

Truths in favor of Zoos

Zoos don't exploit animals

Every year, zoos spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on conservation and environmental education.

Zoos don't take animals out of the natural habitat

Zoos exchange, reproduce and reintegrate many species, thus avoiding wildlife trafficking.

Zoos don't make sad Animals

Humanizing wild animals is a common argument.
Modern zoos provide all the physical and mental needs of animals.

Zoos release animals

Dozens of species have been reintroduced by the existence of zoos and their conservation programs.

Zoos teach, conserve, rescue, rehabilitate, preserve, research.

Zoos inspire new generations
