Questions for Discussion & Reflection

II Timothy 3:10-17

1. Who are the godly examples that you look up to in your life?
2. How often do you read the Bible? How often do you reference it in decisions and conversations?
3. Compare I Corinthians 11:1 and II Timothy 3:10. What does Paul offer Timothy? Paul offers several aspects of his life; in those to whom you look up, which aspects have you most appreciated and learned from?
4. The word translated as “endurance” has “the idea of a triumphant facing of them so that even out of evil there can come good. It describes, not the spirit which accepts life, but the spirit which masters it.” How can Paul speak of mastering life when he has suffered so much? What can we learn from Paul about endurance?
5. How can we intentionally live an example of the Christian life to those around us?
6. What teaching does Paul repeat here in II Timothy 3:11-12 that he first teaches in Acts 14:22? How does this challenge you?
7. What does Scripture teach about preparing for and responding to suffering (or persecution)?
8. Why is Scripture valuable? What is its purpose described in II Timothy 3:15-17?
9. What is “revelation” versus “inspiration”? Why does it matter? What do we learn about them here?
10. Scripture makes us complete – equipping us for every good work. What good works is God calling you to? What else does Scripture say about our works?
