DISCUSSING AN AUTOMATED FUTURE

ABOUT

Seth Ford is a veteran, pilot, entrepreneur, speaker, family man, and believer. As a US Marine Corps aviator, he operated crewed and uncrewed aircraft in combat zones and assisted in small UAS testing and evaluation. Seth earned a BBA in Finance from the University of Houston and is currently seeking a Masters in Uncrewed and Autonomous Systems at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. He is the founder and principal pilot of Drone615, which provides commercial drone flight services in Middle Tennessee.

Seth speaks passionately about his military adventures, veteran experiences, and the future of autonomous systems.
