

Privacy Policy

At WBC we're committed to protecting your privacy. We developed the following policy pursuant to the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, 2000 c.5. (the "Privacy Act").

This page sets out our privacy policy and describes why and how we collect, use and disclose personal information you choose to provide to us on our website, as well as how to access, modify, or delete your personal information. This policy doesn't apply to anyone who isn't under our control or management, such as the operators of other websites you might link to from our website. Such operators may have their own privacy policies, which might differ from ours.

How Will We Collect Personal Information?

You are under no obligation to disclose any personal information to us at any time. However, some features of the website need some personal information, such as applying for or renewing membership, receiving email notifications & reminders, or online payments for WBC events (via PayPal). In the process you may be asked to give your name, email address, address, etc. for the purpose of these services.

How Do We Use and Disclose Personal Information?

We will keep your personal information stored securely on our system and will not release it to any third party without your prior consent. None of your personal information will ever be shared, rented, sold or otherwise released to any third party.

You may receive automatically-generated emails from WBC that are triggered when you perform certain tasks such as registering for an event or requesting a forgotten password.

Please know that as a member, you may receive emails from other club members. WBC does not control the frequency or content of member-generated emails.

Does Your Site Use "Cookies"?

Our site uses "cookies" which are small files containing pieces of information that are stored by your browser on your computer's hard drive. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but if you prefer, you can set your browser to block them. Our cookies can contain information, such as your user ID, our website uses to recognize you. Our cookies can't read data off your hard disk or read cookie files created by other sites. The only personal information our cookies contain is the information you provide. When you enter personal information on our website, your personal information will be linked to the cookie we save on your computer. If you do choose to delete your cookie, you may not be able to use the administrative features of the website.

How Is My Personal Information Protected?

Women's Business Council is committed to protecting your personal information and has developed policies and procedures to ensure our compliance with our own Security and Privacy Policy and with applicable Federal and Provincial laws. We also understand your concerns about online security and do our best to prevent the loss, misuse or alteration of information under our control. We have no control over how other websites fulfill their obligations and conduct their privacy policies. We encourage you to review the privacy policies posted on the websites linked to our website.

Will My Information be Shared?

When you voluntarily provide us with personally identifiable information online, that information is kept within the Women's Business Council organization and will not be shared or distributed.

What if I Want to View or Update My Personal Information, or Want You to Stop Using or Retaining My Personal Information?

You may, at any time, view and update any of your personal information. The only information required for the membership directory (accessible only to other registered users) is your name and the committee to which you belong.

What If I Have Any Questions About This Privacy Policy?

If you have any questions please contact the current Web Committee Director, via email at erin_m_myers@outlook.com.

What If You Change This Privacy Policy?

We will use personal information in accordance with the Privacy Policy in effect at the time the information was collected. If we decide to change our Privacy Policy, we will post a notice on the Women's Business Council's home page so you can view it. If at some point we would like to start using your personal information in a manner different from that stated at the time it was collected, we will first ask for your approval by email.

What If I Do Not Agree with Your Privacy Policy?

By visiting our website(s) and voluntarily providing personal information to the Women's Business Council website at wbccc.org, you agree to the terms of this online User Agreement and the Privacy Policy contained herein. However, we welcome your comments and/or suggestions on improving our website(s) and policies. If you do not agree to these terms, or wish to limit the use of any of your personal information we may have, contact us.
