

About Eka Ninua

“ Dreams can come true in America. ” I came to the U.S. from Georgia in Eastern Europe in 1998 with a vision: to build a life centered on creativity, community, and beauty. That dream became reality through my career as a hairstylist and co-founder of Salon Dione in West Los Angeles.

With extensive training from world-renowned academies — Vidal Sassoon and Schwarzkopf — I bring both precision and artistry to every service. My passion is to help clients feel confident, whether it ’ s a complete transformation, a fresh color, or a simple touch-up.

At Salon Dione, my philosophy is simple: hair is personal. It ’ s about listening, caring, and creating a style that truly reflects who you are. While I stay committed to the latest techniques and trends, the heart of my work is timeless — helping people feel happy, cared for, and beautiful.

I also believe in growing together with my clients — giving and receiving in equal measure. You inspire me, teach me, and often become my life coaches. Every visit is more than a service; it ’ s a shared experience where we laugh, learn, and create change together. My clients aren ’ t just appointments — you ’ re part of my journey.

Love you all.
