Who We Are

About Us

John Mackey has spoken on many different occasions on the topic of credit, FICO scoring and debt collection defense.

“There is so much misinformation on credit, credit scoring, and debt collection perpetrated by our professional institutions, credit bureaus, advertisements and outright lies by some of the same people and institutions that nobody recognizes what the truth is anymore. Credit is one of the most important factors in Americans lives now. It determines where we live, what we drive, and how much we pay for items even that are not creditworthy. We are penny wise and pound foolish and how we go about purchasing items we need or items we think we need. I am here to shed light on the truth.”
