Hurricane Fiona Update

During our distribution time we criss crossed the island and walked the hills of various communities and towns. We brought Watts of Love Solar Lights to Convalescent Homes, Doctors and Nurses at Hospitals, Police Officers and several neighborhoods bringing light to those who needed it most. We had the honor of watching faces brighten & hearts fill with hope as they received their free gift of a solar light & other basic needs like food and water.

Hurricane Fiona hit the Island of Puerto Rico almost exactly 5 years after Hurricane Maria. Many on the island were still recovering and rebuilding after that monumental hurricane. And once again, there was great destruction & loss from the catastrophic winds & rains of Fiona.

LoveBrave landed in Puerto Rico with hundreds of solar lights, backpacks and other basic relief items. We are so grateful for the generous donations from Watts of Love, United Rescue Alliance and so many others like you that made it possible to bring these much needed resources to the people of Puerto Rico.

While on the ground, we have been able to connect & join with many who are helping these unreachable communities. We are so thankful for the all of our fellow disaster relief partners! Only by coming together in unity are we able to help those who are feeling lost and forgotten.

Four Weeks after Hurricane Fiona, there is still a great need. Thousands are still living in complete darkness and devastation. Although power has been restored to some, it is still very unstable and the electricity is not reliable.
