

We're Moving!

(Finally!)

We have big news to share!

Downtown Paw is officially packing up our toys, treats, and questionable tennis balls... because we're MOVING!

Our new location is still in Malden, and is roughly 0.7 miles or a 6 minute drive from where we are currently. Once the last set of papers are signed and we're handed those shiny new keys, we'll let you all know where our new home is!

Our last day at our current spot for daycare, grooming, and boarding will be Friday, August 21st so get those sniffs in while you can.

Then, we'll take a short nap break (aka: temporary closure) for the month of September while we set up the new space and make it perfect enough for your dog's dramatic entrance.

IMPORTANT FOR DAYCARE FRIENDS:

Once your current packages run out, we'll be switching to day-to-day pricing during the transition.

Our new kennel system is basically an English Setter; gorgeous, dramatic, and absolutely insisting on nothing short of perfection before she'll cooperate.

REOPENING EARLY OCTOBER

New space. New setup. Same organized chaos.
We cannot WAIT to show you the glow-up.

Thanks for rolling with us — you and your pups are the reason we get to keep growing.

Now please excuse us while we bubble-wrap 400 tennis balls.
