

Good Compliance Practices

Many companies, particularly small to medium size firms, tend to have an initial push around establishing compliance programs with the policies and procedures needed to support it and then let it languish for months or even years. This is a dangerous situation to be in – you may be open to fines and penalties from non-compliance, whistleblowers or audits that reveal not only monetary impacts but possibly brand damaging fall out.

How 3Comply can help:

- By performing a quick assessment to establish the “state of compliance”
- Getting you ready to face an audit or assessment
- Helping establish policies and procedures;
- Implementing training programs;
- Evaluating your current program to maximize its value to the business and reduce overall risk;
- Establishing a program or reinvigorate yours if necessary

Is your staff trained on your policies and procedures?

Are your policies and procedures up to date and reflective of what you actually do?

3Comply can help!

“I couldn’t have possibly achieved my approval without the quality and compliance program 3Comply set up. They are fantastic to work with!”

- Brian Weller, President Global Safety First
