GET THE UPLEVEL TO EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE (EQ)...

Don't get hung up on the word 'Spiritual'. Despite its name — which I admit can sound a little “woo-woo” — spiritual intelligence is a faith-neutral practice, and it can be accessed by almost anyone.

In recent history, our workplaces have valued intellectual intelligence (IQ), but not other types of intelligence, which are equally important for creating a productive workplace with happy employees who can think deeply and produce good work.

Spiritually intelligent people practice making wise and compassionate decisions, even under great stress, and maintain inner and outer peace while doing so. They can put their daily concerns aside and operate from a big-picture perspective.

My experiential workshops provide you with a new perspective of servant leadership and skillbuilding activities in spiritual intelligence (SQ).
