

Judges 3:12-31

“Can God Use Me?”

- I. God is not limited by our _____. (Judges 3:15-16; I Corinthians 1:27-28)
- II. God is not limited by our _____. (Judges 3:31; Amos 7:14-16)
- III. God is not limited by our meager _____. (Judges 3:31; Hebrews 11:6)

Additional Notes:

Diving Deeper in Scripture Together

Questions for Discussion & Reflection

Judges 3:12-31

1. Can you think of examples in Scripture or history where someone argues with God about their calling, and says that God made a mistake because they were not qualified? Have you ever told God that He didn't really mean to call you?
2. Read Deuteronomy 7:7-8. Why does God choose Israel? Why does He choose you?
3. Who are the Moabites, Ammonites & Amalekites that gather in this chapter? How do they demonstrate the principle that sin can have an impact for generations?
4. What are Ehud's weaknesses? Why is it ironic that he is a son of Benjamin?
5. How does God use Ehud in spite of his weakness? How can God use you in spite of your weaknesses?
6. Read 1 Corinthians 1:27-29 and 2 Corinthians 12:9. How does Ehud demonstrate this principle? How does this verse encourage you?
7. What is suggested about Shamgar's background by his name? Why would that be unusual for a deliverer of Israel?
8. Like Shamgar, what other biblical figures may have felt limited by their backgrounds?
9. What part of your background might be limiting you? Have you presented this to God and offered to go wherever He sends you – in spite of your background?
10. Why is it surprising that someone was able to deliver Israel with only an ox-goad? What is an ox-goad, anyway?

11. Do you feel that you have meager resources? Reflect on the examples where God used a few resources to bring great glory to Himself. Read 1 Peter 4:10 and the Parable of the Talents (Matthew 25:14-30), and pray about how you can steward what you have.
12. Take time to pray. Offer yourself as a willing servant for God's purposes – despite your weaknesses, your background, or your lack of resources. Pray with Isaiah "Here I am Lord, send me!" (Isaiah 6:8) and listen for what God might be prompting you to do.