

Duette school in 1932

Recent stories in the Bradenton Herald about the old school house in Duette prompted Linda Willis of Bradenton to send in this photo of the school taken in 1932.

Her mother, Fannie Albritton Gullett was a student of the school at the time. The specially equipped 1928 Fords were the school buses of that era.

Bus drivers Owen Keen, left, of Parrish and Samuel "Samp" Rawls, right, provided transportation for the students ranging from first grade through high school.

The building looks the same today except for a new layer of shingles and trees which have grown up in the last 40 years.
