MICRONEEDLING

Microneedling is a form of CIT, or Collagen Induction Therapy. Through the creation of micro-wounds in the skin, we are able to stimulate collagen and elastin development in treated areas, resulting in brighter, tighter, and more youthful skin. A great option for patients suffering from acne scarring or texturized skin. This treatment is adjustable depending on your specific aesthetic goals, with additions like growth factor and the ability to use PRP while micro-channels are open for an even better aesthetic outcome.
