annual bonfire and the firemen starting up the pit for Saturday night's meat. As well as a Prime Rib and Knoephla supper followed by the Pearly Shells playing in the community center for the Friday night dance. Saturday morning started off with the 5k, followed up by the parade! Main street was beautifully decorated. This year Dakota community bank took home the prize for the Fall Decoration Contest (Businesses). After the parade we took in the outhouse race! 4 5 man teams raced their outhouses 1 block, the team to get their toilet paper roll onto the plunger at the finish line won. Team Sh*t Rocket walked away with the trophy.

No one starved! Catholic church served fleischkuekle, knoepla soup and borscht soup; Lutheran church served pigs in a blanket; JMHCC Auxiliary served fry bread. We also had Wurst Wagon serving porkchops, brats, and other foods on main street and The Line Camp with tasty ice cream treats.

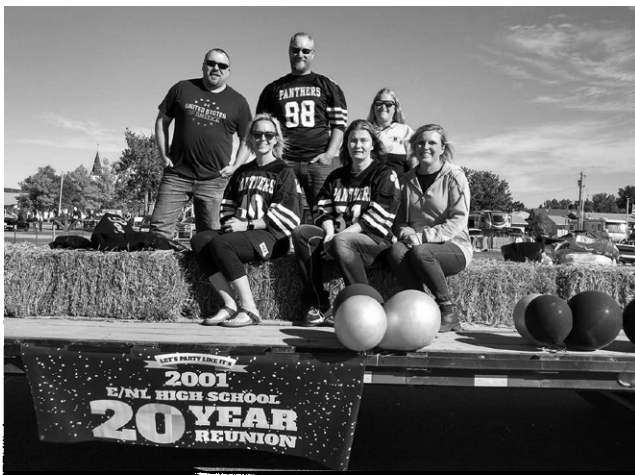

Following Lunch we raced the ducks!! Archer Durerr was the lucky duck! :) The children enjoyed cooling off in the water puddles. We brought out the mini bikes and trikes; and aired up the bouncy castle for some well attended afternoon entertainment. Can't forget about the turtle races, kids tractor pull, treasure hunt, Clarence Stelter annual tractor trek, and redneck golf. Fireman's barbecue started at 5 and they served 550 meals. 50/50 raffle cash winner was Marie Woods, Dirty Word Tshirt winner Kacey Isbell. Dirty word was a blast as always, can't wait to have them back for next year!

Sunday morning's All Faith Worship was held at Immanuel Lutheran with a brunch after. Offering designated to the New Leipzig Fire District. Main street was lined with classic cars and pickups in the afternoon for the 2nd annual car show. They took a cruise up to Lake Tschida to stop at The Line Camp for a bite to eat.

Alroy & Marcy Hochhalter won Yard of the Year.

Thank you to everyone that attended and supported our little town. We hope to have you back next year. And thank you to the New Leipzig Oktoberfest Committee as well as the Town & Country Boosters.
