

Screen Printing Customized T-Shirts are always a great idea as a cheap promotional giveaway for businesses and corporations. And our online catalogue allows you to be as creative as you want, offering more than just colorful tees for your promotional campaigns. Our custom screen printing process can be used to decorate hoodies, golf shirts, tank tops, V-neck, sweatshirts, ball caps, and nearly any article of clothing that you can imagine.

Build Team Spirit for Company Outings Choose traditional White T-Shirts with a vibrantly colored screen print or go for something really unique like a Tie Dyed Tee with a creative marketing slogan. For company outings, why not provide your staff with customized T-Shirts that include a funny saying on the front and your company logo on the back? This creates a sense of team spirit that can improve employee morale.

Or for a slightly more understated design, select a collared shirt with the placement of your company emblem on the side of the sleeve or on the breast pocket. Your choices are unlimited at On the Job Embroidery & Apparel, and we have a team of experienced and professional screen printers always standing by to help you get the creative juices flowing.

Use Screen Printing for Marketing Campaigns and Free Give-Aways Screen printing can be used very affordably on nearly any type of fabric. This makes this process a very cost-effective method of boosting your brand name recognition by giving away free tees and ball caps to your valued and cherished customers and clients. On the Job Embroidery can produce these items in bulk quantities and with very little notice. Just send us a copy of your company logo, and we will do the rest.

Or perhaps you want to try a design that is completely “outside the box”. Ask one of your most artistic employees to draft up a sketch of the desired design, and send it to our team of expert screen printers. We will finalize the artwork, sending you a professional rendering of the intended final print prior to completing the screen printing process. Once you have accepted the final artwork, we will begin mass producing your customized T-Shirts, ball caps, or golf shirts right away.

Nothing is Off Limits when it comes to Screen Printing On the Job Embroidery has produced some of the most amazing promotional items imaginable, from beach towels to knit headbands for sporting events. We can even provide our screen printing services on a pair of silly socks or on a special banner for a company party. Is your company about to perform a massive, year-end inventory? Why not buy your team of volunteer employees a set of uniquely creative company tees with a silly saying as a way of showing your gratitude?

Do you have a team of regular clients who have been by your side, through thick and through thin, in good times and in bad? Give them a screen printed tee that names them as “Client of the Year”. How about a screen printed handbag for your female staff and clients? Nothing is off limits when you shop for screen printing at On the Job Embroidery & Apparel.
