

If your home or business is in need of an energy-efficiency upgrade, and you are a co-op member-owner looking for ways to lower your monthly power bill without having to figure out how to cover the upfront costs such upgrades normally demand, then the Roanoke Electric Cooperative “Upgrade to $ave” program is the solution for you.

Here's how it works:

1

First, the member-owner contacts the co-op and signs up for a free energy assessment.

2

A skilled energy auditor will then visit your home or business to determine where efficiencies can be gained and what upgrades will result in the most energy cost savings.

3

Then, a date is scheduled for the co-op's trained weatherization crew to come to the property and make the upgrades – at no cost to you, the co-op member-owner.

Upgrades available:

Insulation

Heat pump improvements

LED lighting

Duct and air sealing

Water heater wraps

Start the process today by requesting your free home energy assessment. There is no obligation or cost to the member-owner. It really is just that easy!
