Message from the Menahel:

Shabbos Chanukah just passed, and it reminded me exactly where Bnos Miriam is right now. Our school is on fire – grounded in a clear mission, backed by the community, and moving forward with confidence.

I feel a real sense of לִיהְיוֹת וְלַהֲלֹל and deep gratitude for the obvious יד ה' י' י' we saw at our event, Around the Piano with Yossi Green, last Thursday. The support that came out for Bnos Miriam sent a clear message: this community cares about our girls, and they want to make sure that we are here to stay. The energy in the room gave us real chizuk and reinforced that we are building something lasting in Lakewood. We look back with appreciation and move forward knowing how much we have already accomplished – and how many more will be impacted as we continue building.

הַרְבֵּם בְּדַעַתִּים is what happens when a small group of people stay focused, committed, and believe deeply in what they are building. Bnos Miriam has become a strong, high-quality school where every student is known, supported, and expected to rise to the occasion. Our progress is reflected not only in numbers, but in the caliber of students we are attracting and the young women they are becoming.

וְלֹא יָסַר. Each year, we add light – more students, more opportunity, more direction. What began modestly continues to expand. With our new campus, designed to support learning, creativity, and development, we are entering a new stage of strength and possibility. One light leads to another, and the impact reaches well beyond our walls.

הַרְבֵּת הַלְּלָה קַוְשֵׁת. Our students matter. We hold them to real standards while giving them care, respect, and dignity. We stay focused on who they are today and who they are becoming. It is a real nachas to watch.

Thank you to Hashem for the bracha that is so evident. Thank you to our parents for their trust and partnership. Thank you to our board members and growing circle of supporters whose belief in Bnos Miriam fuels our mission. And thank you to our devoted staff, who give their לְבִנְגַּשְׁת every day to educate, guide, and uplift our girls.

With a clear mission, a strong foundation, and a promising future, we keep moving forward – adding light and building momentum, one student at a time.
