

Using Ad Block Plus

1. You now have a “browser extension” in Google Chrome called Ad Block Plus. This program helps to stop ads and popups from occurring, which can help prevent viruses (and scareware!). It looks like this:

2. You will see the little number on the stop sign change as it blocks ads and popups.
3. On some websites, you will see a message that says you need to disable your adblocker to continue viewing their site. If you wish to see the site, click on the ABP stop sign. This will pop up:

4. To disable the pop-up blocker for the site you are on, click on the larger top blue button to disable. Then a refresh button will appear near the bottom. Click it. Now ads are “enabled”!
