NLBRA Cattle Pattern

Since we will be using roping cattle in the cattle work we have decided to change the required work to better fit the cattle being used. A steer will be released from the roping chute to the arena. At this time the contestant must hold the steer at that end of the arena for enough time to demonstrate the ability to hold cattle. After a reasonable amount of time, the contestant shall take the steer down the fence, then she must make a turn with the steer in either direction, at this point contestant may make additional maneuvers at their discretion before then pushing the steer back to the sorting pen to exit the arena. Contestants will be given a minute and a half to complete this. They will be given a 30 second warning and then a time signal. The judge should take into consideration the size of the arena, condition of the ground, and disposition of the cattle in scoring each work. The greater the difficulty of the run, the more credit should be given. The difficulty may be due to the extreme speed or stubbornness of the cow, or the cow's reluctance to move down the fence when sufficiently driven by the contestant. The most controlled cow work, with the highest degree of difficulty, that exhibits good form throughout, should be marked the highest. In the cow work phase, one hand on the horn may be used as well as both hands on the reins. Also, posting during the trot is acceptable.
