Quail Forever in Missouri adds 26th chapter

Green Hills Chapter of Quail Forever & Pheasants Forever becomes state's latest installment

UNIONVILLE, Mo. – May 20, 2021 – Quail Forever and Pheasants Forever in Missouri added to its growing conservation footprint with the recent establishment of another chapter in the north-central part of the state. The Green Hills Chapter of Quail Forever & Pheasants Forever became the 26th chapter in Missouri when their charter was signed May 4.

“I am excited to be a part of starting this brand-new chapter in Putnam county,” said newly elected President Ben Daniels. “Our committee is looking forward to working on projects in the local area that improve wildlife habitat and promote youth in the outdoors.”

This group of dedicated volunteers worked with Farm Bill Wildlife Biologist II Josh Marshall, Coordinating Wildlife Biologist Jacob Swafford, and Regional Representative for northern Missouri and eastern Kansas Trevor Day to get the Green Hills Chapter up and running. Several of the committee members have a strong interest in wildlife conservation, pollinator habitat restoration and mentoring youth, so they felt this was the perfect opportunity to come together in a way that benefits both their local community and wildlife.

“I am excited to see this chapter get off the ground in Unionville. I have had the privilege of working with several individuals who I know are excited about quail, pheasants, pollinators, and wildlife habitat,” said Marshall. “I look forward to continuing my work with the chapter and
