1951 Greenville Girl Scouts

In 1951 over 300 local Greenville girls were part of the Girl Scout troops, including Brownies and Girl Scout members. They posed for a picture at the Health Camp in the City Park which at that time was near the swimming pool, and this picture shows most of those over six years old who were members at that time. The photo was enlarged and mounted on plywood, then varnished to be preserved. Some faces of some of the individuals have faded but many can still be identified. Water damage and 60+ years of wear have made the picture weaker. When the original Girl Scout Little House that was built in 1942 was torn down, a new Little House was built in 1993. This picture is an invaluable piece of local history and was rescued from a trash dumpster by our former GHS Alumni Association President Nancy Arens Parker, GHS 1962. Before her death she passed this on to her classmate Georgia Swab Young, GHS 1962, and now it belongs to Shirley Cohee Hughes, GHS 1955.

1916 Class Song Sheet Music

Common to many of the older classes at G.H.S. and at other high schools of that era, was a “Class Song” written for that class by one of its classmates. This “1916 Class Song” was written by Agnes Trainor, GHS 1916, and this copy was donated to our Alumni Association by Martha Grim Warvel, a Palestine H.S. grad. Martha’s husband, Devon Warvel, GHS 1940, was a cousin of Elizabeth McCabe, GHS 1916, who originally owned this sheet music copy. Elizabeth was an English teacher at GHS from 1921 to 1926 and later taught in Chillicothe and Columbus. Elizabeth and her sister Mary McCabe, GHS 1923, never married. The Warvel family has been a longtime GHS family, with three children: Joyce Warvel Travis, GHS 1966, and her late husband Jerry Travis, GHS 1971, Debbie Warvel Begoon, GHS 1972, and Debbie’s daughter Charlene Begoon Wright, GHS 1991, and Tim Warvel, GHS 1977, and wife Kathy Young Warvel, GHS 1977, and their children, Whitney Warvel Cole, GHS 2006, and Chad Warvel, GHS 2003, and wife Deven Rademachir Warvel, GHS 2003. Thank you, Martha, for making us aware of an art lost in history.

Over a hundred years ago, the city of Greenville had a distinctively different look. Classes chose colors and songs to be unique to their class. The “purple banner ‘gainst the gray smoke of the sky” mentioned in the song was either the class colors or the school colors at that time. These colors were present on the cover of the first GHS Yearbook in 1911 and possibly represented the school colors then. This music ended with, “Old G.H.S. Your walls with praise will ring”. The building which housed GHS at that time (1916) was the old red-brick West School building (1868-1923) before the Central Avenue yellow brick building was built in 1923 at the same location. The city was not spread out as much as it is today and with commercial activity focused around the central business district. The author of this class song, Agnes Trainor, lived about three blocks northwest of the school on Vine Street. Here is a 1912 postcard of that school and the cover of the first GHS Yearbook. It is hard to imagine anyone or any class writing their own “class song” in today’s world.

There will be a history of the Trainor family in the Spring, 2020, Alumni Newsletter.

A program from one of Agnes Trainor Keehan's music recitals dated June 6, 1967, was loaned to us by Jeanette Funk Patton GHS 1954. The Master of Ceremonies was Clarence "Clancy" Plessinger, GHS 1936. Clancy's daughter Helen Plessinger Miller, GHS 1966, sang two of the performances at this recital. Clarrissa Westerman, GHS 1969, was a current G.H.S. student at that time and also sang two songs. Karen Hoover Henninger, GHS 1959, recalls taking voice lessons from Mrs. Keehan for a couple years when she was in junior high school (mid 1950s), and Cathy Buell Cornell, GHS 1966, took voice lessons for a year while in high school (mid 1960s).

The Spring edition of the AlumNews will share a history of the Trainor family, with some accompanying pictures.
