MELISSA M. WILSON RESPONDS TO CRITICISM REGARDING LEAVING THE DEMOCRAT PARTY IN 2020

(MISSOURI CITY, TEXAS)- Melissa M. Wilson has formerly announced her candidacy in the upcoming Republican primary in March of 2022. Several social media posts have circulated concerning her previous past. Wilson indicates the reason she left the Democratic party is due to the direction the Democratic party was headed. Wilson was running as a prolife, pro second amendment, and pro small business Democrat at that time. Wilson indicated, "This was just not an acceptable platform for this party", I have always been pro life and my platform was made public even at that time". I realized that I should align properly with the party that supports the issues I have been supporting. I have only voted in one Democrat primary and that is the one I ran in. I don't wish for us to continue the open boarder issues that we have here in Texas. I would like to see closed borders. I will continue to be prolife, pro small business, advocate for lower taxation, pro second amendment and community advocate. I do realize that many question my stance, therefore it was necessary to make my stance public and hope to continue to garner your support in my upcoming race. I am still the best qualified candidate for the position and the best candidate to take on the Democratic incumbent in our majority African American district in November of 2022".
